

RESOLUTIONS ASK FEDERAL AID FOR HIGHWAY PROJECT

Delegates Urge Action On
Siskiyou Route — Bottle
Neck Named Hazard—
Unemployed Will Get Jobs

The list of resolutions adopted yesterday in Grants Pass by delegates of Eugene, Roseburg, Ashland, Medford, Grants Pass and Gold Hill, urging improvement of the Pacific highway, ask that 60 per cent of the expenditure be borne by the federal government, and the remaining 40 per cent by the state of Oregon. The resolutions read:

Whereas, on October 5, 1931, pursuant to a call, a meeting was held in Grants Pass, Oregon, at which there were represented the chambers of commerce and city councils of Ashland, Medford, Grants Pass, Roseburg, Eugene, and Gold Hill, and the county courts of Douglas, Lane, Jackson and Josephine;

Whereas it was the unanimous consensus at said meeting, that the Pacific highway is one of the most important highways in the west, being the only through artery of travel north and south on the Pacific coast running from Mexico through California, Oregon, Washington to British Columbia, and the said artery of commerce, and all year round thru travel, and

Whereas the delegates at said meeting assembled were further of the unanimous opinion that, due to the fact that a large portion of the early stages of highway development in Oregon, and while adequate at the time it was built, nevertheless at the present, with the increased speed and travel and modern conditions, said Pacific highway is not satisfactorily serving the public, and

Whereas largely due to pressure on the part of Oregonians, the California state highway commission has completed the rebuilding, and relocating of the Pacific highway in northern California, while the Pacific highway in southern Oregon, and especially the Siskiyou portion thereof has remained undeveloped, and

Whereas at present said Siskiyou portion of the Pacific highway constitutes a bottle neck, which discourages and impedes travel over the same into the state of Oregon.

Now therefore be it resolved by the delegates assembled that the Oregon state highway commission be urged to immediately commence work on relocating, straightening and realigning the Pacific highway where needed over its entire course, and further that said commission be urged to immediately take action toward the early rebuilding, and relocating the Siskiyou portion of said highway, and the early elimination of the hazards to travel, which now exists.

It is further to be noted that the Pacific highway is on the federal aid program, and that 60 per cent of the expenditure thereon would be paid by the federal government, the remaining 40 per cent to be paid by the state of Oregon, and we understand that a survey has been made from the California line over the Siskiyou mountains covering the problems herein involved, making this section available for immediate work, and we believe that the Siskiyou project could be well used for a partial solution of the unemployment question in the state of Oregon, and because thereof we therefore urge your early consideration of this project.

PIONEER REUNION TO BE THURSDAY

Plans for the annual pioneer reunion, which will be held at Ashland Thursday are consuming the interests of all native sons and daughters of southern Oregon.

The main address will be given by Irving Vining at 10:30 a. m. Breakfast dinner will be served at noon. Pioneer reunions are anticipated each year by the general public as well as the pioneers and their descendants as they always bring before the people hosts of stories on early Oregon history. The gold rush, the Indian wars, hangings, gambling and the experiences of early stage drivers are lived again by many folk, who heard of them first, when gathered around the log cabin hearth.

CAMPBELL NEAR INJURY IN AUTO

J. L. Campbell of Campbell's Sheet Metal works, this city, narrowly escaped serious injury in an automobile accident on the Pacific highway south of Grants Pass last Friday night at 10 o'clock, according to the Grants Pass Courier.

The accident was caused by the front wheel locking, forcing the machine to skid from the highway and turn over in a ditch. Mr. Campbell was alone in the car and was not injured when the car turned over, but in righting the wrecked automobile he was thrown against the side of the car and received a deep cut on his lip.

Campbell reported that he noticed something seemed to be the matter with the car when he left Grants Pass, but thought he would be able to reach Medford, his destination, without any trouble.

Crater Lake Guild Has Annual Banquet

With tables set in a circle, inside of which was a miniature circus, members of Crater Lake guild gathered in the dining hall of the First Presbyterian church last evening for their tenth annual fall banquet.

In the many swank rings was a large collection of trawls, with a monkey climbing the center pole. The "tent" was formed by red and white crepe paper streamers going to the edge of the tables.

Favors were little chains made of apples with heads of china, on which were adjustable caps, and the balloon idea was used for place cards. Mrs. Claude B. Porter and Mrs. Harvey Fields were in charge of the decorations.

