

BELLVIEW GRANGE WILL BE HOST TO POMONA MEETING

(By Mrs. Gertrude Haak)

Pomona Grange meets Saturday, October 24, at 10 a. m., with Bellview Grange as host. This is the first time the Pomona Grange has met with Bellview and a very pleasant time is anticipated in the commodious Community hall, about four miles south of Ashland on a road that connects the old Pacific highway with the new Pacific highway and on which the old Moon mill used to be.

A large attendance is expected and doubtless many matters of importance will be brought up for consideration.

Many of the newer Grangers are anxious to get in touch with the county Grange and its program of work, and we expect many of them at this meeting.

We would like to call the attention of the masters to the fact that many of them do not leave their reports with the secretary. When this is not done your reports cannot get in the records. That is, until your report is filed with the secretary.

Report blanks have been mailed to the subordinate masters. If you cannot attend the Pomona, then mail this report card back to the secretary several days before Pomona. Just scratch out the address and write the secretary's address on the back, put on a one-cent stamp and that is all there is to it, except, of course, fill out the report card.

Any fourth degree member in good standing may join the Pomona, which meets with the various Granges in the county once in three months. Send for a Pomona membership card and have both your master and the secretary sign for you. It will pay any Granger to join the Pomona.

Dues are very low, being only 50 cents for initiation, and dues 50 cents a year, payable in advance.

Pomona Grange is largely educational and leads in the many projects common to the Grange.

Some members do not like the discussion which follows the resolutions which come up before the assembly. But these discussions are very enlightening and enable one to see both sides of a question. That is the way we learn, and we believe that the information gleaned from these discussions is of inestimable value to all of us.

And since it is yet too dry to do much farming, come to the Pomona Grange at Bellview October 24. The Grange opens at 10 o'clock a. m., and lasts all day, with a splendid dinner at noon. Lecture hour is immediately after dinner and is usually open to everyone. Fourth degree members may sit in during the business session after the Grange has closed in the Pomona degree, which usually lasts about an hour. Of course only 8th degree members vote.

May we remind many of our members that their dues are in arrears? The by-laws state that you are a voting member only as long as your dues are paid up for the current year in advance. Better attend to this.

TEACHERS PLEDGE EFFORT TO TRAIN FOR LAW RESPECT

The following resolution was adopted by the Jackson County Teachers' Association Monday in session here Monday:

At no time in the history of our great country has there been a more urgent need for steadfastness in loyalty to her great principles. In no former period have we needed poise, clear-thinking, mature judgment, and genuine respect for government and law as we need them now. We recognize that the public schools can do much toward the formation of these characteristics of good citizenship and we here resolve that our efforts will not slacken in this direction.

Resolved: That we as public school teachers pledge our support to our board of education in conserving the resources of our various districts to the end that full value shall be returned for every dollar expended.

Resolved: That we are heartily in sympathy with the organized effort now being made in support of international peace.

Resolved: That this association go on record as expressing its approval of the work done during the last year by the Oregon State Teachers' association through its various committees.

Resolved: That we agree most heartily with the expression of the department of superintendents of the National Education association given at its late meeting, "That the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States is the most effective means yet devised to curtail the distribution and use of alcoholic liquors" and we call upon teachers of the public schools to cultivate by their personal attitude and their direct teachings a respect for this law as well as for all others of our country.

We extend our sincere and appreciative thanks to the many unpaid workers in this one-day teachers' institute, who without pay, advantage or prestige, have served on committees, assisted in the organization, and given freely of their time and ability to the cause of public education.

Thanks are due to our county superintendent for planning a delightful day for us, and our appreciation is hereby extended to Dr. Curtis, Mr. Zuber, and the other speakers for the inspiration given us.

To the Medford school authorities and the Medford high school instructors and students we extend our gratitude for the use of their fine new building and for the courtesies extended to us.

Respectfully submitted by your resolutions committee,
C. R. BOWMAN, Chairman,
DELNO SLOAN
E. M. HUSSONG
MISS BETTY HILEMAN
MRS. FRANCES PEARSON.

