TOURISTS CONTINUE FLOCKING TO LAKE

CRATER LAKE NATIONAL PARK, Ore.—(Special)—Although the peak of the tourist season was passed some time ago and preparations are being made for wintry weather, Crater Lake continues to attract a steady stream of visitors from all parts of the nation. The number is necessarily smaller than it was a month ago.

During the past few days, three eastern hitch hikers arrived and while all were making a tour of national parks in the west, they were not traveling together. One hailed from Philadelphia. Another came from Chicago and the third gave his home as Albany, N. Y. The hikers were in their early twenties, were neatly attired and carried military packs on their shoulders. They said they had little trouble in catching rides across the continent and from park to park.

Motor Accidents Laid to Egotism and Selfishness

CHICAGO.—(AP)—Egotism and selfishness, rather than physical or mental deficiencies, are prime factors in the case of automobile accidents, in the opinion of Dr. Paul Schoeder, Illinois state criminologist. Dr. Schoeder reached this conclusion after studying the records and temperaments of prisoners at the state penitentiary convicted of manslaughter with an automobile.

"These men were all of average intelligence and average physical fitness," he said. "But in nearly every case I found marked traits of selfishness, egotism and disregard for the feelings of others."

New Flying Boat Predicted Quiet As Sleeping Car

CHICAGO.—(AP)—Quiet comparable to that of a sleeping car will be enjoyed by passengers aboard the Dornier DO-8, sister ship to the great German flying boat, Dornier DO-X, American soured engineers say.

This is in spite of the fact that the plane's dozen motors produce 20 per cent more noise than New York's subway patrons must bear.

Layers of a specially treated tropical fibre blanketed between coverings of lightweight muslin form the sound insulation, which, it is estimated, will absorb about 40 per cent of the noise which would otherwise be heard.

Making Poultry Pay

From various parts of the country come reports that the owners of high producing poultry flocks are making money . . . as long as the birds are fed and managed properly . . .

Poultry, the nation's third largest agricultural enterprise, is represented in a big way at the 21st Annual Pacific International Livestock Exposition, Portland, Ore., October 24-31.

We believe that a visit to the poultry division of this great exposition next month will be of great value to every farmer interested in poultry.
