Comment on the Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS

EUGENE V. BREWSTER, former millionaire but now bankrupt, and his beauty-contest-winner wife, we learn from the newspapers, are to give it up and seek a divorce.

Difference in age and desire for dissimilar careers, Brewster says, are responsible.

LET'S see about that.

Brewster married Corliss Palmer, the beauty contest winner, because he found her more fascinating than his wife of nearer his own age, whom he divorced.

Miss Palmer married Brewster because he was rich, and wealth dazzled her young eyes.

Both found that it didn't seem to work.

HAROLD McCORMICK, harvester magnate, who divorced his older wife a few years ago and married the younger and more thrilling Ganna Walska, has also given it up and turned again to the divorce courts for relief.

Youth and beauty, on one side, and age and wealth on the other, couldn't make up for the lack of the other things without which marriage is seldom successful.

THOMAS A. EDISON, 84-year-old inventor, one week of whose time has been worth more to humanity than ALL THE LIVES of Brewster and McCormick, lies on his death bed, and his white-haired wife sits beside him, waiting with him for the end, her face the only face and her voice the only voice recognized by the man whose long and useful life is drawing to a close.

WE have heard a lot about jazz in recent years. There have been plenty of experiences like Brewsters and McCormick's. In some quarters the ancient virtues have been scoffed at.

But, with all of it, the spectacle of Thomas A. Edison, whose life has been devoted to hard work and who has never found time for philandering, is a prettier spectacle than all the philandering of all the Brewsters and all the McCormicks.

ANOTHER ancient virtue that has been scoffed at a great deal of late is thrift. For years, the good words that have been spoken for thrift have been few and far between.

"Spend" has been the modern idea. Only by spending, we have been told over and over again, can prosperity be created.

THERE is something to it, of course. Hoarded dollars don't create employment, and without employment there can be no prosperity.

But don't forget this: Before you can spend safely and wisely you must first SAVE.

If you haven't got it, you will get into trouble sooner or later if you try to SPEND IT.

THE ancient virtues, to be sure, look rather old-fashioned at times.

They are ancient, you see, because they have survived so long, and they have survived so long because by and large they have been found to be useful in achieving human happiness.

SPEAKING of age, here is a recent statement by one of the Eastern business analysts:

"The time when business men base their whole future on doing each year a larger volume of business than they did the year before is drawing to a close in this country, because we are nearing the end of our great development period.

"In the future, we must be content, more and more, with a fixed volume of business, handled more efficiently."

THAT may be true of the East, but it ISN'T TRUE of this Western country of ours.

WE aren't old. Our great period of development ISN'T past. We can still look forward confidently to the future, knowing that great things are still in store for us.

That is why the West, especially the Pacific Coast, is the most hopeful part of America.

Oregon's Debaters Win in Philippines

TRAINING SCHOOL HEAD OUSTED BY ACTION OF BOARD

Sam Laughlin Named to Succeed W. H. Bailee—Blind Employment Head Also Gets Walking Papers

SALEM, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The resignation of W. H. Bailee, superintendent of the Oregon state training school for boys at Woodburn, was requested by the state board of control at the session here this noon. Sam Laughlin, former state industrial accident commissioner, of Salem, formerly of Yamhill county, was appointed to succeed him, effective October 15. Bailee will be paid until October 31.

The resignation of Mrs. Lenore Kay Roberts, superintendent of the Oregon employment institution for the blind in Portland, was also requested by the board as of October 15. Walter R. Dry, superintendent of the blind school at Salem was placed in charge of that institution as well, with an increase of $75 a month salary.

Holman for Change.

The resolutions resulting in these changes, along with the requests that all employes of both institutions submit their resignations to the state board of control, were introduced by State Treasurer Rufus C. Holman. Hal E. Hoss, chairman of the meeting, voted against the dismissal of Bailee and withheld his vote on the resignation of Mrs. Roberts. Governor Julius L. Meier supported Holman by letter, and both resolutions carried.

In voting with Holman on the removal of Bailee, who has been under criticism the past year because of allegations by Vernon Levey of Portland, former inmate, that he had been subjected to cruel treatment, Governor Meier stated in his letter he had long been convinced that a change was necessary at the state training school for boys for the betterment of the institution.

