

LINDSAY ON TRAIN EN ROUTE NORTH

Frank Lindsay, master criminal of the Pacific Coast, who was arrested last week in Los Angeles after a two years' search, when he confessed to wife murder at Seattle, passed through this city yesterday by train after the plane in which his captors were returning to Seattle, was forced down at Corning, Calif., and was slightly damaged. The plane was turned back by unfavorable flying conditions over the Skiskiyou and on the return to Oakland landed at Corning.

Lindsay was held in a compartment and his identity guarded by his captors. The sheriff's office and state police were watchful for the past two days at the Medford airport. It was thought possible Lindsay might be held in the county jail, if conditions justified.

Lindsay confessed to murdering his wife, and burying her body, after which he fled with an adopted daughter, 13, whom he abandoned in Oakland, Calif.

U. S. OFFICERS QUIZ PROSPECT SUSPECTS

Department of justice agents today were questioning Pearl White, 20, Martha Williams, 35, and Arthur Crabtree, arrested in a raid in the Prospect area Wednesday, and held for possession of liquor and alleged operation of a house of assignation. The federal authorities are seeking to determine if the White woman was transported here in violation of the Mann act, and other federal statutes. The trio came to the Prospect district recently from California, it is claimed, and established quarters in a tent house near the California-Oregon construction work.

HEALTH WORKERS TALK SEAL SALE

Yesterday's Health Workers' Institute was devoted to plans for, and problems of handling the 1931 Christmas Tuberculosis Seal sale. Mrs. Sadie Orr, Dunbar, president of the State Teachers' association, in her talk to the workers stressed the point that tuberculosis takes advantage of hard times; that this year particularly the quota for the seal sale should be met. "Tuberculosis," she said, still claims too many victims to let down the vigilance during a time of depression. The world's most precious gift—health, must be safeguarded as never before.

Mrs. Dunbar complimented the Jackson County health association on its efforts in educating school children to know the value of the health seals. "There is no other county in the state which has done so well," she is quoted as saying.

Today the members of the association met in Ashland for the annual picnic and final meeting of the institute.
