

EGG PRICE SPREAD DRAWS ATTENTION OF CITY TRADERS

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Wide spread between the prices quoted for eggs in Portland and some other markets, both of the west and the east, is attracting much attention from the trade, the Journal said today. Explanations for this spread are logical from both sides of the controversy and indicate much the same condition elsewhere even though quotations at other points appear uniform.

It has been said that there are no fresh eggs being offered on the Portland market because the price for retailers to retailers are lower than what operators are playing the country for the supplies. This is not the case, although it is perhaps a half truth.

Purchasers of eggs freshly laid, are being made in the country at prices beyond what is being quoted for fresh eggs to retailers and returns on pools are much in excess of this quotation.

There was no change in general prices for the day.

There was no change of moment in the butter market situation for the day. Late seasons of the produce exchange was without feature for cubes. Butterfat situation is strong.

While the market for live chickens in general is steady to firm and even of active volume, there is a slightly easier feeling generally for springer stuff with some price recessions noted during the day.

In general a slightly easier tone is apparent in the market for turkeys. Dressed hens are especially inclined to ease up with some sales 1 to 2c lower. General top for fancy toms is not above $3c lb.

Severe congestion is showing generally all through the country for potatoes. Little cash business appears at any point and prices are lower but on a most nominal basis. This applies to the local as well as primary markets.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(AP) F. W. Woolworth company today declared an extra dividend of $2 a share in addition to the regular quarterly disbursement of 50 cents. The extra dividend is payable November 15 to stock of record Nov. 1, and the regular Dec. 1 to stock of record Nov. 1. This was a welcome break for Wall Street in the long chain of dividend reductions. It had been expected, however, the surplus of the parent company was considerably increased a few months ago by the recapitalization and public sale of securities of the British subsidiary. It had been expected that the company would take some action toward distributing part of this surplus to the stockholders.

CASPER, Wyo., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Casper oil men said today a proposed Wyoming to Vancouver, B. C., natural gas pipeline, announced yesterday at Portland, has been contemplated for some time.

However, it was the understanding here, oil men said, the principal source of supply would be the Dry Creek field in southern Montana with Garland, Byron and Elk Basin structures in Wyoming probably being tapped.

BRAINY SHOULD LEAD WORLD IN BUSINESS GAIN

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Calling for "leadership in a leaderless world," Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, said in an address at Founder's day exercises of Carnegie Institute here today that "a united and courageous front by the men of light and learning now will do much to check the wave of hysteria and fear which has been sweeping the people off their feet."

"What we need today," he said, "is a mobilization of the constructive brains of the country and a demobilization of political oratory. It is time to see both politics and economics realistically."

Gov. Ritchie said the problem of the hour in his opinion is how to make "politics and economics understand each other, pull together for the common good and bring order out of the existing chaos—a chaos which may be due nearly as much to psychology as to economic or political
