FEHL'S RETRIAL PLEA ALLEGES IRREGULARITIES

The other affidavits are of similar content, all endeavoring to show that the verdict was not drawn from evidence heard during the trial. Allison Moulton, attorney, with his brother, Arthur Moulton, of Portland, for Officer Parr, is mentioned as "hobnobbing with the jury in earnest conversation with the members."

An exchange of aspirin tablets, life savers and other treats is referred to as further proof that the members of the jury were too friendly with the plaintiff and his attorney to retain fair minds during the trial.

Fehl and the Pacific Record-Herald are represented by Attorneys F. J. Newman, H. K. Hanna, T. J. Enright and Kelly & Kelly.

DR. BRADY, FAMED HEALTH ADVISER, MOVES TO COAST

Dr. William Brady, nationally known physician who conducts the daily "Personal Health Service" department in the Los Angeles Times, is here to make his home in Beverly Hills.

The decision to forsake the East permanently for the balmy climate of southern California was made by Dr. Brady following two winter visits to Los Angeles. He has retired from active practice. He will direct his correspondence on health subjects which averages approximately 25,000 letters a week from people living in almost every state in the Union, from his new headquarters in Beverly Hills and his articles on personal health will be written and distributed nationally and internationally from southern California.

The professional career of Dr. Brady has been remarkably successful. He was graduated twenty-five years ago from the University of Buffalo, and has been writing personal health articles for the past eighteen years, devoting his entire time to the advice of persons seeking health.

Dr. Brady is a member of the American Medical Society. His editorials on medical subjects have been favorably commented upon by national and international magazines. He also contributes to the foremost medical journals, including the Medical Record, Medical Review of Reviews, American Medicine and dietetic and hygienic magazines.

Dr. Brady's articles lay special stress on the importance of proper diet, exercise and personal hygiene. His health service is not in competition with the family physician or specialist, but is in co-operation with their work in building up personal health. Dr. Brady's lectures on health will be heard on The Times Forum period over station HJL in a program which will be inaugurated next Friday—Los Angeles Times.

Dr. Brady's health column is a daily feature in the Mail Tribune and is daily addressed to him in care of this paper will be forwarded.

Richard Dix in Craterian Thriller

Machine guns spitting . . . bombs destroying a village . . . airplanes in battle . . . nose-diving, doing dizzy spirals . . . crashing and burning . . . and, yet . . . "The Lost Squadron" isn't a war picture.

This new thriller, which opens at the Fox Craterian theater today for three exciting days, is a tale of Hollywood . . . a vivid, exciting glimpse of a "movie" in the making. It is the story of the daredevil "stunt" flyers who make our sky-fighting pictures, and of a director who sends them up to risk their lives in the hope that the worst may happen and thus give his picture added realism.

The story opens during the last few minutes of the World war in order to properly introduce the star, Richard Dix, together with his aerial mates . . . Robert Armstrong and Joel McCrea. This trio comprises the survivors of a famous aerial squadron with Hugh Herbert as their mechanic.

The war is over, and they come home, but not to their former status in life. One loses his best girl . . . another his business . . . and the third his job, and eventually they are again reunited as "stunt" flyers for Von Furst, who makes thrill pictures in Hollywood. In and around this studio is enacted a drama of love, hate, sacrifice and daring that doesn't overlook a fitting end to Von Stroheim, who portrays the role of the villainous director.

Others in this remarkable cast who have prominent roles include Mary Astor, Dorothy Jordan. It is a Radio picture.

As an unusual special attraction, Madge DeLasaux will present a special number.

Barthelmess in Holly Hit

Richard Barthelmess, who is appearing at the Holly Theatre, today, tomorrow and Tuesday in "The Last Flight," based on "Siki and Her War Birds," the John Monk Saunders story.

Barthelmess is supported by an exceptional cast headed by Helen Chandler, Johnny Mack Brown, David Manners and Elliott Nugent. The show at the Holly today will be continuous and the News Reel and a Kartoon will show with the feature picture.

TAX BILL SAVED BY ADJOURNMENT IN WILD TURMOIL

It was after three hours of bitter debate that the bi-partisan force of the sales tax that forms the big part of the bill, had struck from it, by 139 to 103, a provision to allow American taxpayers credit for income taxes paid to foreign governments.

Led by Representative La Guardia (R. N. Y.), independent chairman, and Doughton (D. N. C.), the anti-sales tax group yesterday forced the war-time surtax rates into the bill with an increase to 7 per cent on incomes of more than $9000 in a drive to replace the 2 1/2 per cent manufacturers' levy that is expected to yield $500,000,000. A vote on the sales tax will be reached next week.

Democratic and Republican leaders decided to go down the line for the sales tax as typified in support of it by Speaker Garner.

Norma Shearer Has Role Rialto Comedy

Admirers of Norma Shearer and Robert Montgomery . . . and they are legion . . . are certain to flock to the Fix Rialto theater today and tomorrow to see their finest co-starring picture, "Private Lives," featuring Sazu Pitts and Thelma Todd. It is a laugh from beginning to end.

Performances at the Fix Rialto will be continuous today from 2 Hill 11 p. m., and the one admission price of fifteen cents prevails at all times.

Madge De Lasaux to Present Sousa Hits

Among the great musical composers of the century, Lieut. Commander John Phillip Sousa ranks extremely high. In fact, he was considered the world's premier march composer.

Only a few days ago, Lieut. Commander Sousa passed on.

In honoring his memory, the Fox Craterian will offer a special musical memorial as an added part of the program beginning today, and Madge DeLasaux, noted organist will offer his favorite march selections on concert.

John Phillip Sousa always endeavored his "Stars and Stripes" as his most favorite march. Although he wrote over 300 stirring march compositions, this selection and "El Capitan" were the ones he loved to direct the most.
