HEAVY SNOWFALL DELAYS OPENING OF CRATER PARK

With snowfall of the current season totaling 66 feet in Crater Lake National park, the past winter has been one of the most severe on record, exceeding last year's total depth by 29 feet so far. Such excessive conditions have resulted in a delay in the opening of park roads, originally planned to be ready for traffic April 1.

In terms of precipitation, over 69 inches have been recorded at Government Camp since last October, far in excess of 41 inches for the average years. The six months' precipitation is also in excess of the annual average of 58 inches, assuring a large supply of moisture for the summer months.

The winter's snowfall has settled at the present time to an approximate depth of 17 feet at the rim and 14 feet at Government Camp, providing motorists with a rare experience when park highways are ready for travel in the next week or so, with the south entrance open first.

William Haines Stars In Novel Craterian Film

William Haines, celebrated and popular star of filmdom is starting today and tomorrow at the Fox Craterian theater in Medford and widely-read J. P. McEvoy story, "Are You Listening?"

The story, laid behind the scenes of a national broadcasting station, gives Haines his first dramatic role, in which he abandons his more familiar comedy tricks for a compelling delineation as a radio explorer whose happiness crashes about his ears as the result of an unfortunate marriage.

The plot revolves around a three-fold romance and depicts the various careers of three small-town sisters who come to New York to win fame and fortune. All of them end up in radio work and it is the inside slant on their broadcasting activities combined with the depiction of what goes on in their private lives which gives the picture its dramatic structure. Humorous interludes in the broadcasting station... a jazzy party in a New York penthouse apartment, and other rollicking details lend comedy relief to the serious narrative which underlies the drama.

The story includes what is believed to be one of the most exciting "chases" yet depicted on the screen. It is in this sequence that Haines, accused of the murder of his wife, attempts to make his getaway by automobile, but is subsequently tricked into revealing his whereabouts by the ruthless editor of a tabloid newspaper, who makes an ingenious use of radio in catching him.

Besides Haines, the noted cast of featured players include Neil Hamilton, Anita Page, Wallace Ford, Joan Marsh, Jean Harsholt, John Miljan, Karen Morely, Tully Marshall, Madge Evans and many others.

Gripping Mystery Film Coming Soon

The screen's most mysterious figure came to fore in the weird vampire drama "Dracula" when Bela Lugosi was presented in the title role which he had previously played for three years on the stage. Lugosi comes to the Holly theatre on Sunday in the leading male part of "Murders in the Rue Morgue."

"Murders in the Rue Morgue" is the famous Edgar Allan Poe story which is said to furnish the ultimate in strangeness and mystery. Sidney Fox plays the feminine lead.

public until passed on tomorrow by the full committee.

The cut in the prohibition fund came as somewhat of a surprise, as opposition to it had been expressed on the senate floor by those who sponsored the economy move.

Will Oppose Dry Slash. Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.), author of the motion to end the bill back to committee, announced he would oppose reductions in the fund for enforcement of the dry laws.

The senate rejected a motion to eliminate virtually all appropriations for prohibition enforcement when the bill was before it.

McDuffie told newspapermen the economy committee aimed to effect economies in the fiscal year 1933 to aid in wiping out the treasury's anticipated deficit.

"We recognize that this is no time to play partisan politics and with a matter so vital to the people and that concerns so seriously the funds of the public treasury," McDuffie said.
