PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 22.—(AP)—An advance of 1c in top scores and 2c lb. in undergrade butter on the Produce Exchange for the late season, followed the supply and demand situation here.

Advances of 1c in the buying price of butterfat follows the rise in butter.

General trading in the market for eggs is without quotable change for Tuesday. Late deals have continued at 28c doz. general for extra, according to the local co-op. Receipts are increased in some quarters.

Leading operators reported the volume of live chicken arrivals about equal to demand at recently lowered prices, which were unchanged for the day.

More activity is reflected in the local market for tomatoes with gradual stiffening of the price list. This applies only to top grade as undergrades are still very low.

JACKEN'S COMMENT

plain, also, why the English realize that they must do something to CUT DOWN the cost of government.

WHILE we are on the subject of money, here is a statement made in Oregon the other day by a dealer in securities whose value, to say the least, is speculative:

"Our business was never better than now. We are hoarding their money, and they soon learn that hoarded money brings in no income. So we find it easy to sell them what we have for sale."

Here is the question that naturally occurs: "Will it be so easy for these buyers to get their money out when they want it?"

MOST of us devote a lot of thought and energy to MAKING money. Making money isn't all there is to getting along in this world. KEEPING it after you get it is equally important.

Oddly enough, those who can make money are more numerous than those who can keep it after it has been made.

HERE is a statement, which ISN'T offered as advice, but which this writer believes: Those who buy good Oregon properties and hold onto them will not regret the investment.

The present depression, unless all the experience of the past is worthless, will come to an end and one of these times, and will be followed by a period of prosperity greater than any we have known in the past.

When that happens, Oregon, which is one of the soundest states of the Union, will go ahead at a rate that will be worth watching.

DAIRY INDUSTRY ROTARIAN TOPIC AT NOON LUNCH

The dairy industry and what it means to the Rogue River valley proved an interesting subject of discussion at the regular weekly meeting of the Medford Rotary club this noon.

E. G. Fowler, county agent, was principal speaker on the special community service program in charge of Charles Wing, chairman. Mr. Fowler told many salient facts about the local dairy industry and the need for further development in Jackson County.

Dairying provides a living for 1300 to 1500 local farmers at the present time, according to the speaker who stated that the production of butter fat in this county was one of the highest in the state of Oregon.

This county should be one of the best dairy countries on the coast with plenty of hay and feed and ideal conditions to help the dairy farmer.

Importance of the dairy industry in the nation and the value of registered stock was also emphasized by the speaker.

Charles Wing augmented Mr. Fowler's remarks with a short talk on the need for the development of dairying in this county, Medford and the Rogue valley are famous as a pear center, producing one of the best winter pears in the world.

A plan for the Rotary club to get behind and encourage the local dairy industry was outlined by the speaker, who called for a general discussion of this important subject.

Several members spoke on the plan which was referred back to the community service committee for further details to be discussed at an early date.

J. Maassen was introduced as a new member of the local club and Tom Travis, former local Rotarian, was called upon. Mr. Travis is now a member of the Los Angeles Rotary club.

A special feature of the luncheon was a delicious pear dessert, consisting of pears furnished by Rotarian Charles Wing and whipped cream, a local dairy product.

Visiting Rotarians at the meeting were C. M. Moore of Calgary, Canada; Travis of Los Angeles and Harry Stearns of Ashland. Other visitors included J. Prain of Fort Wayne, Ind.; T. M. Klein of Salinas, Calif.; and Carl von der Hellen of Wellen.

$21,035 BUDGET WILL BE SOUGHT IN CHEST DRIVE

A lower budget but one which includes increased funds for relief work was announced yesterday evening following the meeting of the Community Chest board and representatives of all organizations to be included. The total is $21,035.

The Salvation Army was brought into the chest and allowed $8000 in the budget. This same amount was deducted from the non-relief organizations, making the entire budget $20 under last year's figures.

The directors were unanimous in the opinion that all possible money must be delegated to relief during the coming season. The largest cut was taken by the Boy Scouts, whose budget was trimmed $1250. The Y. W. C. A. was reduced $750, the Health association $450, the Girl Scouts, $340 and overhead was cut $200.

The Red Cross was given a slight increase over last year, the total for the coming season being $6775. Other organizations in the budget will receive the following: Health association, $1250; Y. W. C. A., $2250; Girl Scouts, $1350; Boy Scouts, $2250 and Salvation Army $2000, making a total institutional allowance of $17,885.

An emergency fund for $2350 was included in the budget and $800 allowed for overhead and shrinkage. J. C. Thompson accepted the appointment as chairman of the chest drive for this year and will announce definite plans at a later date.