NEED OF HARBOR CLEARLY SHOWN ENGINEERS BOARD

Two telegrams received today by A. H. Banwell from Wm. P. Ellis, attorney for the Northern California-Southern Oregon development association, bring news that the Crescent City harbor case, being presented in Washington, D. C. is progressing. No predictions on the outcome are given by Attorney Ellis, except for a comment that persons familiar with boards' procedure say the presentations was "most effective."

"The board has called on the district engineer for further information of undisclosed nature, but doubtless on engineering features, indicating the possibility of some modification of its original report," one telegram reads.

The other reads in part: "Hearing had today before entire board, who indicated intense interest and gave full opportunity to present our case. Hearing lasted two and a half hours. Opened with my presentation of review of principal points of previous report followed by supplemental data showing increased need resulting from depression, featuring precarious condition of the lumber and fruit industry and need for low transportation costs. Data presented showing draft of lumber boats and inadequacy of the present depth. Voorhies followed with clear showing of saving to fruit shippers, illustrated by his own shipments. Griffin with assurance of wharfage facilities.

EDISON CLINGING TO LIFE THREAD

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Thomas A. Edison continued to cling to the straining thread of life today.

His physician reported that while his general condition remained unchanged, the aged inventor was experiencing a "gradually progressive somnolence."

Dr. Hubert S. Howe, in his morning bulletin, said:

"Mr. Edison slept through the entire night and there is but little change to report, except a gradually progressive somnolence."

DECIDE A POLITICAL QUESTION

"We will let the convention decide candidates, eh, Mr. Bryan?" said "Alfalfa Bill" Murray of Oklahoma, and Charles Bryan of Nebraska replied, "We will." The two democratic governors, both mentioned as political possibilities, thus answered questions concerning politics. BRUENING POLICY OUTLINED WHILE HITLERITES HISS

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Chancellor Bruening picked up the gauntlet thrown down by the government's opponents and outlined a comprehensive program of constructive measures at the opening of the reichstag today designed to solidify the ranks of his supporters.

He talked for an hour. The communists continually interrupted with hisses, laughter and angry cries of "dictatorship" and "inflation."

The new cabinet's program, as Chancellor Bruening outlined it, will include:

Continuation of the policy of international conciliation; settlement of the political debts question; safeguarding the stability of the German mark; continued strict economy; lowering the cost of production; restricting superfluous imports; maintaining law and order against all disturbers; appointing an economic advisory board.

Against the anti-French uterances of the nationalists at Harzburg Sunday, the chancellor pledged continuation of Franco-German efforts at approachment.

DENY REHEARING SALEM ELECTION

SALEM, Oct. 13.—(AP)—A rehearing in the case of the Salem water bond election, previously held invalid by the court, was denied by the Oregon supreme court in an opinion handed down today. The case was that of W. H. Henderson, plaintiff and defendant, and F. G. Deckabach, intervener and respondent, vs. the city of Salem, defendant and appellant.

The case was appealed from the decre eof Judge Gale S. Hill, who held that the $1,200,000 bond issue to purchase a city water supply was invalid.

SUIT FOR DAMAGE AGAINST OFFICERS OPENS TOMORROW

The $3000 damage suit of Mrs. Nettie Marco, an aged woman, against Dr. B. C. Wilson, county physician and O. W. (Ike) Dunford, county jailer, for alleged mistreatment, is scheduled to be called tomorrow afternoon before Circuit Judge J. T. Brand of Marshfield, occupying the Jackson county bench this week. The present jury has been instructed to report at 1:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Marco is represented by Attorney M. O. Wilkins of Ashland who filed a motion for a change of venue and affidavit of prejudice. The latter plea was granted.

Mrs. Marco alleges that in November she was manhandled, thrown to the hard pavement and detained 14 hours in the woman's ward of the county jail by the defendants, and seeks $10,000 general damages, and $500 special damages.

The defendants assert in their answer that Mrs. Marco, a recipient of county aid, was placed in the Sacred Heart hospital where she "created a disturbance," and the hospital requested her removal, because of other patients. That they drove her to the courthouse and after failing to locate her husband, placed her in the women's ward, as a matter of courtesy and kindness, and that she went willingly. A general denial of any rough treatment is entered.

The defendants are represented by Attorneys George M. Roberts, and George A. Codding. The trial is expected to take the better part of two days.

Circuit Judge Norton is holding court today in Grants Pass and the remainder of the week, will hold sessions in Marshfield.

