

SALES OF LIQUOR BRING ARREST OF LOCAL RESIDENTS

Because B. E. Powell, one of two men arrested in raids on their homes late Friday, and who owns property in Medford and dabbles in real estate a little, did not cease selling moonshine at his home on Tripp street soon enough, he was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $100 in Judge Taylor's court yesterday on his plea of guilty to illegal possession of liquor.

The other man arrested was B. F. Bogus, at whose home on Rose Lane was found 12 pints of beer and 8 empty bottles. Bogus, 39 years old, a carpenter out of work a week, and who has a wife and child, also pleaded guilty to possession, claiming he made the beer for his own use. He was given a sentence of 30 days in jail and fined $50, but because his family would be without support if he was sent to jail, the jail sentence was suspended during future good behavior and he was allowed three months in which to pay the fine.

Testimony in court showed that the homes of both Powell and Bogus were visited prior to the raids by an under-cover agent, after the authorities had received complaints from neighbors about the many visitors to them. The under-cover agent purchased whiskey at the Powell house and a bottle of beer at the Bogus house.

However each man, while pleading guilty to possession, denied that he had made any sales of liquor and the officers found no liquor making equipment in either house. Powell claimed he bought his whiskey supply of a mysterious "Buck" who drove a red car, and Bogus asserted that he borrowed equipment to make beer.

Powell told in court that he was just about to quit the moonshine business, as he had a deal on for the purchase of his home on Tripp street, in which the raiders had found 8 pints of whiskey and a broken jug in the bathroom from which about one-fourth the moonshine contents were saved, and locate on a ranch on Williams creek.

COURTHOUSE SIGN ANSWERS QUERIES

Since the new county court house construction is now taking advanced shape, showing that it is to be a handsome and commodious structure—more so than many Medford residents had realized before—some rural visitors and many strangers in the city have been making queries of home folks: "What is that building?"

In order to stop such queries being made and so that any stranger can tell at a glance the identity of the partially completed building, the county court several days ago caused a large sign to be erected, at the northeast corner of the site, bearing the words in large letters: "New Court House of Jackson County."

HOURLY NURSING SERVICE PLANNED

A new service in hourly nursing, sponsored by the Oregon State Graduate Nurses' association, district four, is announced in Medford this week. The state association recently holds an institute on hourly nursing to acquaint its members with this service.

This service includes patients needing treatments such as baths, hypodermics, surgical dressings or other nursing care for an hour or two who would like assistance in bathing their babies or who wish advice as to how this may be done in their homes with home equipment; mothers who wish lessons in correct preparation of infant feedings, according to their doctor's directions; patients who wish home deliveries; convalescent patients still needing nursing care for an hour or two during the day; chronic invalids for whom the providing of nursing care over a period of weeks or months is a problem and patients in small apartments where arranging for meals and sleeping quarters for a nurse is difficult.

Gardner Drug Co. Adds Members to Assist in Business

Announcement has been made by Gardner's Drug store that Mrs. W. H. Gardner will continue her interest in the drug store, which will be under the management of Keith Pennell. Mr. Pennell was formerly associated with Mr. Gardner in the management of Gardner Drug company.

Since the opening of the store about a year ago, the steady increase in business made it necessary for the firm to move into larger quarters, at 295 West Main street.

Gardner Drug store has added to the staff Zola Aker and H. F. W. Spilver, both being well known in Medford. Mrs. Aker has recently returned here from Roseburg. She was formerly associated in the drug business in this city.

Mr. Spilver, who has been with the drug business in Medford for many years, has a large number of friends, who will be interested in knowing of his present position.

ERICKSON NAMED AS LEADER OF MEDFORD BUILDERS' CONGRESS

At the meeting of the Medford Building Congress' board of directors in the city hall Friday evening, Fred Erickson was elected president of the group, with Harry Turner vice-president. Carl Y. Tengvald was elected treasurer, and Frank Applegate, secretary.

Mr. Erickson stated yesterday that committees for membership, and drawing up of the by-laws and the constitution will be appointed immediately. Another group will also be named to create additional interests for the congress.

Any person who is interested in the building industry, which includes any phase of the work, may become a member of the congress.

The next meeting will be called as

Yeomen Planning Leap Year Dance

The Yeoman lodge is giving a leap year dance Thursday evening at the K. P. hall. The committee is working hard to make this dance a splendid success and an event of the year for the lodge. A special invitation is extended to all members and their friends. Music will be furnished by the Merry-makers.

PATRONIZE HOME PRINTERS

Do not order anything in the printing line until you call on some local printer, and ask if they print the same work, and you will find they can furnish everything desired in the printing line and usually at lower prices than out-of-town printers.

Don't advocate purchasing goods in your line at home and then order your printing from people whose employes do not live or spend money in Medford.—Paid adv.

