Wake Up, Mr. and Mrs. Voter!

THE biggest business in Jackson County is,—Jackson County. It is bigger than our banks, our lumber mills, our largest department stores. It is a $36,000,000 corporation, in which every resident is a stockholder.

In a few weeks now these stockholders will be called upon to select the department executives in this corporation which they own. There are a record-breaking number of applicants,—men and women, old and young, experienced and inexperienced. Obviously it is to the personal interest of these stockholders to select the most capable and trustworthy executives that this community affords.

In other words, the people of Jackson County, as stockholders in this corporation, should go about the selection of their future employees, in precisely the same way they would go about it, if they were selecting employees in their own private business. For Jackson County is—or should be—just as important to them, as is their own private business.

And that is what—five weeks before the primary,—we are asking them to do. That and nothing more.

WHAT does that mean? Well, it means a number of things. First and foremost it means, starting now to look over these various applicants, and finding out about them.

You would do that in your private business, wouldn't you, Mr. and Mrs. Voter? If there were many vacancies to fill, and many applicants for each vacancy, you wouldn't wait until a day or two before the date your selection had to be made to find out something about them?

OF COURSE you wouldn't. You would get busy at once, and find out all you could about each applicant, weigh one against another, so that as far as is humanly possible, your final selection would fall upon the ONE best fitted for the job.

IN this process, furthermore, you wouldn't take the applicant's OWN word for his—or her—qualifications. In fact you would subject the loud-mouthed, strong-promising applicant to rather a closer scrutiny than the soft voiced, modest, retiring one,—for you would know big words and big deeds seldom go together.

You would also be sceptical of the applicant, who rested his case, solely upon impugning the character of his fellow applicants, throwing the slime of abuse, vilification and slander, in every direction like some enraged deep-sea squid. For naturally you would conclude that there must be something wrong about a man, whose only plea for consideration, lies in slinging mud at his competitors.

In other words you would disregard all the "noise and fury signifying nothing"; you would discount all promises unsupported by performance; you would pay no attention to gossip and scandal, bandied about without evidence, you would brush all that sort of hooey away, and—

Considering this problem of selection YOUR problem, the matter of who should or shouldn't work for you, YOUR business, you would go about the solution YOURSELF, IN YOUR OWN WAY.

IF that is what you would do in your private business, is there anything improper in asking that you do the same in your public business—not perhaps with the same intensity and care—but with the same general attitude?

We think not. And yet that has never been done in this county, and we don't believe it has ever been done in any county in this country. And we don't believe it will be done—at least to any great extent—this year.

AND THAT, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, IS WHY IN THIS LAND OF THE FREE AND THE HOME OF THE BRAVE, GOVERNMENT—PARTICULARLY LOCAL GOVERNMENT—IS SO GENERALLY UNSATISFACTORY.

BETWEEN elections we curse out our public officials, complain about ignorance here, waste and extravagance there, incompetence all around, and then at election time we proceed to listen to the ear tickling numbscrot of the demagogue and four-flusher, the car sister and the ne'er-do-well, flock to the polls and put people in public office, we don't know anything about, and care less,—many times people to whom, if we spent five minutes in careful inquiry, we wouldn't entrust our garbage collecting.

And even more amazing and stupid, when government does fail in some particular, we the voters, always blame some one else, when we have no one but ourselves to blame.

THE wonder here in Medford and Jackson County is NOT that our local government has been so bad, but that all things considered it has been so GOOD. All in all, year after year, we have been extremely fortunate, both in the honesty and efficiency, of our city and county governments. But luck like that can't last forever. And we greatly fear, that with the horde of candidates for practically all public offices, it won't last through the coming year.

Unless—

Well, UNLESS, the people of Jackson County start now and look up the records and qualifications of the various candidates for themselves—merely adopt the same attitude toward their public business affairs, that as good business men—and women—they would adopt in their private business affairs.

That's all. But in this democratic government of ours, it's just about EVERYTHING!

HEARST RANCH, San Simon, Cal., April 14—Democracy's campaign starts, as usual with a fight. One conspicuous candidate tells another under what conditions the first will take off his coat and knock the other Democrat into a cocked hat.

Candidates agree that prohibition is a big question. Each has an opinion different from that of all the others, except cautious candidates that have no opinion, and answer, "I love my country," when asked what they think about beer. This situation does not hurt the feelings of Herbert Hoover, only Republican candidate.

Some candidates denounce as "un-American" other candidates that would "set the masses against the masses." The others retort: "It is the masses' turn, and we do not need classes, anyhow; look where they have landed us."

Democrats, in their love for each other, recall a story that Mr. Edward Cantor, young actor, has told to Horace Lorimer, young editor.