LOUISIANA GUARD CALLED TO ARMS

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 13.—(AP) The Baton Rogue unit of the National Guard was ordered out at 2:45 p. m. today, shortly after Lieutenant-Governor Paul N. Cyr had taken the oath as governor at Shreveport, to challenge the right of Governor Huey P. Long to continue as chief executive.

Governor Long, after being apprised of Cyr's action, left New Orleans hurriedly by automobile and sped toward the capital.

TOWN AT MERCY OF BANDIT GANG AS BANK LOOTED

Two Auto Loads of Robbers Isolate Indiana Village—Vault Blasted With Nitro — $3800 Is Taken

LIZTON, Ind., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Two automobile loads of bandits early today isolated this town from communication, wrecked the State bank building with a dozen blasts of notroglycerine, shot up the town and escaped with more than $2000 in currency and negotiable securities amounting to more than $1800.

Scores of shells from shotguns, revolvers and other firearms were found scattered through the streets in the business section.

Marion Bailey, 72, president of the bank who lives across the street from the institution and who was awakened by the explosives, engaged in a gun fight with a bandit stationed in front of the bank.

The latter, crouched behind a barricade of benches, emptied several revolvers at the Bailey home. One of the bullets barely missed James Young, brother-in-law of Bailey, who was sleeping in an upstairs room.

The robbers had timed the attack with the passage of a freight train through here, starting with a few low toned blasts. After they found residents had been awakened, they speeded up their blasting of the safe, grabbed up the money and fled, firing several volleys.

ARSONISTS ENTER PLEAS OF GUILTY; SENTENCE FRIDAY

L. D. Wright and wife and Ivan Robbin and wife, arraigned before Circuit Court Judge J. T. Brand, all entered pleas of guilty to arson with intent to defraud, and will be sentenced Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Bonds were fixed at $2500.

The prisoners waived all constitutional rights, and asked for speedy sentence. Assistant District Attorney George Neilsen asked for two days' additional time to determine additional facts in the case.

One of the women—the mother of two small boys—became hysterical after the brief court procedure.

The quartet confessed, in signed statements, that on September 14 last, they set fire to a dwelling in the Buckshot Hill district, first filling it with their own and installment plan goods, and taking out an insurance policy for $2000. Property destroyed was worth approximately $300.

The Wrights formerly lived at Sedro-Wooley, Wash., and the Robbins' at Empire City, Coos county.

NATURAL GAS TO OREGON PLANNED

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 13.—(AP)—D. E. Lamb, representing, he said, the International Utilities corporation, announced today that he has asked the Oregon State Highway commission for permission to lay a 20-inch pipe line from a point near Weiser, Idaho, parallel to the old Oregon trail, to Portland.

Lamb said the company plans to construct this natural gas pipe line from Wyoming to Vancouver, B. C., at a cost of $30,000,000. The Oregon unit, he said, will cost from eight to ten million dollars.

SPANISH SEVER CATHOLIC BOND

MADRID, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The national assembly tonight rejected the Catholic religion as the religion of the state.

By a vote of 267 to 41, the assemblymen approved article 3 of the new republican constitution which states "No state religion exists."

By this decision, when the new constitution is finally enacted, centuries of official Catholic worship in Spain will end.

TOMBSTONE TOURNEY FOR WOMEN GOLFERS

REPUBLICAN RULE FOR NEW SENATE HELD SURE THING

Present Lineup Shows 48 Republicans, 47 Democrats, 1 Farmer-Labor—Bickering As Day Looms

By Francis M. Stephenson.

Washington, Oct. 13. — (AP) — Republicans almost surely will organize the new senate, but there is a lot of private bickering about it at the capitol.

Barring deaths before December 7, the lineup is expected to be 48 republicans, 47 democrats and one farmer-labor.

Because of this close division it is possible, of course, for one or two republicans to throw the organization to the democrats simply by not voting.

Some republican regulars who recall the coalition last session of the democrats and republican independents, intimate they would be just as willing that the democrats assume responsibility for the next senate.

Would Lose Chairmen.

If they give control to the democrats, these regulars would see Senators Borah of Idaho and Norris of Nebraska, two of the leaders of the coalition, lose their chairmanships of the important foreign relations and judiciary committees, respectively.

There are counter threats from the independent group, although neither Senator Borah nor Senator Norris seems interested. Some of this faction intimate they will seek to eject Senator Moses of New Hampshire as president pro tem. Senator Moses is ready to meet this by a retaliatory vote to eject from their chairmanships any republicans who desert him.

