

JACKSON TURKEY CROP LESS WITH INCREASED PRICE

The turkey crop of Jackson county will be twenty per cent less than last year, according to Jean Vilim, manager of the Farm Bureau Exchange, who has been investigating valley holiday bird conditions. The manager thinks that between 75,000 and 80,000 pounds of turkey will be available the coming season. Last year close to 100,000 pounds were shipped to market by local shippers.

According to Manager Vilim, the prospects are for a higher price than last year. He says Rogue River valley birds are in fine condition, due to ideal weather and plenty of grasshoppers and other feed during the summer. Growers have started to turn their turkey flocks into the harvested grain fields for the preliminary feed, before the fattening for the axe starts.

Representatives of the buyers are scheduled to arrive in the valley the first week of October. No prices have been mentioned, as yet. The Unquaga valley is reported to have a slightly less turkey output than last season, with a reported shortage in Idaho and Texas, two large producing areas.

The matter of forming a turkey pool by the farm board for the coming season has not yet been definitely decided.

ASHLAND NORMAL GRIDIRON CHANGE GOOD SAYS COACH

SOUTHERN OREGON STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, September 24.—(Sp.) Football practice at the Southern Oregon State Normal school has brought fine letters back to position and prospects for the year are good, Coach R. W. McNeal reports.

Aside from the letters, however, there is little experience on the team and none at center, ends or tackles, Mr. McNeal says. A lot of material has reported, but most of it has had field looks fairly satisfactory with four regulars and six new men reporting.

The first game of the season will be played on Friday, October 9, with the Humboldt State Teachers college, on the home field.

Lettermen who are back in place include Jerry Gault and James Meis, Dwight Patterson, Kenneth McDonald, tackle; Claude Hines, Allen Youngmeyer, Powell Lancaster, back; and Robert Rosenblatt, sub-center, 1930.

Others who will join the squad this year are: Joe Lytle and Erickson, silverstars; Clifford Miller, Portland; Harry Belonovich, Harrisburg; Caldwell, Hillsboro; Jackie; Harry Rice, Harlsburg; Sapp, Fairfield, Idaho; Curtis Beckham, Bandon, ends; Frank Hall, Klamath Falls; Lex Fromm, Port Orford; Ed Joanne, Bend; Allen Cook, Medford; William Youngmeyer, North Bend, and Dow Beckham, Bandon, backs.

CLAY D. PARKER PASSES BEYOND

Clay D. Parker, well known local resident, and former manager of the Farmers' Exchange Co-operative, died at 2 o'clock this morning at the Sacred Heart hospital of cancer.

Mr. Parker had been suffering from the affliction for approximately three years. He became seriously ill yesterday morning and was removed from his home to the hospital. Although his condition had been critical for some time his death was not expected and came as a great shock to Mrs. Parker.

The complete obituary and funeral arrangements will be announced from the Conger Funeral parlors tomorrow.

BOSC PEAR CROP ESTIMATED 538 CARS THIS YEAR

Estimates submitted at the regular meeting of the Rogue River Traffic association this noon, place the Bosc pear crop of the valley this season at 538 cars. Last year there were 792 cars of Bosc. Most of this crop has been picked and packed, and is now in storage. A few cars have been shipped east.

William Horsley of Seattle, manager of the national pear advertising campaign, is now in the east making arrangements for opening the campaign in New York city and Chicago. Good progress is reported. It is expected to launch the drive early in October.

Peak of the pear crop has been passed, save for the picking and packing of Winter Nellie and apples. The latter crop is small, and was hard hit by worms.

J. H. Mulcahy of Portland, traffic manager of the Southern Pacific association, advised the Traffic association the request for reduction in the export fruit rate to San Francisco to the same as that enjoyed by Portland could not be granted at this time.

ern of treaties after the war, he said, "the great and overwhelming problem now is, and upon which depends in a large measure the preservation of civilization: Can these conditions be adjusted through peaceful means?"

On Disaster Brink

"Within the last six months Europe has twice been on the brink of a fearful disaster," the senator declared. "The president led out in one instance and performed a service to all humanity in doing so. In the other instance American bankers performed scarcely less service. But what will 1932 bring if fundamental changes are not brought about? If the reparations are to remain unadjusted, if armaments are to increase, how can the people possibly rescue themselves from this fearful thralldom?"

"Give the people a change and their patience; their endurance and great reserve energy will perform miracles," Borah continued.