EASTERN HOTELS BOOSTING PEARS

"When the frost is on the windshield and icicles on the golf sticks, serve fresh baked pears to grateful patrons. Piping hot or chilled, with thick cream, the natural sweetness and spiciness of these fruits will warm anyone's heart."—So says an advertisement in the February issue of the International Steward, prepared by the Oregon-Washington Pear Bureau.

Ten boxes of pears are being furnished hotels in nine cities together with recipes for baked pears and pear pies. The hotels will report to the bureau the reaction of the public toward the Winter Nels and d'Anjou dishes.

Hotels co-operating in the experiment include The Harvard Club, Boston; Hotel Statler, Buffalo; Millard's, Chicago; Hotel Statler, Cleveland;

BOND FOR M'CAW IS SET AT $2500

Deputy United States Marshal Cal Wells will leave this evening for Portland with Ralph E. McCaw, who has been bound over to the federal grand jury on $2500 bond, for the violation of sections 191 and 194 of the United States penal code.

McCaw, charged with stealing keys from post office boxes in Medford, and then taking mail from the boxes, was taken before United States Commissioner E. W. Madison at Grants Pass Saturday morning. McCaw is being held here in the county jail.

Postal Inspector Pat Mouis, who was in the city to investigate the case, continued on to Eugene from Grants Pass yesterday.

GOLD HILL KEEPS MARRIED TEACHER

GOLD HILL, March 19.—(Sp.)—Former action in which they had voted to hire married teachers, was reconsidered and canceled by the Gold Hill school board this week. By this action they will retain Mrs. Maude Robinson, popular eighth grade teacher here for many years, and Mrs. Minnie Sargent, grade teacher, who has also given the local school fine service.

A schedule reducing salaries of the teachers approximately 8 per cent was adopted by the board. A petition signed by 48 of the 58 high school students enrolled, was presented, asking the board to retain Coach Paul D. Angstead. The board tabled action on rehiring Coach Angstead, whom they voted against last meeting, and will take the matter under further consideration.

Citizens' Reconstruction Organization

QUESTION: What is the Citizens' Reconstruction Organization?

ANSWER: It is a nationwide group of citizens working for the restoration of confidence and the return of idle money to circulation. The movement was initiated at Washington as one step in the whole process of reconstruction. Other steps include the National Credit Corporation—to strengthen the banking situation; the Reconstruction Finance Corporation—to assist worthy borrowers in the railroad, industrial and banking fields; the Glass-Steagall Act—to liberalize credit and fortify member banks of the Federal Reserve System.

QUESTION: Why is it important to get money out of hiding?

ANSWER: Idle money yields no return to anybody. It is a positive hazard to have it around the house. It increases unemployment. The country is suffering from a lack of credit—a large part of which is due to money withdrawn from circulation. Credit is the lifeblood of business. One dollar hoarded means the withdrawal of five to ten dollars of credit. If all the money at present idle were put to work, it would be evidence of reawakened confidence; it would add to the strength of our banks and enable them to meet the needs of business.

QUESTION: Has this campaign any political aspects?

ANSWER: None whatever. It is absolutely non-partisan. Its members are made up of all political parties, banded together in a common cause—that of putting currency back to work at the earliest possible moment. It is a war on depression, which calls for the same united front that any other national emergency demands.

QUESTION: Just what is the worker expected to do?

ANSWER: His job is educational, first; selling, second. His job is to get money into circulation—whatever channel is used is unimportant. Our strongest argument will be the self-interest of the owner of idle funds; show him that he foregoes a return on his money; he risks his principal through fire, theft, etc.; he hazards his own job—if he has one. If he puts his money back into the bank, if he buys good securities—which are now so plentiful on the market—real estate, or commodities, our purpose is accomplished. The objective is to get money into circulation; the method should be left to the individual.

QUESTION: Why are the Reconstruction Bonds issued?

ANSWER: To provide an interest-bearing security so sound and so marketable that there can be no excuse for any one keeping his money in hiding because of a lack of confidence. The Government can raise all the money it needs in other and simpler ways than through the sale of these small-denomination bonds. These bonds are issued for the sole purpose of providing a medium of investment to those who are unwilling to place their funds in other accepted channels.

QUESTION: What are the features of the Reconstruction Bonds?

ANSWER: They will be dated March 15, 1932, and will run for one year. They will be payable at the holder's option at par any time prior to their maturity by giving 60 days' notice to your bank. They will be available in amounts of $50, $100 and $500. They will bear interest at the rate of 2%—interest being payable September 15, 1932, and March 15, 1933, through presentation of the interest coupons attached to the bonds. They will be the promise to pay of the United States government. Here, then, is an investment whose security is unquestionable, instantly salable, and always worth its purchase price on short notice.

QUESTION: Where and how may the bonds be purchased?

