State Convention Attracts B. P. W.'s

Several members of the local Business and Professional Women's club are anticipating the state convention of business and professional women's clubs to be held in Klamath Falls May 30, 21, 22. Plans for attending the three day event were discussed at the club meeting Thursday night at the Y. W. C. A.

Activities of Legion Auxiliary

The regular sewing meeting was held Monday evening at the sewing club rooms. There were 10 present and the evening was spent in placing the stickers on the poppies. Mrs. Ray Wright and Mrs. C. R. Fry composed the refreshment committee for the evening.

A large attendance is expected Monday evening, April 11, when the unit meets for its regular social meeting. A very interesting program has been arranged by Mrs. Walter Olmsted, unit activities chairman.

As a part of the program Miss Margaret Kerr, Americanism chairman, will present her Girl Scout troop, No. 4, in a play. The program is as follows: Piano Solo—Maxine Young. Dance Numbers—Franklin Rainbarber.

D. A. R. Notes

The next regular meeting of Crater Lake Chapter, D. A. R., will be held Saturday, April 16, at the home of Mrs. C. C. Murray, 612 West Eleventh street. An interesting paper on the "Present Day Condition of the Oregon Indians" will be read by Mrs. R. C. Van Valzah and officers for the ensuing year will be nominated.

Mrs. Murray will be assisted by Mrs. G. Q. D'Albini and Mrs. R. E. McElhose. Early in May when the new state regent, Mrs. T. Y. Richardson, will be in southern Oregon, a district meeting will be held in Ashland. Program and date to be announced later.

The Medford branch of the Women's Greater Oregon association will hold its next regular meeting at the Hotel Medford, Tuesday afternoon, April 12, at 2:30.

There will be another interesting speaker who will talk about another of our locally manufactured articles. All women of the valley are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Next Circle Meets Tuesday The Merit circle of the Presbyterian church will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. L. D. H. Higgins, 823 Taylor avenue.

Miss Nywander Hostess at Tea Miss Dorothy Nywander was hostess Friday afternoon at tea to a small group of friends at her apartment.

Return to Bay City In Bay City Mrs. J. R. Spurgeon and Mrs. Ottoman returned yesterday from a visit in San Francisco.

April 26 Named as Presentation Date Clever Guild Play

"Bless His Little Heart,"—the clever farce, in three acts, sponsored by St. Mark's Altar Guild will be ready for production about April 26th. The cast, directed by Tom Swem, includes Mrs. Lois Pearson, Mrs. Jas. Stevens, Elmer Mae Wilson, Fletcher Fish, Harold Geibauer and Frank Van Dyke.

What the Girl Scouts Are Doing

Under the direction of their captain, Miss Margaret Kerr, the Girl Scouts of Junior 1st Troop No. 4, are sponsoring a candy sale at the Reliable Grocery on Saturday mornings, April 16, beginning at eleven o'clock. The proceeds will go toward a welfare project in which the girls are interested, that of a milk fund for needy families.

W. C. T. U.

The W. C. T. U. has withdrawn Thursday's meeting in order that the members may have an opportunity to hear the Cristobal Pankhurst address in the Presbyterian church that afternoon. Mrs. Lora La Mance, well known national W. C. T. U. speaker will be in Jackson county April 17-23, speaking in Medford, Ashland and some of the smaller towns.

The local union will hold a Rummage Sale April 20-30, place to be announced later. Members and friends are asked to keep these dates in mind. Music Teachers To Meet Monday The Jackson County Music Teachers association will meet Monday, April 11, of this week, instead of Tuesday, the regular evening for meeting, at the home of Mrs. E. E. Gore on Geneva street. A splendid program has been arranged and all members are urged to be present to discuss plans for the organization's participation in observance of international music week here.

Royal Neighbors to Attend District Rally The District Neighbors of America meet Thursday evening for a short business session, during which plans were made to attend the district rally in Jacksonville Thursday evening, April 14. After the lodge meeting cards were enjoyed with seven tables in play. Mrs. Earl Gaddis and Mr. Gail won first prizes in bridge. Mrs. Lora Bergman and Mrs. Gus Samuels first in 500.