The situation as to which party will organize the house of representatives remains uncertain. The special election today in the first Wisconsin district is not expected to have any vital effect on the result. Republican victory there is expected by both democrats and republicans.

INTANGIBLE TAX REFUND FORCES ORE. TO BORROW

SALEM, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The state of Oregon will have to borrow at least $1,000,000 and possibly more in order to meet the paymenta in refunding some $930,000 of the 1929 intangibles taxes paid in, Fred Paulus, deputy state treasurer, announced today. The rebates at this time found the state treasury with heavy withdrawals to face.

In addition to the intangibles rebate the treasury this month will pay out $1,091,000 to the counties as disbursement of one-third of the automobile license fees, as well as the regular monthly withdrawals. A short time loan of 30 days is expected to be made, Paulus said.

The state treasury on October 10, had $2,790,000 in cash on hand, but of this nearly a million dollars is held in trust and cannot be issued on warrants.

PROSECUTION OF GANGSTER RESTS

FEDERAL BUILDING, CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The government completed its testimony today in the income tax case against Alphonse Capone, Chicago gang leader.

The prosecution, which charges the big gangster with evasion of tax on a six-year income of $1,035,000, rested after a handwriting expert had testified that signatures on telegraphic money orders and other government exhibits were written by the defendant.

The government's case included testimony that Capone admitted he was the owner of a Cicero gambling house; that he admitted through counsel a tax liability and offered to settle on the basis of a four-year income of $266,000.

JAP AGGRESSION REQUIRES ACTION LEAGUE IS TOLD

Dr. Sze, Chinese Spokesman Asserts Hope of World Disarmament Depends Upon Present Attitude

GENEVA, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The league of nations council heard both sides of the Sino-Japanese conflict in Manchuria today and adjourned until tomorrow or later without taking action.

Dr. Alfred Sze, representing China, demanded that the league act against what he called Japanese military aggression, not only in the interests of peace in Manchuria, but on the grounds that "unless we can cooperate in this grave emergency, we shall fail to instill any confidence in international security and order."

Kenkichi Yoshizawa, the Japanese spokesman, insisted on continuing direct negotiations with China, and disavowed his government's responsibility for the Manchurian troubles.

GENEVA, Oct. 13. — (AP) — The League of Nations council convened in extraordinary session today to consider the Sino-Japanese conflict in Manchuria, listened to a statement by Dr. Alfred Sze, the Chinese delegate, and adjourned until this afternoon.

Dr. Sze, asserting that the hope for world disarmament depends upon the league's action now, denounced Japan's "violence and military aggression," and demanded that the league direct immediate withdrawal of Japanese troops from Manchuria.

He invoked the League of Nations covenant and the Kellogg pact as "cornerstones of world peace," and asserted that China has lived up to her provisions of the league under "terrible provocations."

Action Essential.

He emphasized that quick action is essential if "most unhappy results" are to be avoided.

While he spoke, the diminutive Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Japan's representative, sat impassively on the other side of the council table, and will be heard this afternoon.

"When our territory was suddenly invaded on a vast scale, our towns laid waste and our pesceful citizens done to death, what was our reply?" asked Dr. Sze.

The reply, he said, was in the form of three executive proclamations calling on the Chinese to remain calm and await the league's action.

"The covenant and the Kellogg pact are our two sheet anchors to which we have moored our ship of state," he said, "and with the help of these we believe we shall ride out this storm.

Cornerstone of Peace.

"But the covenant and pact are also the cornerstone of a worldwide edifice of peace and if they crumble that edifice collapses.

"Is it likely that nations who had witnessed this tragic collapse of the covenant and pact at the first great test would assemble quietly in Geneva in February to disarm? Would they not rather draw the conclusion that after all each state must rely on its own armed forces and on that alone?"

"And with the idea of disarmament goes the whole idea of international security, for the two are indissolubly linked. If we fail now, when America offers her cooperation, and fail in February with disarmament, what chance have we of working out some form of permanent association, some provision for a conference under the Kellogg pact to avert threats to peace?"

BLACK MAN KILLS FAMILY OF FOUR WITH GUN AND AX

Farmer, Wife and Two Daughters Discovered Dead in Beds — Victims Are Bludgeoned After Shooting

SNOW HILL, Md., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Orphan Jones, 60-year-old negro suspect in the butchery of an entire family of four at Berlin, Md., was reported by Deputy Sheriff Randall Purnell, to have confessed late today to the murders.

