

TOWN NEAR HERE RECALLS PIONEER BOOM TOWN DAYS

Mark Twain's Virginia City and Edna Ferber's Oases of the Cimarron have a modern counterpart now, far from Medford, lacking only sharpshooters and whistlers which characterized the hectic days of those boom towns.

Nubleber, the boom town, strange anomaly in these pessimistic times, being carved out of the wilderness to serve as a division point on the new Great Northern link between Klamath Falls, Ore., and Kettle, Calif. is going through many of the experiences recorded in the history of pioneer places of like mushroom growth. People flocking in with no place to lay their heads, nine business lots sold in one day, seven business buildings under construction, a lot bought and contract let for building, involving $9000 investment, all consummated in space of an hour.

One man started construction of a two-room cabin on skids. A tempting offer of cash was made and the house changed hands before the roof was finished. The new owner hitched a truck to the domicile and started up the street with it, while a carpenter on the roof continued placing shingles as the strange equipage passed in review before other workmen, busy on adjacent buildings.

A contractor erected bunkhouses for his crew on a lot adjoining one upon which he is building a hotel. Six days later it was necessary to move the bunkhouse as the lot had been sold and the new owner wished to start building.

A newcomer wandered up the street seeking a drink of water—Nubleber has no water system as yet—and found everyone "just out" a few minutes later the town's solitary little hotel caught fire. Strange to say, a bucket brigade was formed before the very eyes of the thirsty one, and volunteers raced to the scene with brimming pails from their boarded supplies.

Nubleber will have a water system soon, however, and likewise electric lights and other evidences of modern civilization. A newspaper plant has been installed and word has been received that the request for a post office has been granted, which will save residents the trouble of traveling to Bieber, little backwoods town nearby, which the railroad missed in its straight shoot through the valley.

PHOENIX GRANGE PLANS CARNIVAL

PHOENIX, Ore., Oct. 1.—(Special) Phoenix Grange is looking forward to Tuesday night, Oct. 6th, when all will go to Eagle Point to visit that Grange. Phoenix officers will fill the chairs and preside over the meeting instead of the Eagle Point officers.

Standing committees are busy with plans and programs for winter months, and it looks as if the Grange will furnish much of the good times for this community this winter. A jibney carnival is being planned for October 17. Visits will be made to each Grange in the valley and no doubt these Granges will be asked to furnish some item for the evening's entertainment.

Public Reception Spiritual Church

People of Medford and vicinity are specially invited to attend a public reception to be given to Dr. and Mrs. Mickleby at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, Dr. Mickleby is the president of the Spiritual Science church, and will be accompanied by Victor Briggs, nationally known psychic. Mr. Briggs has consented to give a demonstration of his power. It is also expected that Dr. Mickleby will address the gathering. The reception will be held at the Spiritual Science church, Natatorium building.

S. P. WILL OFFER EXCURSION RATE OVER ALL LINES

Featuring a Sunday sale date for the first time in connection with its famous "cent-a-mile" offers of transportation, the Southern Pacific company today announced plans for another series of low-fare round-trip excursions over its lines in Oregon and five other western states on October 9, 10 and 11.

The growing popularity of the company's so-called "dollar day" merchandising of train rides, as evidenced by record-breaking traffic over the Labor day week-end, is responsible for the new excursion program, according to A. S. Rosenbaum, district freight and passenger agent for the railroad.

As before, the cent-a-mile tickets will be good over the railroad's entire Pacific lines, extending from Portland to El Paso, and from San Francisco to Ogden, Rosenbaum said. The return limit, he stated, will be October 19, giving excursionists an 11-day outing from the first date of sale. The inclusion of Sunday, October 11, in the three-day offering of bargain fares, beginning Friday, October 9, is expected to find particular favor with persons planning short trips, Rosenbaum declared. Heretofore, he pointed out, journeys on the low-fare tickets had to be started on Thursday, Friday or Saturday.

Attention was called to the fact that football fans will be able to make good use of the tickets to attend games in various parts of the west, and also that the excursion dates include Columbus day, October 12.

In announcing plans for the forthcoming round-trip excursions Rosenbaum stated that the tickets will be accepted on all trains, coach or Pullman.

LEA'S TONIC IMPROVED MY HAIR WONDERFULLY SHE SAYS

Hair Was Thin—Falling Out Badly—Scalp Was Dry, Also Dandruff

TELLS HOW SHE GAINED BACK BEAUTIFUL HAIR

"My scalp was dry and falling hair dandruff worried me. In fact I was almost bald, my hair was so thin until the lucky day I found a Godsend in Lea's Hair Tonic at the drug store. I cannot praise Lea's enough. I had already used most every kind of tonic that came to my notice but to no avail so you can imagine how delighted I am with Lea's. I began using it just about one year ago and now my hair is thick, glossy full of life and really beautiful I think and friends say so too. I have used in all perhaps twenty-five bottles, but it enhanced my appearance so much I continue to use it and probably always will, every now and then.

SAMSON OFFERS FREE FARM GRAIN GRINDING AT RIVERSIDE PLANT

For the convenience of his many Rogue River valley customers, F. E. Samson has installed a Paper grain grinder in his grain warehouse located at 329 North Riverside. With the addition of this modern equipment the Samson company is now able to accommodate local farmers who produce a portion of their own stock feed and have no method of grinding it. The Paper machine was purchased from Hubbard Bros., Inc., Medford dealers.

Business depression has evidently not hit southern Oregon ranchers and farmers to any great extent, as the F. E. Samson company has experienced a steady increase in sales during the past year, Mr. Samson said today.

When this firm was organized two years ago it handled fuel and did fruit hauling. The first of this year Mr. Samson added a complete line of feed and seed, offering farmers of this vicinity high grade products for their stock and poultry.

Mr. Samson is particularly well acquainted with the grain industry, having been manager of a flour mill for the Russell-Miller Milling company in the middle west previous to coming to Oregon.

Farmers who want to take advantage of the special free grinding October 1 and 2, and others, are invited to inspect the grain displays at the Samson warehouse.

SIMKINS LISTED WITH O. S. C. CADET BAND

Following try-outs conducted last week-end, Glenn Simkins, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Simkins, was selected as a member of the Oregon State Cadet band, according to information received here. Glenn accompanied the school band to Portland last Saturday, where they played at the football game between Oregon State college and the University of Colorado.

Simkins graduated from Medford high school in 1930, and last year was assistant director of the local high school band.

COMMUNITY CHEST CAMPAIGN TALKED AT MEET TONIGHT

Plans for the annual Community Chest campaign, to be held in this city the first week of November will be outlined this evening at the Hotel Medford, when directors of all institutional members of the chest will meet for 6:30 dinner.

J. C. Thompson, chairman of the campaign, urges all representatives to be present and participate in the arrangements for the annual drive, which it is hoped will go over with 100 per cent results.

The need for money for relief purposes will be greater in Medford this winter than during any previous years, according to present indications. Several organizations included in the chest have accepted lower budgets in order to turn more money into relief channels. The Humane society has withdrawn for the year to aid in this conversion, in the belief that some people have used the pollution of the Humane society as reason for refusing to make contributions to the chest.
