LOCAL BOYS FEEL URGE FOR FLIGHT; ONE PLANS PLANE

Two youths of the valley have their fingers in aviation and are doing something about it besides talking.

They are Clyde Hartley, 22, who lives on the Pacific highway near Phoenix and George Edward Andrews who lives in the Oak Grove district. Hartley, a tall youth of the Lindbergh type, but with less to say than that silent hero, has manufactured a glider, and flown it, and is now taking steps towards securing an airplane. He has flown the glider successfully several times, by towing it with a Ford truck. His first flight ended when he landed in a fence and hurt his foot. When the injury healed he was back at it again.

Hartley has ordered the plans and specifications for an airplane, which he will build, and plans to secure the engine afterwards. The putting together of the plane will take several weeks, and the builder expects to gain some practical knowledge of airplane construction by the time he is through.

Young Andrews, son of the late George Andrews, baritone singer of beloved memory locally, is building a glider from plans and specifications, and is doing a workmanlike job. He expects to make a flight when it is completed. He is a student in the senior high school.

Both youths are close students of aviation.

NEED MORE RAIN BEFORE OPENING NATIONAL FOREST

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 11.—(AP)—C. J. Buck, regional forester, announced today the national forest closed areas in Oregon and Washington will not be opened until the danger of forest fires is removed by general and heavy rains.

The recent rains have been fairly general, but outside of northwestern Washington, they were not enough to wet down the forests, Buck said.

In Oregon 23,408 acres are closed to smoking, and 315,985 acres closed to entry. In Washington 287,190 acres are closed to smoking and 737,740 against entry.

"It is not our plan or intention to keep all of the 1,703,725 acres closed to entry until all of it is thoroughly wet, but as individual national forests become safe from fire they will be opened to the public," Buck said.

He said there are 11,371,415 acres in national forests in Oregon, and 8,509,645 acres in Washington which are not closed to either smoking or entry.

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow...

a little at a time

... so the uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting—the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously... a little at a time.

Patented, continuous process takes guesswork out of coffee roasting.

Controlled Roasting produces same fine flavor in every pound of Hills Bros. Coffee

"A little at a time"—instead of in bulk—is the secret

Instead of roasting in bulk, which requires guesswork, Hills Bros. roast a little at a time. The rare blend of Hills Bros. Coffee passes through the roasters evenly, continuously. This automatic, patented process—Controlled Roasting—does away with guesswork, and insures exactness. It develops every berry to the fullest—a rich, refreshing flavor!

Every can of Hills Bros. Coffee has the same flavor, and every can is fresh! Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed and kept out of Hills Bros.' vacuum cans. Ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee can't go stale—can't lose its aroma and flavor!

Pour a cup of Hills Bros. Coffee. One breath of its tempting aroma, and you drain the cup and pour another. After that—perhaps another. This is coffee! Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.
