DEATH OF MARTIN REMAINS MYSTERY FUNERAL IS HELD

Shooting of Mountaineer Probably Never Will Be Solved Is Local View—Many Hunters in Vicinity

Funeral services were held this morning at Trail for Loris Martin, pioneer and mountaineer, slain last week the authorities believe, by an unknown hunter, in mistake for a deer. Interment was in Trail cemetery.

Martin's death—the second of this hunting season—will probably be listed as an unsolved mystery of the hills. It occurred last Wednesday or Thursday, and the body was found Friday noon on the Umpqua Divide Trail, 14 miles from Trail, by Joe Roe.

The district attorney's office is still working on details of the tragedy, but hope for no exact solution, unless the hunter, haunted by his conscience, voluntarily makes a clean breast of the sad affair.

Reconstruct Scene The scene, after an investigation last Saturday, has been reconstructed by the sheriff, as follows: That Martin, a trapper, was working with his traps on a bushy side of a gully when a hunter appeared on the opposite side and seeing a movement in the brush fired. The shot struck Martin in the left side near the heart. The authorities think a cry of pain attracted the hunter of his ghastly error, and he fled. Martin, with true woman's instinct, though mortally wounded, staggered to the trail, realizing that his chances for aid and discovery would be best there. Sheriff Jennings says that only a man in perfect physical condition could have traveled the 75 feet to the trail.

Wore Gray Shirt Assistant District Attorney Neilson said that Martin wore a gray shirt and hat and that the hunter might have caught a glimpse of this apparel and mistaken them for a deer. Martin's gun, unfired, a hatchet and knapsack were found Saturday, 75 feet from where the body was found. A check-up by the authorities, shows that last week there were dozens of hunters in the area where the fatality occurred.

Ed Foster, a prospector of Jackson-ville, was slain under similar circumstances in the timber near Ruch, shortly before the deer season opened.

Greta Garbo Heads Cast At Craterian

What a combination—Greta Garbo and Clark Gable! In the production "Susan Lenox, Her Fall and Rise," from the flaming love classic by David Graham Phillips. The picture is by far Garbo's best talkie and in the opinion of this reviewer, among her three best sound or silent. The novel makes wonderful material for her and as her leading man Gable is more than amply romantic. Garbo plays the part of a humble Swedish girl.

COUNTY TEACHERS ATTEND INSTITUTE IN NEW HI SCHOOL

E. F. Carleton, Association Secretary, Says Education Could Have Averted Present Depression Period

Blame for some of the mental hysteria of the American public, which has led in part to the present depression, has been laid at the door of American education, E. F. Carleton, secretary of the Oregon State Teachers' association, told teachers at the county institute held here today.

Proper education of the people in the history of past panics and financial troubles would have done much to prevent the American public from taking the attitude it has today, he declared.

Fill In Fund Cut Mr. Carleton pointed out that the evils of threatened reductions in educational expenditures over Oregon, saying that the biggest result of such would be the decreased efficiency of state schools for a long period following since any advances in expenditures are always extremely slow in coming. His address was the opening talk on this morning's program.

Dr. Francis D. Curtis, associate professor of education at the University of Michigan, addressed the group with a talk, "Looking Ourselves in the Eye." Among the things he attacked about the teaching profession was the teaching of subjects which the teacher did not know thoroughly, discrimination against married teachers, and the dropping out of instructors who later try to re-enter the profession.

Rev. C. B. Porter opened the meeting following music by the high school chorus directed by Miss Harriet Baldwin. One hundred percent membership in the O. S. T. A. in practically all districts in the county was reported at the meeting of the county unit of that group by Elizabeth Burr, president.

Individual meetings of various classes were called in the morning and afternoon and problems of each subject discussed. Those in charge of these round-table meetings were Doris Baier, H. P. Jewett, George E. Meisinger, Josephine Kirtley, Fern Hartsock, LaVera Moe, Earl Rogers, Leland Mentzer, Agnes Deaver, Ida O'Brien, Laura York, Walter Redford.