BERLIN, Md., Oct. 13.—(AP)—A 60-year-old negro, Orphan Jones, was held today for the shotgun and ax murder of a farm family of four—Green Davis, his wife, and their two daughters.

Jones had worked for Davis for three weeks up to Saturday night. At that time the men quarreled. Jones was discharged.

The body of Davis, 55, years old, was found yesterday in bed beside that of his wife, Iva, 45, on the second floor of their farm house. Bodies of the two girls—Elizabeth, 15, and Mary Lee, 13—both high school students, were in a bed in an adjoining room.

Hacked Wife's Ax.

Shotgun slugs had been fired into their bodies, and the killer had bludgeoned his victims unmercifully with an ax.

Pieces of burnt cloth were under the beds, indicating an attempt to fire the house, and the bodies had been saturated with coaloil.

The negro, an native of Virginia, was arrested last night by police at Ocean City. In his clothing, police said they found a pocketbook and other property identified as belonging to members of the Davis family. A class ring of the younger girl was on one finger.

As a crowd of several hundred gathered at the Davis home, authorities rushed the negro prisoner to the county jail at Snow Hill, 16 miles from here, for safe keeping. The crowd was dispersed and there was no disorder.

LAD FOUND DEAD ON FRONT PORCH

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Whether John F. McLeod, Jr., 11-year-old son of an Oakland real estate man, shot and killed himself or was slain accidentally or intentionally by playmates was a question under police investigation today, as they drew together the slender clues with which they had to work.

Young McLeod's body was found late yesterday on the porch of his home by his mother, Mrs. Mildred McLeod. The boy's father, approaching the house at the time, told police he believed he had seen two other lads running away from the porch. Also giving rise to the theory that he might have met death other than by suicide, his 22 rifle was found more than four feet from his body, propped against a window sill.

HUSBAND HELD UNDER NON-SUPPORT CHARGE

Although a warrant was sworn out by his wife, Lydia, against Fred C. Stimson on October 14, 1930, on the charge of non-support, it was not until today that Stimson was brought into Judge Taylor's court under arrest by Deputy Sheriff Ike Dunford, to answer to the charge. On being arraigned, the case was continued for hearing until 9:30 a. m., October 14.

Hard Times of Present Give Old Couple Laugh

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Folks who talk hard times should be ashamed of themselves, in the opinion of Roswell M. Clark and his wife, Alzina, who have been married for 65 years.

Reminiscing yesterday as they prepared to celebrate their wedding anniversary next Thursday, the couple recalled these facts:

When they were married, after Clark was mustered out of the Union army in the Civil war, and followed the old Santa Fe trail to McPherson, Kans., they didn't find any kitchenette apartment awaiting them.

While not engaged in fighting Indians they built a house out of dirt, supported by tree branches.

The grain they planted was blown away by a Kansas gale.

When a crop was ready for harvest, grasshoppers or prairie fires destroyed it.

You can't talk hard times to the Clarks. They won't listen.

Dead Pussy's Furniture Worth $8,000 at Auction

SAN GABRIEL, Cal., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Auction of the household effects of Mitzi, once the world's wealthiest cat, brought a total of approximately $8,000, it was revealed today.

Attracted by the unusual event, hundreds of persons yesterday gathered at the palatial home here where Mitzi had lived until her death last April at the age of 18 years.

The cat had been allowed the use of the home by its late mistress, Dr. Maud Cain Ide and a special trust fund had been set aside for the upkeep of the large house and the cat's guardian, Mrs. Pauline Goets. On the death of the cat, the trust fund and house went to other beficiaries, largely charitable organizations, of the will of Dr. Ide. The estate totaled $265,000.

Included in the household effects of Mitzi which were auctioned yesterday was a four-posted bed which the cat had used for years. Money realized from the auction was added to the estate.

Dr. Ide, a practicing physician who for many years lived in Alhambra, Cal., was known throughout the surrounding country during her life for her charitable work.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 13.—If I had suggested such a "nut" thing, I doubt if even my own paper would have run it, but somebody in official life done it on the level—suggested that England pay us her debts in battleships, that they had more than we have. Now can you see England bringing over a couple of big dreadnaughts to us and turning the sailors loose on the "dole?" Why not let Italy pay in spaghetti and France in perfume and berets?
