

STATE FUND FOR CARE NON-VIOLENT BUDGET PROBLEM

The Jackson county budget committee scheduled to hold its first meeting next week, day not definitely decided upon, will wrestle with a number of knotty financial problems, not the least of which promises to be the matter of $15,000. It is expected the state will ask for the care of non-violent patients in state institutions provided for their care. This sum will alone nullify all the economy measures taken, within the last six months, such as wage cutting and suspension of road work. Further complications brew because some eminent legal authorities hold the state can't make the assessment, and just as eminent legal authorities, hold the other way.

While the retrenchments have been in force on the road fund, the roads are not keeping themselves in first class condition, and complaints are being filed that routes are impassable for school buses and general travel, and approaches to bridges are wearing out.

Falling off in revenue, decline in the amounts received from the O-C fund, and interest money, non-payment of taxes, to take advantage of the eight per cent penalty, and decline in fees collected, also present problems.

The budget committee is composed of Ben Harder, Medford, R. T. Newberry, Phoenix, and W. H. McNeil, Ashland, and the county court.

JENKINS' COMMENT

weight that is bought on the hoof can't be sold over the counter at retail to the ultimate consumer.

When these facts are taken into consideration, it becomes apparent that the lamb, bought on the hoof at around 4 1/2 cents and sold over the counter at 10 1/2 cents isn't showing too big a profit to the middle man.

Another way of putting it is that at these prices the man who sells his lamb on the hoof is getting at least his fair share of the price the ultimate consumer pays.

OF COURSE, you may be one of those plutocrats who buy their leg of lamb and their lamb chops cooked and served at the restaurant. In that event, you will pay for one serving about half of what the sheep man gets for a whole lamb carcass.

But you must remember that you are paying for more than mere LAMB CHOPS. You are paying for service. You are paying for the fact that you don't have to butcher and cook and SERVE your own lamb. You are paying for table linen and silver and rent and light and heat—and for the services of the pretty waitress who brings your food to you and takes care of your wants so efficiently.

You aren't an average case at all.

WHAT is meant by all this talk about prices of lamb is that we are evidently taking out some of the spread that has existed between what the producer GETS and what the final consumer PAYS.

ARCHITECTS AND COURT CONFER ON COURTHOUSE PLAN

The county court held a conference today with Dugan and Riverton, of Portland, and J. G. Link, architect in charge of the drawing of the plans for the new $265,000 courthouse, preparatory to final adoption and approval. Except for a few minor details, the plans are practically completed. Following approval and acceptance, the next step will be the advertising for bids, and after the lapse of the required legal time, opening and awarding of the contract.

Work of excavating for the structure, to be erected on the former Washington school site, is expected to start by November 1st.

Separate bids will be asked, it is expected, for the plumbing and electrical work, from the main structure.

The building will be four stories high, of concrete, with either a brick or tile facing. Work will be carried on during the winter, as fast as weather conditions will permit. Construction is expected to require the major portion of a year.

FOOTBALL BONFIRE RALLY TONIGHT

Medford high school student body will be out in force tonight to a big pep rally and bonfire to be held in preparation for the Medford-Marshall game tomorrow.

Starting at 7:30, Tiger followers will serpentine their noisy way through the business district. Following that they will return to the high school where a bonfire is prepared. The students desire to show the townspeople that the team has the full support of the student body.

Fifteen boys are excused all day today to prepare the bonfire. They are: Earl Mercer, Dick Mann, Kenneth Swartz, Dick Sleeter, Lloyd Hammack, Richard Roberts, Orville Wilson, Jack Boyl, Bill Chrysler, Roger Headlee, Delwin Stewart, Arthur Iverson, Bob Colvig, Frank Roberts, Jerry Trill.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE LAW IS INVOKED

The county school superintendent's office is prepared to take the necessary legal steps to compel several Jackson county families to send their children to school as required by state law. Three cases of this nature are now before the proper authorities, wherein the heads of families, despite warnings and pleadings, in person and by mail refuse to act.

The reasons given for non-attendance is that the absent scholars are working or seeking work, and one family objects to their children walking a mile to catch the school bus. In at least one case, a 15 year old boy, balks at going to school.

The county school superintendent is authorized by law to issue permits for non-attendance, for a limited period, for emergencies.

Teachers in rural schools with only one room, will meet in the court house tomorrow for a discussion of school affairs, and the use of the new textbooks.

THE HOME OF BREAD LIKE MOTHER MADE

Fall Canned Goods Sale

It always made me feel kind of good to have a lot of food on hand in the fall. I like to go and look at it once in a while. Gives me about the same feeling that I get from looking at my bank book when I have some money there.

Squirrels are like that—only of course they don't have bank books, — but I'll bet when winter comes Old Man Squirrel takes a good look at his store of food and turns in for the winter feeling mighty good.

First frosty morning we had made me think of that—and I decided to give everybody a chance to stock up without costing too much. Surprise you how different you'll feel with a well-filled pantry—sort of gives you a better feeling toward folks that don't have much—just naturally makes you better all around—makes everybody in the family feel so good that I'll bet you'll notice a difference around the house.

If you don't believe I'm right, try it once—come down to our canned goods sale and stock up. If you do, I'll bet most anything you'll say I'm right. BILL.