COUNTY WARY OF DAMAGE SUITS BY AILING INDIGENTS

The county court is considering the advisability and legality of in the future, requiring recipients of county medical aid, to sign a release of the county from damage suit liability. Definite action, looking towards the acceptance or rejection will probably be taken at an early date.

The action is an outgrowth of the damage suit of Mrs. Nettie Marcho of the Applegate, heard last week, wherein she sued County Physician B. C. Wilson and County Jailor O. W. (Ike) Dunford for $13,000 damages, for alleged mistreatment, and alleged false imprisonment. A jury returned a verdict Saturday afternoon denying damages. Commissioner Victor Bursell estimates the maximum cost to the county at $150.

Mrs. Marcho, it developed from the testimony at the trial, was a sufferer from pernicious anemia, and had received county medical aid, and was placed in Sacred Heart hospital for observation, at county expense. She was removed from the hospital at the request of the hospital authorities, and temporarily placed in the women's ward of the county jail. It was alleged that she was against her will, and that she was dropped on the paved sidewalk by the two defendants, and sustained injuries to her pelvis.

One of the features of the trial was the filing of an affidavit by Mrs. Lydia King, ousted county health nurse, alleging that Dr. Wilson had made light of Mrs. Marcho's predicament, and spoken disparagingly. With other county courts of the state, the local body last year urged that the legislature pass a law requiring plaintiffs in damage actions to file bonds for jury costs, as now in force in California.

He had been a resident of Applegate for 25 years where he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Wesley Ritchey. Funeral services will be conducted by Conger Funeral Parlor at the Log Town cemetery at 2:30 Wednesday.

THREE SENTENCED ON RUM CHARGES NABBED SATURDAY

The state police in their efforts to break up liquor sales in the vicinity of out of town dances and the driving of cars while intoxicated coming from those dances, were busy at Jacksonville and on the Jacksonville-Medford highway Saturday night, and as a result of arrests made, a suspected bootlegger and two young men received heavy sentences today in Judge Taylor's court.

Harold Porter, taxi driver for a Medford concern, was fined $100 and received a 30 days jail sentence on a charge of possession, arising from a pint of moonshine being found in his pocket when his car was stopped. A jury testified that the state police had suspected him of bootlegging.

Ernest Stevenson, 19, and Ralph Parks, 18, both of Medford, were each sentenced to 90 days in jail, but the sentence of Parks was suspended on certain conditions, which include that he must be at home every night by 9 o'clock, but attend school regularly and not attend Saturday night dances, can only drive a car on family errands, and must keep out of bad company.

The boys were arrested on the charge of having three pints of moonshine, when their car was stopped. Two girls, 16 and 18, were in the car with them, and the two boys had been drinking, according to testimony, and when the car was halted two jars of moonshine were dropped to the street. It was also testified that Stevenson was seen peddling booze around the dance hall at 10:30 p. m. Stevenson tried to take all the blame on himself for the escape. The boys claimed they had found the booze on a ranch.

CHARMING MAIDS TO SHOW HOSIERY

A special novel setting has been arranged as a background for the mannequins who will show the women of southern Oregon what color and style of hose they should wear for every occasion. Rollins hosiery will be particularly featured in chifon, service chifon and service weight. Meshes for sport, daytime and evening will be displayed. A short discussion of what's what in hose will accompany the appearance of the models, a loud speaker making it possible for everyone to hear.

A close, crowded theatre... a hint of "B.O."... and one more romance ends!

DANGER! "B.O." KILLS ROMANCE

It may be hurting you, too, because one never knows when one is guilty. PERHAPS you think these warnings about "B.O."—body odor—are meant for the other person, not you. Don't fool yourself! We're all likely to offend now and then unless we take precautions. Pores are constantly giving off odor-causing waste—a quart daily. A warm room—a little extra physical exertion or nervous strain—and this odor becomes noticeable to others. You yourself won't be aware of it, and nobody will tell you. But they'll think of you as careless... undesirable... someone to be avoided. Don't risk offending perhaps the very people you want most to impress. Keep pores clean and deodorized by frequent bathing with Lifebuoy Health Soap.
