

LEONARD OPENING ELECTRIC STORE IN HOLLY BLOCK

Leonard's Electric, a new Medford electric store, will open Monday in the Holly theatre building, adjoining the main entrance of the show house. The new enterprise will be owned and managed by Morris B. Leonard, well known business man of this city, who has been identified with Medford commercial activities for the past 13 years. A full stock of electrical supplies and appliances will be featured by the new concern, including General Electric refrigerators, ranges and washers; Edison Mazda lamps; Standard electric ranges and Faultless electric washers.

The new location of Leonard's Electric has been completely remodeled and redecorated and a brilliant Neon sign will be installed later in the season. "We will feature nationally advertised merchandise at prices to fit southern Oregon pocket-books," Mr. Leonard said in commenting on the policies of his new concern.

Morris B. Leonard needs no introduction to Rogue River valley people. Following the world war he was engaged in the hardware business in this city until six years ago he opened an electric store on East Main street. For the past few months he has been associated with a well-known Medford electric store previous to opening his present attractive store.

Mr. Leonard has rushed the opening of his new store so that visitors at the Mail Tribune cooking school will have an opportunity to inspect electrical merchandise before and after Miss Hester Heath's cooking sessions.

NEW YORK, March 26.—(AP)—The stock market weakened emphatically as trading was resumed for a two-hour week-end session today.

Selling was attributed to several factors, including continued uncertainty over taxation and balancing the national budget, the adverse report issued in Stockholm by the committee investigating the Krueger affairs, and week-end business surveys stressing continued sluggishness of heavy industries.

Medford Woman Praises Work of Shrine Hospital

Outside a Portland "gray-day. Inside a sunny land of make-believe. A host of boy and girl smiles, topping bodies that are being made new again—not by the sweat of a fairy godmother's wand, but by the steady hands of advanced surgery—thus Mrs. C. Reese Braley of Sixkiyou Heights spoke of the Shrine hospital in Portland, when interviewed at her home Wednesday, regarding her recent tour of the same.

It was raining horribly when I accepted Dr. Richard B. Dillehunt's invitation to visit the hospital," she recalled, settling back in her comfortable chair. "I cringed at the thought of viewing cripples on such a dreary day. Then I entered the hospital and my fears departed. All was sunshine. The 50 little patients had returned for their rest period following lunch. All eyes were twinkling. Gone was that horrible restlessness I have come to associate with the hospital simon-peters after years of experience in institutions from coast to coast. In steel braces, leather harnesses, and casts, the children were smiling. So were the nurses, many of them wearing similar contraptions, for they are patients, too."

"There is no duplication, no waste of effort, each patient has qualities which insure possibility of recovery. The hospital is not an experimental laboratory. You sense that as soon as you enter, each child is taught to foresee days of health and usefulness; not one is mentally deficient, but capable with corrections, of earning his own way."

In the work shop where braces, harnesses and crutches are manufactured to fit the particular case this same absence of waste is noted, Mrs.

TENNIS ACTIVITY TAKING INTEREST AT HIGH SCHOOL

By ADRIAN FRALEY

Summer minor sports are now supplanting major sports at Medford senior high school. The students are busy forming a tennis team with expectations of playing other teams of southern and central Oregon.

They are starting off this season with Assistant Coach Ed Kirtley showing the fine points.

At a meeting Wednesday afternoon it became evident that the high school could not support the tennis team because of financial stringency. However, it was believed that support could be obtained by forming a club. Ways and means were then discussed for practice in the senior high gym on rainy evenings.

Several schools have already written for a series of games. The team will first play at Grants Pass on April 2. University high of Eugene and Klamath Falls have also been trying to arrange dates. It was decided that only a few games will be played away from Medford courts, but the Tigers will play all teams coming here.

The club has not elected its officers as yet. Phil Quisenberry is acting secretary. The turnout includes: Red Scheel, Harry Garfield, Dick Sleeter, Phil Quisenberry, Joe Fader, Fowler and several more.

Guest of Parsons Shoots a Dado On Local Golf Links

John Schwager, guest of George Parsons in this city, walked away with the Larry Schade trophy after yesterday by making a hole in one on the tenth green.

Schwager is the first golfer to accomplish this feat since the Schade trophy was donated more than a year ago. He is a student at the University of Washington and is spending the spring vacation at Hillcrest orchard.

