Colorful Luncheon at Church Pleases Crowd of Over 100

Members of the Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church, entertained over one hundred ladies at their "all nations luncheon," Tuesday at one o'clock in the church dining room. There were eight tables representing the many different countries and fields in which the church is engaged in missionary work. Mrs. Belle Littrell and Mrs. Arthur Cummings were hostesses at the American Indian table. A small statue of the Indian chief placed on a small Navajo rug was used for the centerpiece, with small Indian baskets and pottery for the decorations and small tepees were used for place cards. Mrs. Littrell also had a fine exhibit of Indian curios placed in one side of the dining room. Mrs. Littrell spoke of the work among the different tribes all over the United States, and Mrs. Frank Ray read the Red Man's Plea to the White Man to bring to them their God.

Mrs. Iverson, in an attractive Chinese costume, presided at the Chinese table, where great brass bowls were filled with pink and white eaters and many beautiful pieces of Chinese brass were used in the decorations, and little Chinese booklets were the place cards. Mrs. Iverson presented the standard of excellence for the society for the coming year.

Mrs. Maynard Putney and Leggett were hostesses at the attractive Indian table, where a beautiful alabaster Buddha, over two thousand years old, occupied the center, surrounded by many rare pieces of delicately engraved brass pieces. Place cards were mounted pictures of the many types of peoples among the teeming millions of India. The story of the work among the juniors of this far away land was interestingly and cleverly told by Miss Edith Hodgkins.

Mrs. Walter Frazer Brown was hostess for the Land of the Rising Sun and Cherry Blossoms, Japan, over the neighbor of the Pacific. The decorations were in keeping with these artistic peoples, dainty Japanese maids with fan and parasol were used for place cards, and vases filled with bright flowers for the centerpieces. Rev. C. B. Porter spoke of the work being done in Japan.

Mrs. Emma Wright and F. R. Hagerty, dressed in the typical costume of the mountain women of the southland, in calico dress and white apron and large sun-bonnet, presided at the Mountain Whites table, a typical log cabin with a rail fence around it, toy farm yard and animals formed the centerpiece. Mrs. N. C. Chaney, dressed as one of the mountaineer women, told in their quaint dialect the needs for more schools for their girls and boys, and expressed their appreciation of the work already done for them.

Mrs. Emily Dyan, dressed as a maid of old Spain, presided at the Spanish speaking peoples' table. A large bowl of grapes and lighted tapers in brass holders formed the centerpiece, and dainty Spanish maids were the motif for the place cards. Mrs. Dyan spoke of the first work among these people and its progress for many years at the general board of missions. Literature published by the society's general board was used for the table decorations. The work of the board is world wide.

Mrs. Hanby was hostess for the Alaskan table, the land of the midnight sun. Indian baskets and an igloo were the main decorations for this table. Mrs. Laura West spoke of the beautiful country around Sitka, where the Presbyterian school known as the Sheldon Jackson school is located, and of the splendid work being done there.

Mrs. C. A. Meeker told the interesting story of the visit to this place by President and Mrs. Harding, and their attending divine worship in the little chapel connected with the school. A bronze plate marks the pew in which they sat. This was the last service the president ever attended, as he passed away the following week.

During the luncheon hour a musical program given by Medford's talented young people, was greatly enjoyed. It consisted of the following numbers:

Spanish song, Misses Adra Edwards and Nelle Green, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Dorothy Pruitt; violin and piano duo, Misses Beulah Gore and Alice Holmback; vocal solos, Merland Tolleson, Robert Gould accompanied. Two organ numbers by Robert Gould.

The Missionary society meets the third Tuesday of each month. The ladies of the congregation are always welcome.

Alaska and India are the subjects for the next meeting.

Y. W. C. A.
The club for younger business girls of Medford, organized Tuesday evening at the dinner meeting at the "Y," will be headed by Nina Moore, named president. Frances Dorf was elected vice-president; Bertha Stinson, secretary-treasurer, and Margaret Kerr, business girl representative. These officers will carry on the activities of the club until the first of the year, when a new group will be elected.

Notices of meetings of the club will be published in the Mail Tribune. Registrations in all Y. W. C. A. classes will be accepted this week.

Mrs. Patterson Returns
East After Season Business
Mrs. Stewart Patterson left last Sunday for Berkeley, Cal., from which city she will continue to her winter home, Mule Shoe ranch, in Arizona. While in this city during the summer season she was the incentive for many clever events and a frequent hostess.

