

Newbury Sheds Light on Early Political History

Brought to mind by a recent reference in Frank Jenkins' column of the Mail Tribune to the discovery of Crater lake, for which John W. Hillman was given credit, the history of another settler, who accompanied Hillman, is told by Attorney Gus Newbury.

"Accompanying Hillman, who left this state for Louisiana, where he died within the last half dozen years, was a young man by the name of Henry Klippel, who with Hillman and the rest of the party, was one of the first white people to see the lake. This was in 1893," Attorney Newbury writes.

"Klippel made his home in Jackson county, Oregon, and is the early history of Jackson county was a very prominent Democratic politician and officeholder. He held the office of sheriff of Jackson county for two consecutive terms, and from 1880 to 1884 was county clerk. His family, consisting of his wife and several children, resided in Jacksonville, where Mr. Klippel died about 25 years ago. He has a son by the name of John Klippel, who is in the customs department of the United States government at Portland, Ore., and has been for many years, and his surviving son, Fred Klippel, resides in San Francisco.

"Mr. Klippel's surviving wife resided quietly in Medford for many years, where she died about two years ago. Among the pioneers of the county, the Klippel family were well known, and the surviving old pioneers will recall both Mr. Klippel, his wife and the family.

CONDUCT SURVEY MEDFORD TALENT

The economic survey of the department of agriculture for the Medford and Talent irrigation districts is now under way, and will be in full swing by October 1, according to Glen P. P. Trim, who was at one time a supreme judge of Oregon, and opposed to this array of Democrats were C. C. Beekman, late banker at Jacksonville; Max Muller, Judge E. B. Watson, who afterwards was one of the supreme judges of Oregon; William Hoffman, B. F. Dowell, who was a prominent lawyer; Orange Jacobs and Samuel Culver, and other lesser political lights.

"Under the management of these respective partisans, the party victory went first to one and then to the other. The stronger party feeling that existed in the country prior to the time of the Civil war, down to the middle 80's, grew out of the tense partisan feeling that existed because of the slavery and anti-slavery, most of the Democrats of the time being in sympathy with the south, and the Republicans were universally in favor of the north, and anti-slavery principles; and these sentiments continued to prevail, and were based upon the feeling in regard to slavery, down to the early 80's, when the feeling in regard to the war had largely subsided, and a new generation was coming on.

"The reference to the discovery of Crater lake by Hillman prompted the suggestion of the foregoing facts in regard to the early history of Jackson county, and its partisan results."

Twelve Counties Show Products at State Fair

SALEM, Sept. 25.—(AP)—With a western atmosphere to the first three days because of the first rodeo program in 40 years the Oregon state fair will open in full swing here Saturday morning, two days ahead of the usual annual opening. Several special trains and stages will converge on the fairgrounds, particularly for "boys and girls free day," which is the opening day; and for Sunday, the following day, the occasion for the 4-H boys and girls club rally.

Twelve Oregon counties have prepared booths in the agricultural building. They are Marion, Polk, Linn, Yamhill, Douglas, Washington, Malheur, Lane, Tillamook, Wasco, Clackamas, and Coos.

Horseshoe pitchers in many parts of Oregon, and the Pacific Northwest are registered for the pitching tournaments at the fair, where city, state, and Pacific Northwest titles will be decided. Contests will be held every day on the 12 new courts in front of the stadium.

ARMY RECRUITING WILL OPEN SOON

Pleasing news to a number of Jackson county boys who have been endeavoring for some time past to enlist in the United States army, is that Colonel Charles E. McBrayer of the army, who is assistant to General J. P. O'Reilly in charge of recruiting for the Oregon district, while on a visit here today with Sergeant Orver C. Owen informed the latter before leaving for Klamath Falls that it is his opinion that recruiting would be resumed in a very few days.

The army has not been recruiting since the latter part of August, owing to being filled to peace time strength. Several Medford boys in the National Guard service sought to enlist two weeks or more ago and passed the preliminary tests with Sergeant Owen, who sent them up to the district recruiting headquarters at Portland on the chance that vacancies might have occurred in the meantime, or would occur within a short time.

There were no vacancies then, and the boys finally tired waiting in Portland for some to occur and returned to Medford.

A. G. Demmon, St. Cloud, Fla., farmer exhibited a yellow squash this year that weighed 25 pounds.

High class men's suits, top coats, furnishings and shoes made by high grade firms will be available at closing-out prices tomorrow morning.

Steiner In Favor Increasing Surtax

KLAMATH FALLS, Sept. 25.—(AP)—An increase in the maximum percentage of the surtax was suggested by Senator Frederick Steiner last night as a possible solution to the taxation problem.

Senator Steiner spoke at Merrill as a guest of the American Legion post. The nation, he declared, is again facing a crisis such as existed in world war days when the surtax was raised.
