

CHURCHILL MAY BE TRANSFERRED BY SCHOOL PLAN

that the chancellor should be selected with the feeling that "administrative ability should take precedence over academic qualifications."

Recommendation was made that two members of the board make trips to other states to interview men for the position of chancellor. The committee feels it has done all that can be done through correspondence and that the next move must be toward proper contact.

Favor Corvallis
The residence of the chancellor may be at any campus he might select, but the committee said in this connection that "there are many points more favorable to Corvallis than Eugene. It is nearer to the Salem office, the Oregon Normal and the Medical school at Portland."

There will be a president of each school on the campus, to be directly under the chancellor, it being the opinion of the committee that an executive must of necessity be at the head of each institution to insure its welfare.

In giving the chancellor the choice of his residence site, the committee feels that he must be in close contact with the schools, but even though he were on one campus he would not be put in a position of becoming too intimate.

The recommendation that President Churchill of the Southern Oregon Normal school be the head of the normal school at Monmouth with direct jurisdiction over the LaGrande and Ashland schools as well, was a drastic step.

Landers Not Mentioned
No mention was made in the report as to the future of J. S. Landers, president of the Monmouth Normal.

Lack of a quorum prevented the board from transacting any business at its morning session. The only committee members present were Mrs. Cornelia Marvin Pierce, Albert Burch and C. L. Starr. Other members are B. F. Irvine, Edward C. Pease and E. C. Sammons. The latter is in the Orient.

At its last week's meeting the board adopted a report bringing closer together the university and college, eliminating duplication of courses at the two institutions, and establishing 15 major schools, six each at Eugene and Corvallis, and one, the medical school, at Portland.

The recommendations as to personnel of the major schools follow:

Dean and director of literature, language and art; Clarence V. Boyer of Eugene to remain at Eugene.

Dean and director of home economics; Ava B. Milam of Corvallis, to remain at Corvallis.

Dean and director of social sciences; James Henry Gilbert of Eugene to remain at Eugene.

Dean and director of agriculture; William A. Schoenfeld of Corvallis to remain at Corvallis.

Dean and director of law; Wayne L. Morse of Eugene to remain at Eugene.

THERMOMETERS IN ORCHARD ALARMS NEEDED FOR TEST

Following his arrival in the city from southern California early yesterday afternoon, and after a cursory view of the orchard situation, Roy Rogers, assistant to Floyd D. Young, the government frost expert who with the latter has been stationed here on frost warning work each spring for years past, Mr. Rogers today began the testing of the orchard thermometers already brought in for that purpose.

Only about half the thermometers have been brought in to the county agents' office for this testing, and Mr. Rogers joins in the appeal issued several days ago by Floyd Young and County Agent Wilcox for the hurrying in of all orchard thermometers for testing immediately, as the pear buds are developing fast.

Tomorrow Mr. Rogers will start the work of setting up the frost instruments, and the section of the frost taking stations in the orchards. Mr. Young is expected back in the city from a visit to the Washington fruit districts by Monday. Orchardists are urged to bring in their thermometers properly tagged with name and address, so that none will be displaced in the handling of several hundred thermometers in testing.

PLOT TO MURDER UNION OFFICIALS NIPPED BY COPS

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—An alleged murder plot against officials of a labor union was foiled last night by an eleventh hour police raid in which four men and a woman were arrested.

The plotters, police headquarters announced, had intended to kill C. E. Hairy, representative of the International Union of Operating Engineers, later in the night when he left an executive meeting of the union. John Posehl, president of the organization, and Frank E. Langdon, editor of the union's Journal, were to have been murdered later, police said.

Police said they obtained evidence of the attempt by listening in on conversation of the group after anonymous telephone messages to the intended victims gave the tip.

These union officials figured last year in another attempt which nearly cost Langdon his life. He, Posehl and Arthur M. Huddell, then president of the union, were trapped in a cafeteria by a lone gunman. Langdon had an eye shot out and was otherwise seriously wounded, while Huddell's pocketbook stopped a bullet at his heart. Hairy was attacked in public by a woman with a horse-whip just before the first murder attempt. She accused him of keeping her husband out of work.
