

ATHLETICS REACH NEW RECORD FOR SEASON VICTORIES

Win Over Detroit Is 105th of Year — Washington Snatches Second Place by Defeating White Sox

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr. (Associated Press Sports Writer.)

With one game left today before the year's interseasonal play in the major leagues ends, the last east-west series in the big circuits has merely proved what the earlier ones indicated. The eastern clubs of the American league and the western teams of the National, which have outscored their rivals from the other sections all year, wound up with the most thorough triumph yet.

Playing on the home grounds of the strongest sections, the American league's eastern half won 40 games and lost only 14, while the westerners of the National league turned in 38 triumphs to 15 defeats. The Chicago Cubs, which had lost nine straight games, made the best individual showing. They won 11 games and lost only two. Boston, Philadelphia and New York shared the American league honors, the Red Sox winning 11 games and losing four, and the A's and Yankees each recording 10 victories to three defeats.

As the year draws to a close, when they closed their interseasonal stand with an 8 to 6 victory over Detroit yesterday, the Athletics accomplished a feat that no other Philadelphia club ever had done before. It was their 105th victory of the season, one more than the great A's 1929 could win all season. They still have five games left and the possibility of tying the American league record of 110 victories.

Washington snatched the opportunity offered by an open date in the New York schedule and took undisputed possession of second place in the standing with a 7 to 2 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Boston's great spurt was checked in the last inning of a battle with St. Louis, but the Red Sox managed to hold onto fifth place. Leading 2-0 going into the ninth, the great A's weakened, the Sox committed two errors and Wiley Moore, who was tossed into the breach, could not get the side out until five runs had crossed the plate to give the Browns a 5 to 3 victory.

Phillys, Phils in Overtime. The Pittsburgh Pirates finally beat out the Phillies, 3 to 2, in the 13th inning of the National league's best battle.

Brooklyn closed the National league season so far as St. Louis is concerned by downing the champion Cardinals, 6 to 3, in their final encounter. Paul Derringer's streak of wildness in the seventh with Oratt's error and O'Doul's timely single, gave the Robins three runs to put them ahead and Jack Quinn, relieving Mungo, held the Cards in check to the end.

The other National league clubs had a day off.

MORGAN POUNDS THOMAS FOR NOD

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 23.—(AP) Tod Morgan, 6 to 2, in the eighth, light-weight champion, punched his way to a 10-round decision over Eddie Thomas, Bellingham, here last night. After the fourth round, when Thomas went down for a count of eight from a left hook to the chin, there was no question of Morgan's superiority, although Thomas fought back gamely. Eddie Volk, Portland lightweight, knocked out Jimmy McClain, Butte, in the fourth of the six-round semi-final.

Ray DePinto, Portland, and Mickey Trado, Spokane lightweight, went six rounds to a draw. George Hines scored a four-round decision over Johnny Garvey and Dick Johnson decided Jack O'Day in the curtain raiser.

LOUGHRAN FINDS SEKYRA HARD NUT

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia heavy weight contender, has found his fifth straight victory the most difficult. With easy victories over Max Baer, Ernie Schaff, Turry Griffith and Victorio Campolo just behind him, Tommy found himself against the Dayton, O. trial horse, Joe Sekyra, in the Queensboro stadium last night and just did manage to jab out a close verdict on points in 10 rounds.

Sekyra, who whipped Charley Betts in his last fight here, made an aggressive fight and hurt Loughran badly in the seventh round with heavy right to the jaw. Loughran weighed 185; Sekyra 177. Betts stopped the German heavy-weight, Dick Onken, in the second round of the 10-round semi-final.

SCHMELING PLANNING EXHIBITION MATCHES

PARIS, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Joe Jacobs, American manager of Max Schmeling, world's heavyweight boxing champion, said today that Schmeling would sail in November for the United States to make an exhibition tour and that he would fight Mickey Walker either in Miami or Los Angeles in February. Jacobs said Schmeling then would take on Jack Dempsey in June at a place to be picked later.

GABBY STREET ACE of the Cards

BRANCH RICKEY

GABBY STREET

Branch Rickey, one of the smartest executives in baseball, is the man credited with seeing big league managerial possibilities in Gabby Street. The vice president of the Cardinals hired Street, a war companion, as a coach in 1929. The manager followed.

By ALAN GOULD. (Associated Press Sports Editor) No. 9—Rickey, the Patron. The rise of Gabby Street from obscurity to major league managerial heights with the St. Louis Cardinals is linked up at a number of vital stages with the foresight of Branch Rickey.

In many respects Rickey is the most remarkable executive figure in baseball. He is aggressive, a rigid disciplinarian, a fluent speaker and an engaging personality.

He once piloted the St. Louis Browns. He was for several years bench manager of the Cardinals, without conspicuous success, before turning his talents to the business office and the development of the far-flung Cardinal system.

Rickey, with amazing energy, does an extraordinary amount of work. He is the overseer of the chain of command, the check of their activities, juggling or transferring players for the best interests of all concerned, always on the lookout for the most promising talent for the headquarters organization.

During the world war, Rickey rose to the rank of major in the chemical warfare service of the A.E.F. Christy Mathewson and Ty Cobb were captains in this branch.

Gabby Street was a sergeant in the combat division. It was not strange if these four sometimes talked baseball.

Rickey encouraged Street to seek a career as manager, but neither had the least thought at the time that they would hook up together, 10 years later, with a championship combination.

OAKLAND RETAINS POSSIBLE CHANGE IN PENNANT RACE

(By the Associated Press.) A doubleheader victory over Seattle last night kept Oakland in the running as a contender for winner of the Coast league's second half play.

