

Sharkey Mauls Carnera for Decisive Victory in 15 Round Battle

PRIMO ESCAPES KAYO ROUTE BY SHOW OF NERVE

Ambling Alp Dumped for Count of Nine in Wild Fourth Frame—Boston Gob Takes 13 Rounds

By HERBERT W. BARKER (Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The bigger they come the better Jack Sharkey likes it and Primo Carnera, for one, won't venture to deny it. In the same ring at Ebbets field where he found 170-pound Mickey Walker too tough a foe to take a few weeks ago, Sharkey blasted his way to a decisive victory on points over the 260-pound Carnera last night and bounced himself right back to the forefront of challengers for Max Schmeling's heavyweight crown.

While a surprisingly large crowd of 30,000 looked on, Sharkey went to work methodically on the big veteran and relentlessly cut him down to size. Before the Boston sailor's hand was raised in token of victory after 15 rounds of spectacular mauling, Sharkey had floored Carnera for one nine count, closed one of the Italian's eyes and had given him so savage a beating that Primo was on the verge of a knock-out on a half dozen occasions.

Carnera Has Courage
But if the fight reinstated Sharkey to his position as a leading contender it served also to remove any lingering doubt as to Carnera's courage and stamina. The huge Italian failed to exhibit his vaunted punch, but he demonstrated all kinds of courage. Subjected to punishment severe enough to have finished almost any other heavyweight, the Italian man mountain still was in there offering what resistance he could when the final bell sounded.

Through the first three rounds and a part of the fourth Carnera amassed Sharkey and the crowd with his speed and skillful boxing. Using a left hand as a Tommy Loughran, Carnera stabbed Sharkey off balance and had the American floundering about wondering what it was all about.

But the whole complexion of the fight changed in a flash in the wild fourth round, when Sharkey, after taking a cutting in the clinches, suddenly leaped out with a left hook that dumped the huge Carnera on the canvas with a dull thud.

Count Resumed.
Quinboat Smith, the referee, started to count. At six Primo, stunned, pulled himself to his feet with the aid of the ropes, but went down again as his head cleared sufficiently for him to obey his handlers' signs to take a count of nine.

As Primo went down on one knee again, Sharkey tore across the ring and shouted:
"He went down without being hit. He's disqualified. Count him out."

These Gridsters Play All Games On Home Field

OSSENING, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Football has come to Sing Sing, but the teams won't make any road trips.

Warden Lawes thinks the game will do the prisoners good—"teach them to play according to rules," he explained. Two dozen football outfits have been donated. The warden said the teams would be coached by several high school and college men among the prisoners.

One advantage Warden Lawes sees in prison football over the college kind is that the alumni is hardly likely to squawk about the way the team is handled.

But Smith waved him aside and resumed the count. Sharkey, mad with rage, tried to climb out of the ring, but his manager, Johnny Buckley, pushed him back.

Referee Right.
Under the rules, Smith was within his rights in resuming the count. New York state athletic commission regulations provide that if a fighter goes down, gets up and goes down again without being hit, the referee, within his discretion, either may disqualify the offender or resume the count.

By the time Sharkey was ready to resume Carnera was on his feet, leaning against the ropes. The battle was on again, but Carnera never was the same.

Carnera won only one round, the third, and held Sharkey even in another, the 13th. The others all went to the Boston sailor. Carnera weighed 261 pounds, Sharkey 202½.

TOWNSEND BIG LINKS SURPRISE

A new dark horse has suddenly appeared in the P. A. T. golf tournament at the Medford club in the person of F. W. Townsend formerly of Nova Scotia, who a few years ago built a fine home on the Conroy orchard which he purchased and is now a permanent resident of the valley.

Yesterday Townsend took that veteran of tournament play, Desk Buckingham to a trimming 2 up, after the latter had disposed of Earl Tully former champ in the preceding round.

Townsend as a newcomer was given a handicap of 27 which is the maximum allowed in tournament play, but as he is no novice at the game it is decidedly probable he will come close to winning the title. Other results in the tournament which for some reason is dragging along slowly, follow:
R. B. Hammond defeated Husong, 5 and 4; E. E. Kelly defeated O. C. Boggs, 5 and 4; D. B. Gray defeated F. Corning Kenly, 2 and 1.
Fred Weeks plays H. R. Sinclair soon and the winner will meet Gray in the quarter final.

As soon as this tournament is finished, preliminaries for the fall contest for the President's cup will start.

TIGERS POINT FOR GRANTS PASS FOE COMING SATURDAY

First Conference Clash On Cavemen's Grid—Locals Invade Klamath October 24 for Crucial Test

Medford high school football team will play its first southern Oregon conference game next Saturday when it journeys to Grants Pass. The team resumed practice last night, after the Eureka contest, and a week of hard drilling will be the order of Coach Burgher. Last year Grants Pass nosed out Medford, 7 to 6.

The locals have recovered from a light attack of over-confidence and have perfected their forward pass attack, as shown by the score in the Eureka game. Grants Pass this season has a green, but fighting team. Klamath Falls beat them, 19 to 12, and the Pelicans had their hands full in the second half, when they were held scoreless. The Josephine county squad also played a 6 to 6 tie with Bandon, considered the chief Oos county opponent of Marshfield.

In Klamath October 24, the Medford squad journeys to Klamath Falls for the annual game, and this promise to be the bitterest battle of the season. Klamath Falls, in more than 20 years of competition, has tied the locals but once, and this season they are preparing to lay claim to state championship honors. They have a heavy, experienced team, and defeated Ashland last Friday, 23 to 12, in the dedication game on their new field. Klamath Falls confidently expects to defeat Medford this season, and hope to win their first southern Oregon conference championship. Medford is all that stands between them and that goal.

Cosch Avrit has installed new life into the Pelicans, and he has plenty of reserves.

The Grants Pass team is also out after the locals' scalp, and have been drilling all season for Saturday's game.