ANSWER: Through any bank. Application may be filed through the members of our group, but payment and delivery can be made only through the banks. Application should designate the bank through which the purchaser wants delivery, and such application will be turned over to the banks concerned.

QUESTION: What is the attitude of the banks toward these bonds?

ANSWER: The American Bankers Association, through its president, has pledged its co-operation in the distribution of the bonds. The rate of interest was purposely made low, so as not to attract money from savings in banks. Moreover, money from the sale of the bonds will remain with the banks through which the purchases are made when they qualify as government depositories. Thus local money will be put to work in the community from which it is drawn out of hiding.

QUESTION: Is this another Liberty Loan campaign?

ANSWER: Decidedly not. We are not seeking volume sales. The campaign is directed solely against hidden money; nothing is to be gained by diverting money that is already on deposit with banks, or employed in any other way. The campaign will succeed if we get money into circulation through any channel. Insofar as these new bonds are concerned, it will succeed only as they attract idle money.

QUESTION: How will the salesman pick his prospects?

ANSWER: There is no method of picking out those who are hoarding money; consequently, there will have to be some general calling. People don't like to be suspected of hoarding, so it is important for the salesman to explain that we are obliged to call generally in order to accomplish our purposes. With every call, whether the prospect is hoarding or not, there is an opportunity for the salesman to do a constructive job by explaining the whole reconstruction program, by telling of the evils of idle money, and by enlisting the support of the individual in the movement. You will find most people eager for something to do, or for a cause to enlist in.

QUESTION: What should be the worker's approach in making his calls?

ANSWER: He should establish his connection with the Citizens' Reconstruction Organization; state its objectives, and point out the menace of idle money. If in the conversation it develops that the prospect has money in hiding, the effort should be to get him to agree to put it at work in some way—the Reconstruction Bonds being just one of the methods available. There should never be any reflection cast on banks or upon securities in general, as a means of selling these bonds.

QUESTION: Suppose your prospect says he prefers some other issue of government bonds?

ANSWER: Tell him to buy them. Our job is done when we induce him to put his money to work.

QUESTION: Will there be any way of buying the Reconstruction Bonds on a partial-payment plan?

ANSWER: No. There has been no provision made for this. The denominations were made small so as to eliminate the necessity for partial payments.

QUESTION: How would you meet the situation of the man who has completely lost confidence; who insists that he doesn't trust anybody and is going to hang on to his money?

ANSWER: Point out to him that these bonds are as good as the money which he is hoarding. If the bonds are no good, neither is his money—for the bonds are equivalent to interest-bearing money. As an asset, they are better than money, because they bear interest. The United States is still the richest and most powerful nation in the world. It always has paid its debts, and it will continue to do so.

QUESTION: When do we start?

ANSWER: The bonds will be officially announced on Monday, March 7, and will be available on March 15 and after. The selling campaign will last only a week, so it is important to get under way on the day of offering.

QUESTION: What kind of backing will we get in the campaign?

ANSWER: A national radio broadcast, with President Hoover, Secretary of the Treasury Mills, Gen. Dawes and Senator Robinson participating, will be held Sunday night, March 6, at 10:15 o'clock, eastern standard time. This will formally inaugurate the campaign. During the week of March 7, a series of newspaper advertisements will be released throughout the country. Both the broadcast and the advertisements will stress the importance of putting money to work, with secondary emphasis on the bonds themselves.

QUESTION: What has the Citizens' Reconstruction Organization accomplished so far, and what reason is there to expect that its further efforts will be successful?

ANSWER: Government figures indicate that since this movement was put under way there has been a definite improvement in sentiment. Hoarding has been greatly reduced and a flow of currency has been turned back into circulation. The realization is gaining weight that positive action must replace a do-nothing policy, and that final responsibility for improvement rests with the individual. This campaign represents the individual's chance to do his share.

Don't give the impression that the reconstruction efforts that we all are making can bring back prosperity in a day or month. It should be pointed out, moreover, with the greatest emphasis, that no amount of reconstruction legislation in Washington will of itself cure the depression. We do know without any question that prosperity cannot return until the people of the country, the average man and woman, regain their confidence and start working for better times.

Our workers should try to carry a ringing message of confidence, not based upon any exaggerated predictions of immediate prosperity, but pointing out, as stated by Former President Coolidge in his message to the Reconstruction Organization:

"The people can help do all these things if they want them done. If they will not save themselves no one can save them. The time has come for the people to take charge of their own affairs. They should use their own money for their own benefit by putting it into circulation."

Remember, also, that the job won't be done by preaching confidence for a week. We have all got to get behind this work by building confidence and by staying behind it.

Every patriotic citizen can help the reconstruction movement by putting his money to work, and talking to his friends about this forward effort. Read this questionnaire, and become a salesman for better times.

The above has been agreed upon as the standard form of instructions to all representatives of the Citizens' Reconstruction Organization.
