SETTLE DAMAGE SUIT WITHOUT COURT ACTION

An order of dismissal of the damage suit of W. R. Lamb, his wife, Jennie Lamb, and his daughter, Dorothy, against the Snider Dairy and Produce company, was signed in circuit court and filed with the county clerk today. The suit was based on an auto accident on the Crater Lake highway last summer, between a dairy truck and the Lamb auto. Stipulations agreeing to the settlement of the suit out of court were signed Saturday by Attorneys Gus Newbury and George M. Roberts.

LOCAL BOYS HELD BY POLICE OF PORTLAND

The sheriff's office was notified this morning by telegraph of the detention in Portland of Eugene O'Neill and Lloyd Porter, local youths, alleged to have left last Saturday for the north with one bicycle between them as a means of transportation. Both are 18 years old. The upstate authorities request that they be returned here. O'Neill has been in trouble with the local juvenile authorities before. It is Porter's first appearance.

INSURANCE AIDE TAKES STAND IN CRESCENT CASE

Deputy C. B. Johnson of the Oregon State Insurance commissioner's office was the chief witness today in the civil suit of Alden R. Hughes against the Crescent City Investment company and the American Surety company, for collection of $800, allegedly due for the purchase of lots in the ocean side city in 1929.

Deputy Johnson brought with him the state records and correspondence between the investment company and the state bureau. The court granted the defense motion for time in which to look over the data. It is expected that Deputy Johnson will be on the stand most of the day and that the court will be engaged part of tomorrow in the introduction of portions of the records as evidence. The records will show the Crescent City Investment company made application to sell the lots under the Oregon law and that salesmen were bonded in the sum of $2000 each.

Witnesses to date include the plaintiff, Alden Hughes and his brother Arlen, who between them invested $1500. All testified that "misrepresentation" had been made in the description of the lots. The Hughes brothers testified that they made investments through the efforts of I. R. Hamilton, a salesman for the land company, and acquaintance, "who wanted them to get in on the ground floor."

The plaintiff will attempt to show that a prosperous and rosy future was pictured for the buyers, including the proposed construction of a million dollar hotel, to be called the "President Hoover." Other developments of a far-reaching nature were also depicted, including a national advertising campaign.

Besides Hughes there are 25 other plaintiffs in the case, residents of the city and valley, who invested sums ranging from $25 to $200. It is reported that other civil action is contemplated by another delegation of investors.

Will Rogers Wins Craterian Crowds With New Picture

(By Jack Retlaw)

One of the biggest screen laugh hits ever to tickle the ribs of local theatergoers opened at the Fox Craterian theater yesterday when Will Rogers, in his newest comedy smash, "Business and Pleasure," played to one of the greatest throngs in the history of the popular local playhouse.

Will Rogers is unquestionably at his funniest in this riotous drama of an Oklahoma razor blade king who takes a trip to Algeria, together with his wife and lovely daughter, intent upon buying huge quantities of Damascus steel to make more and finer razor blades.

His adventures on board the trans-Atlantic liner . . . his meeting with a noted "vamp" . . . his hair-breadth escapades among the Arabs of the Sahara desert keeps the audience in a constant uproar of hilarious laughter.

Supporting Will in this clever comedy are Jetta Goudal, Joel McCrea, Dorothy Peterson, Boris Karloff and many others of note.

The added stage attraction, featuring Margarte Childers and Madge DeLasaux, playing two pianos amid a lavish setting, received tremendous applause at all performances yesterday.

This splendid program remains at the Fox Craterian over today and tomorrow, and it is anticipated that greater crowds than ever will view this screen and stage treat during the balance of its run.

Slim Summerville In Holly's Comedy

By George Olsen.

Good old-fashioned, unrestrained laughs are tightly crowded into "Racing Youth," the excellent comedy at the Holly for tonight and tomorrow. Slim Summerville is seen as a stuttering automobile mechanic, in one of his funniest roles. Louise Fazenda is the secretary to the young lady who inherits an automobile factory. The young lady is June Clyde, the sort of blonde who "registers" every time she "looks," and Frank Albertson is the young man who wins the auto race for the honor of the factory. Plenty of romance, thrilling shrieks of high-powered racing cars, laughs and a good story all put together, make delightful entertainment, and the kind of picture that makes you feel that there is a lot of fun in the world after all.

No heavy scenes, no drama, just real good entertainment. That's "Racing Youth."

A special added attraction is "Hello Good Times," a musical, song and dance novelty. "Old Man Depression is driven out by "Prosperity." A girl's harmony trio, male quartette, a tap dancer who dances on everything, large dance routines by the Albertina Rasch girls are all presented in this special act. For those born in March "The March Horoscope" is interesting and instructive. A famous Hindu tells the destiny and character of people born in March and how they can be happiest. A Pathe News Reel and a Graham McNamee News Reel reel out a program that is enjoyable from start to finish. See it tonight or tomorrow as this program positively closes tomorrow night, to make way for Barbara Stanwyck in "Forbidden."

