HEALTH PARADE SCHEDULED FOR LOCAL SCHOOLS

The health honor roll parade and program are monopolizing the interests of many grade children in the Washington, Lincoln, Roosevelt and Jackson schools, according to announcement of the health nurse, Miss Ruth Swanson, Thursday, May 5, has been named as date for the annual celebration and the children are obeying all health rules in anticipation of ice cream and red, white and blue buttons.

The health pins are designed to commemorate the George Washington bi-centennial and will be given all children who have obeyed the rules of health set forth in the honor rolls.

The school, in which the highest percentage of children have followed the rules of health, will be awarded the annual cup.

The Junior high school pupils will not participate in the health parade this year, but will have a health program of their own, date of which has not been announced.

Roosevelt school won the honor roll cup last year and the other three schools are working diligently to take the cup from the last winner.

END RELIEF WORK ON WATER MAINS

This week-end marked the completion of the City Water Commission relief work by which 146 households of families have been furnished with at least one week's work. This project was started at the peak of the unemployment situation in Medford as pointed out to the commission by the Unemployment Relief committee. The work, starting when it did, was of immense value in relieving the tremendous load placed on the shoulders of the local relief organizations. Close co-operation was maintained with these organizations.

The work consisted of replacing thirty-two hundred (3200) lineal feet of old 18-inch wood stave pipe with the same diameter welded steel pipe. The wood line was the last section of this trunk main to be replaced. It was constructed in 1910 and was in a very decayed condition. This project was budgeted for last fall.

Clever Comedians at Craterian

By Jack Retlaw

Pepped up to the cadence of rippling Gershwin melodies, a mill-minute melange of smash-bang comedy opens at the Fox Craterian theater today for a three-day stay, when that whoop-em-up rib-splitter "Girl Crazy," starring those ace of funsters, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey hits the local screen.

Aside from the stars themselves, the supporting cast is unquestionably one of the greatest ever assembled for a comedy picture. Eddie Quillan, a star in his own right, who enacts the role of a girl crazy youth who transforms a highly respectable cattle ranch into a whoopee dude resort. . . . Mitzi Green, child wonder-star, who has the part of a peevish little sister. . . . beautiful Arline Judge, Dorothy Lee, Stanley Fields, Kitty Kelly, Lita Chevret, recently Charlie Chaplin's leading woman. . . . and a host of gorgeous Hollywood beauties make up the mammoth revue.

Besides this uproarious comedy satire of the modern dude ranch West, and the gay buffoonery of Bert and Bobby, the music in this picture. . . . all composed by famed George Gershwin, whose "Rhapsody in Blue" is world-famous, is wonderful. Such big hits as "I Got Rhythm" and "Sam and Delilah" are featured in "Girl Crazy."

The film tells the story of a playboy, Eddie Quillan, who is sent to supposed isolation on a ranch because he is girl crazy. However, he chases the cows and the bulls off the place and substitutes a bevy of pretty girls and invites his friends.

Wheeler and Woolsey make the most of this rich field for comedy and soon turn this ranch into the focal point for some of the funniest comedy situations of their careers.

An excellent added attraction program is also an important part of this offering. . . . Performances will be continuous today from 2 to 11 P. M.

Sidney Fox at Holly Today

One of the strangest motion pictures yet produced is Edgar Allan Poe's "Murders in the Rue Morgue," which opens a three-day engagement at the Holly theatre today. The weirdness of its story and the exciting events which follow in quick succession, make this picture a contribution to the screen that is nothing short of remarkable. Bela Lugosi, who played the title role of "Dracula," is the menacing Dr. Mirakle, bent on a nine lead is played by little Sidney Fox.

Other members in the cast are Brandon Hurst, Bert Roach, well known comedian, Betty Ross Clarke. The short subject program to show with the feature consists of a Pathé News reel, Graham McNamee News reel, "The Spider and the Fly", prize winning cartoon of the year, and Jack Haley in a comedy entitled "The Imperfect Lover."

Will Rogers Back in Rialto Picture

That cast of funmakers. . . Will Rogers, will be seen on the Fox Rialto screen today and tomorrow in that highly mirth-provoking comedy hit, "Ambassador Bill."

Of all the pictures Will Rogers has appeared in the past, many agree that "Ambassador Bill" is his funniest to date.

A splendid cast supports Rogers in this very entertaining and laughable feature. Heading the cast is beautiful Marguerite Churchill, who enacts the role of Queen in the mythical kingdom to which Rogers is visiting as an Ambassador. Boy, what a riot. "Bill tries to 'kiss' the Queen. . . and the results can only be gained by seeing for yourself.

Included in this splendid program is a dandy Charley Chase comedy. . . and by the looks of the advance billing, there is not a serious moment in the entire performance.

SPARROW CLINIC ON FIRST FLOOR IN COURT HOUSE

The Alex Sparrow memorial clinic, for which contributions are coming in in increased numbers each week, will be located on the main floor of the new Jackson county court house, a visit to the building, construction of which is rapidly progressing, reveals.

The clinic, which promises to be one of the most modern in the state, will occupy the northwest corner, facing Main street.

The department will include nurses' room, doctors' room, clinic, surgical clinic, vault, laboratory, dental rooms and bathroom.

Financed with funds being supplied by the many organizations and individuals with whom the late Judge Sparrow was associated, the clinic will be equipped throughout with modern fixtures.

Contributions to the fund, which it is hoped will become a permanent one for carrying on child welfare work in this county, are being received by Mrs. Lewis Ulrich. The need for early contributions is urged by the health association in view of the necessity to know how much money will be available before work on the construction progresses much further.
