the guise of putting down communist revolts, but in reality they were preparations for civil war.

The statement ended by saying that the Prussian government no longer would tolerate the mobilization of an army like Hitler's storm troops.

The raids throughout Prussia were under the direction of Karl Severing, minister of interior.

A report was current that they would be extended also to other parts of the state.

Correspondence seized. Throughout Prussia, from Koenigsberg to Cologne, police seized all the correspondence they found in the Nazi headquarters, packed it up and took it under heavy guard to police headquarters for examination.

There were raids in Cologne, Berlin, Hamburg, Koenigsberg, Aachen, Dueseldorf, Frankfurt-on-Main and many smaller places.

Nazi headquarters protested vigorously to Wilhelm Groener, federal minister of the interior, and to Albert Griesinski, Berlin chief of police.

Headquarters spokesmen said the wholesale seizure of documents, including membership cards and daily correspondence files, was entirely unwarranted.

Officers Called North—T. J. Sheridan and E. T. Jackson of the local state police force were called to Roseburg today to appear as witnesses at a trial in the northern city.

California Visitors—Included among the recent registrations at local hotels are those of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Olsen and A. Woolf of Los Angeles, W. S. Storms of Sacramento, Fred R. responsible talk, thus a vicious circle is established, which unless checked, can cause incalculable—and needless—injury and harm, not only to the banks but to the entire communities.

"This Oregon statute was framed to meet that exact situation, and it is certainly gratifying and somewhat surprising to see how effectively it has worked.

"For those who do this sort of talking cannot be stopped by reason or persuasion. They are almost invariably of two classes—the vicious and the ignorant. The only thing that can stop them is fear.

"And I could cite innumerable instances where the fear that this law invokes has stopped them. When such people realize that circulating false rumors about any bank may land them in jail for at least a year, or cost them no less than $1000, they are inclined to be very careful about what they say. They are inclined to determine the facts about any bank before they talk about it. And that automatically solves the bank problem by dealing with the truth about Oregon financial institutions is perfectly proper and can do no harm."

The statute in question was then quoted as follows:
22-1509. Slander and false rumors.—Any person who willfully and knowingly makes, circulates or transmits to another or others any statement or rumors, written, printed or by word of mouth, which is untrue in facts and is

Oldest Store in County Improved

(Sp.)—Jackson county's oldest store, Geo. Brown & Son's at Eagle Point, celebrated its complete remodeling March 12. For several days carpenters have been rearranging and building new fixtures and the store is now very attractive. Bargains were offered the crowds in attendance. Mrs. Mary Taylor was given a pound of coffee as the oldest lady in attendance.

Mrs. Roy Stanley won the guessing contest sponsored by Sperry Products company. Homing pigeons were released at 2:00 o'clock to return to Medford. Jack Walker and Chas. Ferguson of Medford were in charge. The birds reached home 28 minutes, 20 seconds after being released.

Pat O'Brien, remembered for his clever characterization as the reporter in the "Front Page," is featured in "The Final Edition," the newspaper story coming to the Holly tomorrow. The story concerns a girl reporter who gets a scoop story for the "Final Edition" in spite of all handicaps. Mae Clarke is seen as the girl reporter.

"Safe in the dramatic sensation starring Dorothy Mackail, is the closing attraction at the Holly tonight, with a "Believe It or Not" reel with Robert Ripley, "The Naggers Anniversary," and a novelty act featuring Marjorie Beebe, also on the closing program.

PORTLAND, March 17.—(P)—The police radio system last night saved the life of John Monaco, 60.

In a squad car two patrolmen sped to an outside address in answer to a radio call that a man was hanging himself. They found Monaco suspended by his neck at the end of a rope in his garage. Police cut the rope and applied artificial respiration. Physicians today said Monaco was improving rapidly. His family said he had become dependent because of inability to obtain steady employment.

PHOENIX, March 17.—(Sp.)—Tomorrow is the regular meeting date of the home extension unit here, and will be an all-day meeting at the Grange hall. The topic will be dry cleaning and clothes project. Mrs. Mack will attend.

The ladies have been collecting labels of Oregon products as a prize is to be awarded to the community presenting the greatest number. Individual prizes will also be given. Community prize is a large ham.

Labels are to be presented this week at the home demonstration agent's office.