D. A. R. News

Crater Lake chapter, D. A. R. met with Mrs. W. D. Welch yesterday afternoon, Mrs. J. O. Grey, the regent, presiding.

Members responded to the roll call with patriotic quotations, and after the reading of the minutes of the last meeting and communications, chairmen of the different standing committees and officers were called upon for reports.

Mrs. J. H. Cochran, registrar, reported that the chapter now has 63 active members and that since the organization of the chapter in 1919 there have been 85 members in all. Five have died and the others have been transferred to other chapters or resigned. Mrs. Cochran during the summer has made a very complete card index record which gives easily available information concerning each member and her Revolutionary ancestor. Mrs. D'Albini reported the work of the committee on patriotic education and announced that the autumn naturalization court will be held at the Jackson county courthouse next Wednesday morning at eight o'clock. She presented the resolutions passed by the Portland Americanization council that Oregon congressmen be requested to do all in their power to secure the deportation of undesirable aliens, and the registration of all bona fide alien residents, through laws to be passed during the next congress. This is the bicentennial of the birth of George Washington and Mrs. Grey appointed the following committee to plan for its celebration by Crater Lake chapter. Mrs. Lewis Ulrich, chairman, Mrs. W. W. P. Holt, and Mrs. E. A. Moore.

Mrs. B. G. Harding, chairman of the committee for collecting and preserving historical data and marking historical spots, spoke of the scrap book which is being prepared, and recommended that the chapter place a bronze marker on the old church building in Jacksonville. The chapter voted to do this, as soon as arrangements can be made.

Anyone having newspaper clippings or manuscripts on Oregon history are asked to send them to Jane Snedicer. Mrs. Helen Snedicer, chairman of the membership committee reported that papers have been given to several who are eligible and wish to join. Rev. A. G. Bennett was then introduced and spoke on Communism, defining it clearly and strongly contrasting it with the high standards for which Americanism has always stood. In closing he said Communism makes the individual secondary, while Americanism puts him first.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. W. D. Welch, Mrs. Bert Lowry, Dr. Riggs, and Mrs. Earl. At the October meeting Mrs. McCredie, the state regent, will be the guest of honor.

Be Fair to Motor Trucks.

Editorials have appeared from time to time in newspapers and other publications throughout the state regarding motor truck and passenger bus operations on our highways. In behalf of the traveling and pedestrian public, criticisms as well as remedial suggestions have been embodied in these editorials, for the purpose of inducing motor vehicle transportation companies and all other participants in this industry to regulate, govern and control these transportation operations in a manner which will safeguard the traveling public and be fair and satisfactory to them.

The motor freight and passenger operators and other participants in the industry have assured their patrons, and wish to assure the public, that no effort nor expense will be spared in their endeavors to remove all objectionable features from their operations.

To this end, under the supervision and direction of the Oregon Motor Freight association, they have already outlined and become active on a constructive and commendable program.

It is the duty, and should be the desire, of every citizen to encourage and build up rather than discourage and tear down our industrial progress, providing the industry involved merits the approval and good will of the people.

Motor freight and passenger vehicle transportation has become a real industry, nationally, as well as within our own state, giving employment to thousands and pay rolls amounting into millions, in the national aggregate.

Our state records will disclose that taxes and license fees paid into the state and county highway funds by common carrier motor freight operators amount to approximately 10 per cent of their gross incomes. One auto freight line operating in southern Oregon, which is only one of

'Bad Girl' at Craterian Today

"Bad Girl," long-awaited film version of Vina Delmar's celebrated novel, opens at the Fox Craterian theatre today for a four day engagement.

As the young husband, James Dunn, recent recruit from the New York stage, makes what preview accounts have called the season's most impressive screen debut.

The 136 common carriers operating within our state, claims to have paid $1984 per truck and trailer unit in taxes and license fees for the year 1930. From this it is obvious that these operators are paying a fair share towards the maintenance of our state and county highways. Actual figures for all operators will be made public at an early date.

Shippers and receivers of freight, who use this highway service, are deeply interested in, and conscientiously concerned about and favorable to the program now under way in behalf of the traveling public. The motor vehicle transportation companies ask that the public bear with them in their efforts to make their operations satisfactory to all concerned. They invite constructive criticism and suggestions from any individual or any source, same to be presented to the Oregon State Motor Freight association, giving all detailed data possible as to name of carrier, location and time, of any discourtesy, road hogging, excessive speed or other violation of our state traffic laws.