Crystal Springs Dairy Will Open Milk Route Here

The Crystal Springs dairy, located seven miles southwest of Medford and operated by E. J. White, veteran ice cream maker and dairyman in this territory for the past 20 years, will open a milk route beginning tomorrow morning. Monday, it was announced yesterday. The Alexander grocery in the Liberty market will be the local agent for this fine guernsey milk.

"Guernsey milk is noted for its color and richness, and customers of the Crystal Springs dairy will get the best milk in the valley from contented cows that enjoy plenty of mountain air, green pastures and scenery," Mr. White said yesterday. Fifteen years ago Mr. White made a hit with the kiddies of Medford when he put nickel ice cream cones and dishes on the market. At that time he was the official ice cream maker for S. A. Kroeschel, former owner of the Gold Seal creamery, and is still credited by old-timers on the streets of Medford as "White Velvet," the name of his popular frozen dessert. Even then Mr. White made fancy special creations for Thanksgiving, Valentine's day, Christmas and other festive occasions and in the present day his tricks look more modern and practical. "White Velvet" ice cream had a good old-fashioned flavor.

The first ice cream factory in North Dakota was operated by E. J. White 40 years ago in Minot where his brother Elvin now farms the same brand in the same fat city. Durable houses always in first class condition for rent, lease or sale. Call 105.

HUMANE SOCIETY SECURES SERVICE OF VETERINARIAN

The Humane society has secured the services of Dr. James F. Horr who for the past two years has been employed by Dr. G. H. Huthman of the Rose City Veterinary hospital of Portland, oldest established veterinary hospital in Oregon. The Humane Society feels very fortunate in being able to secure the services of Dr. Horr. In Portland Dr. Horr was veterinarian for the Elco Dairy, where the health of 300 head of cattle was entrusted to his care. He was also veterinarian for the Fairview Farm, of Portland, owned by the Carnation company. In these duties and many others he helped to free the herds of contagious abortion. Dr. Horr's services were also engaged by the Frank stables, once famous for their fine horses, and owned by Aaron M. Frank of Meier & Frank of Portland.

Besides devoting much of his time to his large animal practice, Dr. Horr gave a great deal of his time to helping Dr. Huthman handle one of the largest small animal practices in the state. He had charge of the small animal surgery and assisted in the small animal clinic. Dr. Horr was born and raised on a farm in Iowa, and has been at all times connected with livestock. Since the age of 14 he has fitted and shown cattle at most of the large middle west fairs.

Dr. Horr completed his high school work in Portland with a high scholastic record and received a scholarship in one of the largest districts of Multnomah county, acquainting himself with the dairy situation there, which he has followed closely ever since. He graduated from the State college of Washington with the degree of Bachelor of Science and Doctor of Veterinary Medicine. At the Pacific International Livestock Exposition in 1918 he took highest awards in judging Guernsey cattle, and his college team won highest awards in judging Holstein cattle. In competition with all the agriculture colleges in the west.

Dr. Horr is a member of the national social fraternity Kappa Sigma, the Pacific International Veterinary Alpha Psi, the national scholastic and honorary Phi Kappa Phi, as well as to several local honorary societies. Dr. Horr has permanently located in Medford and the Humane Society has placed full responsibility of the welfare of their animals brought to their hospital and shelter upon his shoulders.

Adrienne's Store to Be Enlarged and Rearranged

Plans are under way to enlarge and completely re-arrange Adrienne's store on North Central avenue so that the addition of the back part of the Barneburg building this popular ladies' apparel shop will occupy more than twice its present space, it was announced yesterday. The extensive improvements are expected to be made before May first.

The number of large fitting rooms with all the newest and most convenient appointments are to be included along with a public rest room on the ground floor. The latter will be furnished with a writing desk, dressing table, settee and magazine racks for the convenience of Adrienne's patrons. Fixtures from the Eureka store which was discontinued in view of enlarging the Medford shop will be used in equipping the new establishment. The larger quarters will make it possible to segregate various lines of merchandise and a special coat and dress department is being planned.

