

PLAN NEEWOLLAH CELEBRATION FOR CHILDREN IN CITY

Hundreds of school children in Medford will participate in the Neewollah celebration Saturday evening, Oct. 31, being sponsored by the local American Legion post. The big event will open with a jack-o'-lantern parade down Main street at 7:30, with prizes being awarded for the best pumpkins.

The parade will close with all of the children going to the armory, where games, stunts and other entertaining features will be put on, under the direction of Oscar E. Hoover, Boy Scout executive; Miss Dorothy Mitchell, Y. W. C. A. secretary; and B. B. Finch, principal of the Junior high school. Refreshments will be served.

Committee members planning the Neewollah event are: Rev. Claude B. Porter, E. H. Hedrick, B. B. Finch, Clatus McCredie, C. T. Baker, and Col. W. H. Payne.

Williams School Carnival Tonight

WILLIAMS CREEK, Ore., Oct. 23.—(Sp.)—All of the excitement of a regular carnival will be present this evening at the Williams creek Grange hall where the high school student body is sponsoring a carnival. A number of booths and side shows have been erected for the affair, to which the public has been invited to attend. Admission is free, with proceeds from the booths to be used for the school.

AGATE RESIDENTS ARE HOME FROM VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. George Dewey and Mrs. N. D. Brophy of Agate have returned to their home, following a two weeks' vacation at coast points. In Trinidad, Calif., they visited Mr. and Mrs. B. Hobson, who formerly resided in the Agate district. They were also guests of A. A. Barneburg at Crescent City, another former resident of the Agate district.

For seven days they camped at Gold Beach, and saw landed a 51½-pound salmon. A two-point buck ran through their camp one morning, according to Mr. Dewey, which caused some excitement. The deer swam to a sandbar and was shot after Mr. Dewey ran to the boatlanding and got a man with a boat and hunting license to shoot the buck.

COUNTRY BOYS' THIRST GROWS IN BIG CITY

Newell Thoren, young man who lives near the city and works on his father's ranch, let his uncontrollable urban thirst get away with him again Wednesday night, and was given a sentence of 90 days today in the city court. Although formerly arrested here often for the same offense, this last drunk was his first in the past eight months.

Hence Judge Taylor suspended the fine on condition that Thoren remain out in the country and not come to town where the drink temptation was so strong, and shun his bad city friends.

TILLER TO TRAIL ROAD LEVY VOTE SET FOR NOV. 9

The county court today signed orders setting November 9 next as the date for the special road election, for the voting of a three mill levy, and naming Earl Ulrich, Prospect, J. S. Weeks, Prospect, and Alma L. Merriman, Trail, as the election officials.

The levy is expected to raise about $20,000 which with state and federal funds will build the Jackson county portion of the Tiller-Trail road, estimated to cost $65,000. The road has been designated a forest highway.

The road in Jackson county is twelve miles long, extending from the Crater Lake highway at Trail, to near the summit of the Umpqua divide.

All property holders along the proposed route have signed the petition. In the event that the special levy carries, it is expected that work on the Jackson county end will start early next summer. Douglas county and the government have been working on the other end for two years.

Wagner Creek P-TA Meets This Evening

WAGNER CREEK, Ore., Oct. 23.—(Sp.) The Parent-Teachers association of Wagner creek will meet this evening in the school house. All members of the organization are urged by the officers to attend, and take part in the meeting.

STUDIES RESUMED BY THREE RUNAWAY BOYS

The three Medford youths, who Wednesday morning decided to climb Roxy Ann to do a little pheasant hunting, today resumed their studies at the Lincoln school, having been located last night returning home.

Jean Sutherland, Tom Gillinsky and Donald Atkinson spent Wednesday night in a cabin on Roxy Ann, and as their provisions diminished, they returned to the comforts of their homes.

RECKLESS YOUTH PAYS OWN FINE

A refreshing novelty in Judge Taylor's court this morning was the appearance of a high school boy to answer to a charge of careless and heedless driving, with money of his own to pay his fine of $10, after he had pleaded guilty.

Donald Greaves, who broke the monotonous procession of boys in court for a year or so past for auto violations whose parents would have had to pay if they were fined, and for this reason Judge Taylor usually gave suspended fines rather than have the burden fall on the parents, was accused by State Policeman Van de Walker of driving 40 miles an hour on South Oakdale the other day, and while so doing narrowly missing striking another car.

Donald worked all summer and saved up some money he told the judge, who thereupon separated him from $10.

Skid Is Fatal
PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 23.—(AP)—W. D. Downes, 60, of College Place, Wash., was killed Thursday on the Base Line road when his automobile skidded and overturned against a tree. He was crushed under the car. Mrs. Downes escaped with minor bruises.

MRS. MACK HAS BUSY DAY ATTENDING MEETS

This is a busy day for Mrs. Mabel C. Mack, county home demonstration agent, for after attending an all day meeting of Talent Community club, devoted to planning extension work projects for the year, she will take the canning demonstration team from Ashland that placed third at the recent state fair, to Applegate where they will demonstrate canning of beef before the Applegate Grange this evening, returning home late tonight. The team consists of Beth Joy and Beulah Hervey.

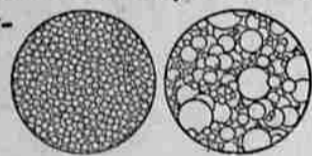

"I can't bake like grandmother."

"I am reputed to be a good cook but when it comes to baking I just can't make a cake or biscuits like hers."

Have you ever said that?

Did it ever occur to you that you may not be using the same baking powder she did—for that's the vital thing. She used cream of tartar baking powder. Do you? Shortly after her time in the kitchen, cheap substitutes for cream of tartar began to appear. But you didn't know it. Look on your tin of baking powder. See if you can find the words "cream of tartar". That was the secret of grandmother's fluffy cakes and muffins. Ask any teacher of cooking. Any of them, anywhere. There are only two cream of tartar baking powders you can buy. Schilling is the one western women have preferred for forty years.