SOUTHERN OREGON 4-CLUB BASEBALL LEAGUE ORGANIZED

Organization of a four-club Southern Oregon baseball league was perfected at a meeting last night of valley players and enthusiasts at the Medford Chamber of Commerce. Cities entering teams include Eagle Point, Grants Pass, Talent and Jacksonville. Owney Patton was named president and Louis ("Scoop") Puhl secretary of the organization.

In the schedule, which opens Sunday, May 1, and closes Sunday, July 24, each team will play each other team four times. A three-game series will be played off after the season closes, between the two best teams. Other post-season games will be staged between teams of the league and outside teams, to settle grudges or disputes—should such arise during the regular schedule.

Gate receipts will be split 60-40 with the home team paying all expenses including hiring of umpires. Eagle Point was represented by Bud Conlin, Talent by C. L. Skeeters, Grants Pass by George D. Young and Jacksonville by Leonard Osburn and a number of players and fans were also present at the meeting last night.

GRASS SPROUTING ON NEW GOLF COURSE AS OPENING DAY NEARS

The new public golf course under construction at Keene-way drive and Highland avenue, of the city, is nearing completion and only needs the finishing touches of nature—rain and sunshine—to put it in shape for play.

P. W. Chausse, moving spirit in the new enterprise, has two tractors rushing the finishing work on the fairways.

Recent warm rains have brought the grass greens out of hiding and the installation of the water system was completed last week. What was a cow pasture a couple of months ago has been converted into a health giving recreational park in record breaking time.

The new links will sport green grasses as well as greens and from present appearances will be ready for public use about May first as has been planned by Mr. Chausse from the first.

The course will be operated like the municipal and public golf courses of the cities. There will be no membership fee and the course is open to all on the same terms, resident, tourist and visitors. Green fees will be 30 cents for nine holes or 75 cents for 18 holes.

SPEED BOATS TUNE TODAY FOR RACES

Entries for the speedboat races scheduled April 24 at Emigrant dam continue to come in with three fast craft promised from Yreka yesterday. According to a committee from the Active club, which organization is sponsoring the event, local boatmen will be out in force today tuning up their machines for the forthcoming races.

Wilbur Brothers, boat manufacturing concern of Sacramento, has indicated the entry of a fast class "C" outfit which should provide some real competition for boats from this vicinity.

TRIBUNE KITCHEN CHAUTAUQUA WILL OPEN WEDNESDAY

Miss Hester Heath, home economist of outstanding ability, will be in Medford Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week to conduct the Medford Mail Tribune Kitchen Chautauqua in session on those days at the Holly theatre.

Through the co-operation of Manager John Niedermeyer of the Holly theatre, a moving picture presentation—different each day of the school—will be shown at 1:30 o'clock. The class will open at two p. m. and close at four, so that the housewives might complete their shopping afterward.

For the convenience of out-of-town visitors who will be here on those dates, the theater will be opened promptly at 12:30 o'clock.

Pencils and pads will be given the ladies in order that they may make notes during the lessons if they so desire.

Everything in connection with the school is free, and all women in southern Oregon as well as Medford are urged to attend the instructive gatherings. Programs are to be given out each afternoon to show the menu used by Miss Heath.

A feature of the chautauqua will be the nursery, in charge of Mrs. Eunice Hills, who has had wide experience caring for children. Mothers may leave the little folks with Mrs. Hills while they attend the school, and feel assured of their receiving excellent care.

Many Medford firms have cooperated with the Mail Tribune in the presentation of the chautauqua opening Wednesday, and among the national advertisers represented by this paper, who are assisting, are the manufacturers of Sunshine Kriple Crackers, Pillsbury Flour, KO Baking Powder, Pen-Jell, India Tea, Norge Refrigerators, and Leslie Salt.

EVEN AUTO EDITORS GUESSED $130 TOO HIGH!

"Gentlemen... here is the new DeSoto. Examine it from top to bottom. From bumper to bumper. Guess the price and write it down."

Those motor car experts knew their business. They had seen hundreds of new cars before. They knew values. So they looked... and examined... and guessed. Imagine it! Their guesses averaged exactly $130 too much!

By every standard of judgment these editors were right. By every test you can name the new DeSoto belongs in a higher price-class. By its beauty. Its lines. Its mechanical features. Its smallest detail.

It isn't just a bargain. It's a complete upset of the old price classes. It means that beauty... sophistication... style... are no longer costly luxuries.

It means the thrill of Floating Power... the ease of an Automatic Clutch... the safety of all-steel bodies and hydraulic brakes... with an economy price tag. Come and see it for yourself.