Copco Entertains Talk on Cheese

Copco movies provided a number of interesting entertainment programs during the past week for various schools and clubs throughout the valley. Programs were presented before the Grants Pass chamber of commerce and the Grants Pass high school, Phoenix grange had a capacity crowd to see the Copco films. The Griffin Creek community club and Table Rock school saw the pictures. The Copco film library includes many interesting current events as well as educational features.

RETER TO REPORT FRUIT LOAN FACTS

The agricultural committee of the Medford Chamber of Commerce, Raymond R. Reter, chairman, will hold a meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock, to hear the report of Chairman Reter on federal finance aid, and discuss future plans.

Chairman Reter will report that the Intermediate Credit bank, with headquarters at Portland, has "closed the door," but that Charles G. Dawes, chairman of the finance reconstruction bureau, has agreed to consider a direct application, after an agricultural credit corporation has been formed with a capital stock of $50,000.

PUNISH TWO FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

Two young men arrested by the state police for reckless driving while returning to this city early Sunday morning from the Jacksonville dance, on the Jacksonville-Medford highway faced Judge Taylor in justice court this morning.

George Waner, Medford, was fined $50 and costs, according to W. H. Ellenburg and Jas O'Brien, state policemen, he was not driving fast, but drove a mile or so on the wrong side of the road.

Loren Fredericks of Medford suffered the suspension of his driver's license for 30 days. The officers testified that when they sounded the siren at 2:30 a. m. Sunday for the Fredericks' car, in which were three other boys and a girl, to stop, and which was going fast, a bottle of liquor was thrown out of the car, and that when searched after arrest another bottle was found on Fredericks.

WORSHIPPERS OF CHRIST COME TO ALTARS EASTER

While tall white lilies, native spring blossoms, hymns and hopeful messages announced the joyous Easter day, churches of Medford were crowded yesterday morning and evening with worshippers of the Risen Christ. From all sections of the valley they came to join in the beautiful services, bringing promise of resurrection, renewed faith and new hope for men, in a period of stress.

Spring blossoms waved from all altars the branches of flowering trees lent their fragrance to the scene as "He is Risen" echoed throughout local churchdom.

Beginning at sunrise the young people of the valley met on Rader hill near Phoenix for their annual service. Second to herald the glad tiding was the Sacred Heart Catholic church, where high mass was sung at 8 o'clock by the male choir.

Dr. Walter L. Van Nuys of Portland, who gave the main address at the sunrise services, also brought the Easter message to the Presbyterian church, where afternoon and evening, special programs of music, were enjoyed by large and appreciative audiences.

Baptism of infants and the reception of children were included in the impressive services at the Methodist Episcopal church, South. Holy communion services were held at the St. Mark's Episcopal church, also attended by a large crowd.

New members were taken into the Church of the Nazerene and an observance program presented at the Advent Christian church in the morning.

At the First Christian church in the evening, the beautiful cantata, "Life Everlasting" was presented under the direction of Effie Herbert Yeoman, the morning services were also enjoyed by a capacity crowd.

The Sunday school of the Methodist Episcopal church presented a program, entitled "Easter Dawn," which won much praise. "The Easter Song" was given in the evening by the Zion English Lutheran church.

"In the Shadow of the Cross" was presented at the Baptist church by the Wright California players.

The Lord's supper was the theme of the observance program at the St. Peter's Lutheran church.

Many lodges and other organizations also held religious services here, and in neighboring towns, in observance of the most promising of all religious holidays.

RECORD ATTENDANCE AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH SERVICE FOR EASTER

Easter Sunday was one of the biggest days in the history of the First Christian church of Medford. The total attendance at Sunday school was 901. Last Sunday the attendance was 514, and a year ago Easter, 663. A number of the classes made wonderful showings, the Loyal Workers had 161, the Juniors 105, the Woman's Bible class 71 and high school class over 50, but the big feature of the school was the Men's Bible class at the Rialto theater, attended by 235 men and young men, possibly the largest men's bible class ever held in Medford.

It was an inspiration to hear men singing the old gospel songs and they made the theater ring with "America," "The Glory Song," "Sweet By and By" and "I Love to Tell the Story." Miss Eleanor Curry rendered a beautiful soprano solo and the double male quartet, consisting of LaVerne Sutherland, Louis Gentner, Richard Crow, Chester Wendt, Charles Buchanan, Allen Curry, Mormie Olsen and J. W. Kirkpatrick, sang two highly enjoyable numbers. Miss Genevieve Brown played an appropriate pipe organ solo and accompanied all the other numbers.

Chas. Knass gave the opening prayer, W. R. Baird read the scripture and gave a talk on the resurrection of Christ and the wonderful influence this, the greatest event in history, has had on all men and the world in general, all down through the centuries. The talk was listened to with the greatest of interest and all present felt greatly benefited and well repaid for the hour's service.

Another event of importance to the Sunday school was winning the attendance contest between the Salem, Roseburg and local Christian churches by large odds.

The church was crowded to overflowing for both the morning and evening services. The music was unusually fine and in keeping with the occasion.

W. R. Baird preached a very powerful and appropriate service in the morning on "The Power of the Resurrection," and gave a short talk after the cantata in the evening. There were 21 additions to the church during the day, making 70 since the first of the year.