An attractive board arched passage will separate the present store from the new addition, and the office is to be conveniently located in the front of the store at the head of a wrought-iron stairway. Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Steward opened their original coat and dress shop in the Cooley-Neff building on North Central seven years ago, and since that time their business has increased rapidly so that the limited amount of floor space has become a real handicap. The present location was formerly the "Handicraft Shop," and has become inadequate to accommodate Adrienne's clientele.

Armstrong Takes Studebaker Agency for Area

J. S. Pittman, wholesale representative of John K. Leander, Incorporated, left here for Portland Friday evening after completing arrangements for transfer of the Studebaker franchise from the O. V. Myers company to Armstrong Motors, Incorporated. New Studebaker models will be on display at the Armstrong garages on North Riverside in the near future. A factory announcement will appear in the Medford Mail Tribune previous to the arrival of the 1932 Studebakers. For the past four years O. V. Myers has been very successful as Studebaker dealer for Medford and the surrounding territory. Mr. Pittman stated yesterday.

Hubbard, Childers and Strang Long Identified With Medford Business

(Ed. Note: Medford history compiled by members of Crater Lake chapter, D. A. R., continued from last Sunday.)

CHAPTER V During the years 1883-84 many stores were opened in Medford, most of them being on Main street between Bartlett and Front streets. J. S. Howard built a larger building where the First National bank now stands, and opened up a dry goods store there. The complete list of business houses, as nearly as can be ascertained, at the close of 1884, was as follows, and it will be noted that Hubbard, Strang and Childers are the only names now found in the business directory of Medford: Henry Smith, general merchandise; J. S. Howard, dry goods; Miller Vroman, hardware and drugs; Mr. Vroman was Charles Strang's step-father and Mr. Strang had charge of the drug department, and has continued that business ever since; Angle and Pymale, general merchandise; Kindergarten, six churches, an ice factory, a brewery, a distillery, a large flouring mill, a saw and door factory, two hotels, two lumber yards, a furniture factory, two livery stables, a bank, an opera house, six large grocery stores, five clothing and dry goods stores, two hardware stores, three implement houses, two candy factories, three secondhand stores, three jewelry stores, two pork packing houses, two photograph galleries, three bakeries, two feed and commission stores, two furniture stores, two blacksmith shops and several fruit warehouses. The census of 1890 credited Medford with a population of 1,791, and by 1896 the city claimed 3,800.

The first lumber yard was opened in January, 1894, by Wallace Woods. In the summer of 1892, McCarty and Johnson began delivering artificial ice. They also operated a distillery. (Continued next Sunday.)

talks were made by the carriers. Among the speakers were Secy. Clary of Ashland, Secy. Harper of Medford, E. D. Scripser and R. A. Newland. A reading was given by Louise Lawrence, five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Lawrence entitled "The Postman." Next business meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. J. Warner, 517 So. COPCO WORKERS ENJOY LECTURE

Nearly 50 male employees of the California Oregon Power company attended a meeting of the Copco Forum at the Hotel Medford yesterday noon. A. W. Copley, Pacific coast engineer, the engineering department of the Westinghouse Electrical Manufacturing company, was principal speaker, giving an illustrated talk on the development of electrical apparatus in the past 20 years. Copley showed a number of charts illustrating a remarkable progress made by the electric industry in the improvement of various methods of generating transmission and distribution equipment. Other guests included C. C. Bozter, Westinghouse representative of Portland. Professor Price of the Oregon State college and C. T. Hurd of the Line Material co. were present.

Letter Carriers Ladies' Auxiliary Holds "Hobo" Meet

Ladies Auxiliary to the Letter Carriers No. 367 met April in the Legion hall at Ashland for their regular monthly social. Membership includes ladies from both Ashland and Medford so this meeting was held in Ashland, with Mrs. Bert Freeman and Mrs. Ray Clary entertaining. The meeting was designated as a "hobo" party and all letter carriers were invited. "Hobo" stew was served followed by a "hobo" convention, presided over by E. D. Scripser, president, and Ray Clary, secretary. Several good