Mrs. E. R. Dynan, newly elected president, to take the place ably filled during the past year by Mrs. Mary Phillips, was installed for the ensuing year, as were Mrs. Edwin Weishaar, vice-president; Mrs. Theo. P. Tolleson, treasurer, and Miss Winifred Andrews, secretary.

The evening program, in charge of Miss Gertrude Watling, included a lecture by Rev. Claude B. Porter on "The Bible and Art." Miss Imogene Wallace playing a piano solo, Miss Elmer Mae Wilson singing and whistling a group of numbers, Mrs. H. O. Purucker and Mrs. H. E. Marsh playing a piano duet and Mrs. H. R. Prentice playing an accordion solo.

At Christmas time they work out block prints for their own Yuletide cards and put in the winter months working out perspectives on still objects. Spring sees them out of doors sketching scenes. The class this year will finish up by studying color harmonies and may have training in bookbinding.

Advanced art classes start in with creating their own designs in tiles, to be made later out of clay. Linoleum cuts, using buildings as their motifs, will be made during the year and printing of colors on cloths for hangings and pillow covers also introduced. Wood-block prints in two colors, and making and painting parchment shades round out the work.

The art department takes on a colorful air with its displays of student work and the young artists moving about the light, cheerful room in their artists' smocks. Miss Hollenbeck devotes her mornings to the art work at the high school and supervises art in other city schools in the afternoons. About 40 students are handled in the two art classes.

Besides the 20 new adjustable drawing desks with birdseye maple board on them, the art room in the new school has two copper-lined bins to mix up the clay for modelling, ample storage space for students' equipment, and wall boards for art displays as improvements over the equipment afforded in the old building.

SOLON LEADERS AND HOOVER TO DISCUSS RELIEF

Disarmament, Politics, Extension War Debt Moratorium Pushed Into Background by Necessity

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Proposals of wide significance, designed to further strengthen the financial fabric of the country by governmental co-operation, will be discussed by President Hoover tonight with a selected group of congressional leaders.

The conference will be concerned primarily with the domestic situation, in the hope of obtaining unity of action by all political parties and factions. The president will seek particularly the support of senators and representatives who are powerful on the committee dealing with financial legislation.

Opinions Gathered.
Already, he has gathered an imposing symposium of financial opinion through conferences with outstanding bankers. Most of his time during the past week has been occupied with these conferences.

For the moment, such questions as disarmament and other political considerations abroad are put into the background. Talk of any immediate action toward extension of the reparations-war debt moratorium is heavily discounted by those in a position to know.

Not is it the expectation in informed circles that a special session of congress will be found necessary. It was indicated today that some more definite outline of what Mr. Hoover has in mind might be forthcoming before tonight's conference meets.

Again today the White House calling list included some of those on whom Mr. Hoover depends for detailed information about financial affairs. Among his first callers was Eugene Meyer, chairman of the federal reserve board, an experienced banker.

The cabinet was called together later for its usual Tuesday meetings. Its members assembled in an atmosphere of expectancy. There was no announcement how soon a detailed statement might be expected.

MORROW'S DEATH SHOCKS S. P. HEAD

Stricken by the news of the sudden death of Senator Dwight W. Morrow, his intimate friend, Paul Shoup, Southern Pacific president, hurriedly told his friends good-bye at the local railway station last evening, and went immediately to his private car "Sunset."

Mr. Shoup had made several trips with the famous republican leader, who was his guest recently on a return trip from Mexico City to the United States, where Mr. Morrow was formerly ambassador.

In company with Herbert J. Fleishacker, also of San Francisco, Mr. Shoup returned south on the Shasta last evening, having arrived here Saturday noon. They were guests over the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Noyes at their lodge on Rogue river, and enjoyed several fishing trips.

ACTIVIANS WILL HEAR AD CHATS

Members of the Active club will be entertained this evening by Harold Johnson and Tom Ginn. Mr. Johnson will talk on department store merchandising, while Mr. Ginn will devote ten minutes time to explaining the "Whys and Wherefores" of commercial newspaper advertising.

All are looking forward to this program with the hope that some of the mysteries of these two topics will be explained.

Several items of business will be attended to at this meeting and definite arrangements from the entertainment committee concerning the first social function of the fall will be outlined. It is understood, however, that the nature of this social affair is not to be a contest for the Van Doran cup.