The Acoons beat the Indians, 5-4 and 8-7. Craghead weathered a ninth inning Indian rally with the tying and winning runs on base, to win the first game for Oakland.

San Francisco, its winning streak unabated, took the series opener from Hollywood, 3-1, to remain the Coast league leader. Oana's home-run in the fifth inning with one man on base tucked the game away for the Seals.

Portland overcame a three-run lead which Sacramento piled up in the first inning and won the game, 5-4, last night. The Ducks scored three runs in the second inning and followed them up with two more in the next inning.

Los Angeles handed the Mission Reds a 10-5 trimming yesterday afternoon.

The Angels worked up a substantial lead by pounding two Mission pitchers for 15 hits.

PASS AND PUNT TALENT NEEDED SAYS SCHISSLER

Loss of Buerke and Hughes Causes Possible Weak Spots in State Squad—Biancone Slated Quarter

By Frank G. Gorrie (Associated Press Sports Writer)

COVALLIS, Ore., Sept. 23.—(AP)—"Discovered" two places where the Oregon State college football team might be "weak" this season. After diagnosing the Beaver eleven from every angle it has been found that Paul Schissler, dean of northern coaches of the Pacific coast conference, lacks a class "A" passer and punter.

Graduation last summer took its toll in Ralph Buerke, quarterback, one of the smoothest forward passing lads in the conference and "Honolulu" Hughes, big Hawaiian halfback and "Chief" Thompson, an Indian guard, who handled the kicking chores.

Biancone Slated. The brunt of these two jobs will likely be placed on the shoulders of a young triple-threat sophomore, John Biancone. The boy did most of the passing and punting for the freshman team last year and Schissler figures on him to handle Buerke's old job.

Keith Davis, a letterman end with a powerful toe, may be called out of the line to do a share of the kicking.

But outside of these two departments, Schissler appears to be better fortified in the eleven positions than any other coach in the northern division of the conference.

He has lettermen for all except three places. Hammer, center, Bergerson and Cox, guards; Kent and Miller, tackles; Moe, right half, and Little, fullback, are set to hold regular jobs.

Gaps At Ends. The loss of Bill McKelip, Andy McGilvray and Harold Lovejoy, left two big gaps at the ends, and at this writing it looks like the Beavers will have a Davis on each end.

Keith Davis, letterman, is slated to get McKelip's place at right end and Everett Davis, a transfer from St. Paul, Neb., is being groomed for the other hole. They are not related.

Harold Joelin, sensational freshman last year, is a good bet to be running mate to Hal Moe, at the halfback post. Frank Little, a 200-pound fullback, has returned to ram opposing lines.

After their first two conference games the Beavers still will be sitting on top of the world or trailing along in the basement. Oregon State meets Southern California at Los Angeles October 3 and Stanford at Palo Alto 14 days later. Victories over these two favorites in the conference would find only Washington State, Montana and Oregon between the Beavers and the title.

The schedule: Sept. 26—Colorado University at Portland. Oct. 3—Southern California at Los Angeles. Oct. 17—Stanford at Palo Alto.

Oct. 23—Oregon Normal at Corvallis. Oct. 31—Washington State at Portland. Nov. 7—Montana at Corvallis. Nov. 14—Oregon at Eugene.

state game commission, says the sportsmen were mistaken and that the fish were killed when the plant experienced several short-circuits and these turned loose a tremendous voltage in the stream.

Most of the companies that deal in electricity were given rights that permit them to operate their plants without any provision for the protection of fish.

"For instance, it is my information that the Portland Electric company has title to every foot of water that rolls over the falls at Oregon City, and might, if it saw fit, build a canal around the city of Portland and destroy our port. That seems to be a rather broad statement, but I'm told that it is not any broader than the water rights granted the company by the public in the days when people gave no thought to the future of fishing."

The electric fish stop is recommended as the only solution for the bad situation. This, it is claimed, will divert fish from entrances to power turbines by submitting them to "light shocks."

COACH GLENDON QUILTS ANNAPOLIS

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 23.—(AP)—After more than 20 years as head coach of the Naval Academy cadets, Richard A. (Old) Dick Glendon has resigned and will be succeeded by C. A. (Buck) Walsh, his assistant for the last four years.

This announcement, made at the academy last night came as a surprise. Until the academy rowing authorities received a letter from Glendon some time after the end of the 1931 season stating he would not return next year, navy had counted on him as varsity coach.

Walsh has been connected with crew work at the academy since his midshipman days. He was a member of the varsity eight for three seasons and after a brief term as ensign, resigned in 1927 to become coach of the plebe crew.

COAST GRIDMEN NO SET-UP FOR MEDFORD SQUAD

Saturday Game Here Will Mean Hard Fight for Locals — Big Tackle Is Star of Invading Eleven

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr. (Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Medford high school football team, which plays Medford high next Saturday at the Second street grounds is a hard fighting aggregation, according to Humboldt and Del Norte county papers. They played their first game of the season a week ago against the powerful Eureka high school squad and expected to take a terrific wallop. Instead they held Eureka to a 19 to 0 score. They played a night, under the electric lights, a new experience for the Harbor team.

A big tackle by the name of Ernest McDonald is the star of the Crescent City lineemen, and a fullback by the name of Moore is rated as one of the best fullbacks in northern California high school team. He is a forward pass heaver, and line buck-

er. Many supporters of the Medford squad are figuring Crescent City as a set-up, but it's this viewpoint that upsets dope buckets.

Coch Burgher is knocking the over-confidence out of his charges as fast as he finds it, and the team itself is prepared for a hard battle. Inasmuch as Saturday's game is the first of the season, the high school rooting section is expected to be full, and one of the largest early season crowds is expected to be on hand.