DEMOCRATS PLAN WIDE PROGRAM IN HONOR MRS. ROSS

Jackson county Democrats are anticipating the arrival here tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock of Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, ex-governor of Wyoming and present vice-chairman in charge of women's activities for the national Democratic committee. Plans for her reception are nearing completion and the program includes luncheon, tours, tea and conferences.

Mrs. Ross will be accompanied by Mrs. Rosemary Schenck of Toledo, vice-chairman of the Oregon Democratic committee. Local motorists are asked to meet at the Holland hotel, which Mrs. Ross will make her headquarters, soon after her arrival, to join in a caravan tour to Ashland.

Mrs. Ross will deliver her main address at the luncheon called for noon at the Holland hotel. There a special treat of venison, presented by Hubbard Bros., will be prepared for the speaker and Mrs. Schenck. Their rooms will be attractively decorated and supplied with southern Oregon pears and other favored fruits. Mrs. Evan Reames, head of the decorations, and Mrs. Laura Alming, head of the reception committee, have appointed assistants who are working with them.

All Democrats of the county are requested to be at the Holland at 12 o'clock.

Emil Britt, well-known pioneer of Jacksonville, will welcome Mrs. Ross to the little historic town and acquaint her with the many pioneer relics and points of interest.

In the afternoon, between the hours of 4 and 6 the Dixie club will entertain for Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Schenck with a tea at the home of Mrs. Porter J. Neff.

BUTTER HOLDING FIRM IN DEALING

PORTLAND, Sept. 24.—(AP)—There remains a rather steady firm tone in the market for butter here. The last advance in the local price placed the Portland quotations as high, if not higher, than any other point along the Pacific coast with the exception of Los Angeles.

The butterfat fight continues but prices appear to have reached their immediate top.

There is no general price change in the market for eggs.

Rather good demand is held in the market for chickens. Prices being paid here are in line with those quoted elsewhere.

There is an unusually good seasonal call for dressed turkeys with hens in best movement at a maximum of 30c lb. Some old toms of rather fair quality are being moved at 28c lb.

CROCKATT DISCUSSES 10-YEAR GAME PLANS

Ernest L. Crockatt, educational director of the Oregon state game commission, was in Medford yesterday conferring with members of the Jackson County Game Protective association, regarding the 10-year wild life program being adopted by the commission.

While here he spent considerable time with Prof. Irving Vining, game commissioner of this district, and plans were made for a general meeting of sportsmen. It is hoped that members of the game commission will attend this meeting to explain the latest developments of the program. The definite date for the meeting will be announced soon.

LARKIN FREED OF VAGRANCY CHARGE

The charge of vagrancy against Vern Larkin, local young man, preferred by J. S. Folsom, state policeman, and to which he entered a plea of not guilty in justice court Tuesday, was dismissed at his trial this forenoon, after the testimony of the state's witness, Folsom and Chief of Police McCredie, had been heard.

No testimony was introduced by the defense, but Frank DeSouza, attorney for Larkin, made a motion that the charge be dismissed on the grounds that the state's evidence did not substantiate the charge. This motion was granted by Judge Taylor. Assistant District Attorney George Neilson represented the state in the case.

The main allegations in support of the vagrancy charge were that Larkin would not work and that he sought the companionship of dissolute persons.

WELFARE UNIT TO MAP WINTER RELIEF PLANS

A meeting has been called tomorrow noon at the Hotel Medford of all representatives of the Medford social welfare groups to outline plans for the coming year. Judge Alex Sparrow, chairman of the Jackson county relief committee, appointed by Gov. Julius L. Meier, will be the speaker.

Other members of the governor's committee will be present also. Rev. Claude B. Porter, president, has announced that all representatives of the character building organizations in the city are expected to attend.

SCHEFFEL IMPROVING FROM SHOT IN HEEL

Fred Scheffel, city engineer, who was shot through the heel while hunting Sunday, when a gun was discharged accidentally, was reported today as getting along nicely. He is able to get around the house on crutches, Mrs. Scheffel said, but will not be able to be out for at least a week.

Although the wound necessitated the cutting of several tendons in the heel, it is thought that no permanent disability will result.

BUSINESS WOMEN PLAN MEDFORD CONFERENCE

Medford has been selected as the next meeting place of the district conference of Business and Professional Women's clubs of southern Oregon, it was announced today.

Mrs. Martha Casch, president of the state federation, has asked the Medford club members to act as hostesses for the session, which will be held some time next month. The southern Oregon district includes Grants Pass, Klamath Falls, Bend, Roseburg and Medford.