Cigarette Is Topic Lecture at Church

At the First Baptist church tomorrow evening at 7:30, E. P. Atchley, of Portland, superintendent of the Anti-Cigarette League of Oregon will lecture on "The Enemy of Youth." This is one of a group of lectures being given throughout Oregon by Mr. Atchley. A collection will be taken at the close of the lecture.

Author in 1856 Visioned Present Day Inventions

The world has changed a lot since 1856. And with much greater rapidity than a certain fun-maker, especially adept with the pen, prophesied for Harper's Monthly that year. He drew with his pen a picture, which without much retouching could be called "modern Russia," and in places "modern America."

The article, headed "January First, A. D. 3000" was published January 1, 1856. A copy of the bound magazine, owned by Mrs. D. M. Luke of this city, includes the story.

The scene is laid in Peewees City, "on the island known to the ancients as the Island of Borneo." And while the geographical and governmental eruptions mentioned have not materialized, the social customs are here, 1069 years in advance of the writer's expectations. Incubator babies, prohibition, airway service, underground railroads and the Russian housing system are listed by the writer as products of A. D. 3000.

Pictures present humans in scant clothing, a trifle more scant than that generally worn, but no more revealing than costumes of the beach and other summer resorts.

Telephones are forecast by the writer, who has his people reading newspapers well illustrated with them and filled with telegraphic correspondence from all parts. "A scene occurring 10,000 miles off can be instantaneously transferred to the paper here."

A gentleman of Peewees City informs the visiting Rip Van Winkle: "This, for instance, is a sketch of the commotion created yesterday at the North Pole by the news that Professor Brown had succeeded in attracting the new comet by electricity."

In the midst of the conversation a lady enters dressed in very short skirts and wearing for jewelry invention models, of a machine for making horn buttons, a new lid for saucepans and a self-lacing boot.

"This only nobility recognized by the enlightened age," the speaker tells his visitor, is "affinity to genius." Around her neck the lady wears a chain, which announces "Two millions of dowry settled on myself." All other women bear similar tags, and marriages, the visitor learns, are all arranged by government authorities.

Going to bed and getting up are also controlled by law, and tobacco has gone the way of whiskey. Waters are served under higher recommendations than are given Medford's "mountain spring in every home."

Asked about mothers, the speaker replies, "Mothers, ah, I forgot. I have read of the old-fashioned maternal duties. They must have been a dreadful bore. We did away with them long ago. Children are reared in establishments from their birth on a substance called cupro-lactogen."

And to show that people were then and expected to always be quarreling over legislation, the following conversation is given:

"Such a law is arbitrary!" the lawmaker replies, "How can it be arbitrary since the people enacted it themselves by their representatives? You are just like the old writers, constantly twaddling about liberty."

NEW M'MARR HEAD IMPROVING SERVICE

W. A. Frady, who recently arrived from Klamath Falls, has taken over the management of the MacMarr store at 34 No. Central. With new personnel, new stock and new arrangements Mr. Frady says they now have a complete food store and are able to wait on customers quickly and without confusion. The new MacMarr policy of constant improvement will be followed in the future.

Event Extraordinary Keep Friday night, Oct. 23rd open for the Fun Carnival and Fair in the Recreation Hall of the First M. E. church.

See "Her Majesty the Queen," visit the "Fish Pond," the "River Styx," and many other booths. This will be the BEST-EVIL.

FLAMES DESTROY BACKS DWELLING AT JACKSONVILLE

JACKSONVILLE, Ore., Oct. 20.—(Spl.)—Fire, resulting from defective wiring, destroyed the George Backes home here Sunday morning. The loss is estimated at $3000. The fire department was called when flames were discovered on the roof of the two-story dwelling about 7 o'clock. The water shortage, which has existed through the summer, made it impossible to combat the fire. Some furniture, including piano, radio and electric washing machine, was saved. The fire broke out when Mrs. Backes and little daughter were sleeping. Mr. Backes had left the previous day for a hunting trip and returned Sunday night to learn for the first time that his home was destroyed. The loss was partially covered by insurance. John Hull Wants Work BIRMINGHAM, England.—(AP)—A department store here advertised for 50 assistants. When the shop opened next day 5,000 applicants were queued up before the store.