The traveling public and all concerned, are requested to consider that it has taken time for the railroads to reach their present commendable and highly efficient status with regard to the safety and welfare of the traveling public and that the present and future will continue to see the railroads as well as the motor vehicle operators ever striving to improve their operations in this respect.

With faith in the fairness and forbearance of the public the motor transportation operators have resolved that proper and justifiable action shall be taken against any driver or operator found guilty of committing or tolerating violations of our state traffic laws and rules which have been enacted for the

Lionel Barrymore In Rialto Picture

Lionel Barrymore is featured as the master killer in "Guilty Hands," Bayard Veiller's new mystery drama which opened at the Fox Rialto today for a three-day engagement.

In this startling murder thriller Barrymore contributes, in the opinion of this reviewer, the best performance he has ever given upon the screen. His characterization of the veteran prosecutor and attorney, facing the necessity of killing a man himself, rises far above the dramatic heights of all his earlier efforts, even including his personal triumph in "A Free Soul."

W. S. Van Dyke directed the mystery picture with splendid judgment and adroit use of unusual camera angle and sound effects to strengthen the bafflement and mystery of the original piece penned expertly by Veiller.

All-Star Cast In Coming Holly Hit

Long heralded as the most brilliant drama of the decade, "The Front Page," will open at the Holly theater on Wednesday, according to the announcement of John Nidemeyer, manager. It will succeed "Party Husband," which opens a three-day engagement today.

This picture, called the "one great drama of newspaper life," features Adolphe Menjou, Pat O'Brien, Mary Brian, Edward Everett Horton and Slim Summerville, among others, in a brilliant cast.

It was produced by Howard Hughes the youthful movie-maker, who has made a reputation for giving the public undiluted drama without pussyfooting. He released "Hell's Angels," after spending $4,000,000 on it.

"Bad Girl" Pleases Preview Audience

The film version of Vina Delmar's novel "Bad Girl," was previewed Friday by Mayor E. M. Wilson, city councilmen, city officials, representatives of the Ministerial association, high school teachers, the Parent-Teachers association, and service clubs, at the Fox Craterian theatre upon invitation of Archie Holt, manager.

Those who witnessed the preview were enthusiastic in praise of the handling of the story and were especially pleased with the work of the male lead, James Dunn, recent Hollywood "discovery." His work opposite Sally Eilers, shows him well on the way to the film heights. "Bad Girl" will be on the Fox Craterian screen today, Monday and Tuesday.

PIONEER DATA ON OREGON RELIGION SCHOOL, PRESS

The following article, clipped from the Oregonian of January 1, 1903, by Miss Jane Snedicer, is published for pioneers, who have often wondered about the dates of the first efforts made in this state toward religious and educational advancement.

"Evidence enough that the pioneers had brought their democratic habits to Oregon was the publication of the Spectator, the first newspaper on the Pacific coast. The newspaper is as inseparably linked with American life as is the school or church. The first printing press had come to Oregon in 1839 and had been set up at Lapwal, where it was used in mission work. The Western Star at Milwaukie and the Oregonian at Portland followed in 1850. Several months later the Oregon Statesman appeared at Oregon City.

"The first public religious services held in Oregon were at St. Paul in 1838. A Catholic church had been erected there in 1836. A similar church was built at Champoux in 1839. Methodists built a church at Oregon City in 1842 and Congregationalists in 1844.

"Schools grew spontaneously on Oregon soil. The earliest school was the Oregon Institute, the germ of Willamette university. Another was Tulatin academy, out of which has grown Pacific university.

Jefferson's Prophecy.
Extract from letter written by Thomas Jefferson to John Jacob Astor in 1818:

"I learn with great pleasure the progress you have made towards an establishment on the Columbia river. I view it as the germ of a great free and independent empire on that side of our continent and the liberty and self-government, appearing from that, as well as this side, will insure their complete establishment over the whole. It must be still more gratifying to yourself to foresee that your name will be handed down with that of Columbus and Raleigh as the father of the establishment and founder of such an empire."

Mystery Thriller Isis Sunday Film

There will be gasps and chills, laughs and shivers when "The Bat Whispers" opens at the Isla theater today. There is seat-clutching tension, high-powered interest, and rib-tickling merriment as Roland West's great hair-raising drama crashes through scene after scene of breathless climaxes.