Mr. Cantor took Mrs. Cantor to see Clark Gable, and, says Cantor, when Gable took Joan Crawford in his arms, "my wife, who watched the picture closely, said, 'phooey.' A few minutes later, at another passionate scene, she said 'phooey' again.

"Well, I thought, here at last is a woman who sees nothing in Gable. Toward the end of the picture, when I heard her say phooey, a third time, I turned to the star's defense. 'Ida, I protested, 'that's Clark Gable. Why do you say 'phooey'? She snapped back, 'Keep quiet, I was thinking of you.'"

M. H. Aylesworth, head of National Broadcasting, undertakes, as additional work, the presidency of Radio-Keith-Orpheum corporation, which makes moving pictures.

Mr. Aylesworth must have the courage that goes with youth, for plunging into moving pictures now is like undertaking to swim Niagara rapids, only the movies are rougher.

David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, announcing that Mr. Aylesworth would replace Mr. Brown, as head of R. K. O., says broadcasting is so closely associated with entertainment in general that combining pictures and broadcasting management in one capable executive will work for efficiency and economy.

Mr. Aylesworth's remarkable success as broadcasting manager, achieved in five years, proves that there are still opportunities for young men. The difficulty is to find young men that combine intelligence with "no objection to hard work."

Mr. Aylesworth's associates in R. K. O. will include, in addition to David Sarnoff, Owen D. Young and Gerard Swope, of General Electric, an interesting battery of big guns.

Personal Health Service

By William Brady, M. D.
 Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received only a few can be answered here. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instructions. Address Dr. William Brady in care of The Mail Tribune.

HOME CURE OF RUPTURE IN INFANCY

Hernia, breach and rupture are different names for the same condition, a protruberance or bulging of any internal organ or structure thru the abdominal wall. There is no open wound or tear, but merely a weak spot that bulges.

The most frequent situation of hernia in infancy is the navel, umbilicus, belly button. If this normal dimple or depression protrudes, bulges or stands out, especially when the baby cries or strains, it is umbilical hernia or navel rupture, as you please.

In the majority of cases it may be cured by the early and constant application of a suitable support to prevent the bulging for a few months.

No excessive apparatus or appliance is necessary. Any handy mother can make and apply the most effective kind of supporter for such hernia.

First find a button or wooden disk or poker chip or coin about the size of the bulging or protruding area. Pad this thickly with wool (not cotton) or rubber sponge to give it a hemispherical shape like half an orange, and cover with a piece of satin or silk, stitched in place to retain the padding on the uton.

Apply this with the padded side on the bulging navel and hold it in place with the fingers of one hand while you attach strips of adhesive plaster half an inch wide and six or eight inches long to it and the skin in criss-cross fashion, to keep the pad exactly upon the navel.

Then put on the baby's underwrit, and over this apply a well fitted belly band.

Makers of big guns and armor plate have long coveted, armor plate men trying to develop steel, that no bullet can penetrate, gunmakers perfecting guns able to penetrate anything.

A similar conflict for supremacy exists now between crime and science, with crime, as yet, far ahead.

Science's last hope, announced by the Westinghouse company of Pittsburgh, is a device of tubes and cells that will photograph a burglar, sounding an alarm at the police station, and gaasing the burglar as well, besides turning on bright lights the moment he crosses an "invisible ray." Burglars will cut off the invisible ray, as they now cut telephone wires and poison watch dogs. The only way to discourage crime is to make it more dangerous and less profitable. Our present conditions make it highly profitable, and not dangerous.

In New York, for instance, a criminal in a holdup, in the absence of police, knows that he is the only armed man present. Think of that advantage.

One hundred and four surface ships, including ten battleships, have completed maneuvers off this coast, the roar of the big guns rattling dishes in Pasadena, back of Los Angeles.

Two hundred aircraft were included in the mock warfare, thank heaven. Had the number been two thousand, it would have been about half enough.

The public, the President, the war and navy secretaries do not get all the facts concerning war practice.

Fourteen hundred ninety-two lives lost when "Titanic," the largest ship afloat, strikes iceberg in North Atlantic. It was the greatest disaster in maritime history.

Gold Hill professors spank a 14-year-old boy, and a lively, old-fashioned school row ensues. Both sides retain attorneys.

Thousands of amudge pots lighted unnecessarily when foreman of an orchard becomes panicky when mercury drops to 32.

Valley Progressives plan great reception for Senator Robert M. La Follette, on visit.

Mathilde Molissant, lady aviator, falls 90 feet at Wichita Falls, Kans., and renounces aviation in a statement to the press.

North Riverside residents complain about young men holding nights, "out of pure unadulterated cussedness."

pressed he is under his feeling of insecurity the more he takes refuge in actions and attitudes which make him temporarily more comfortable.

These disguised evidences of a feeling of insecurity frequently are misunderstood by parents and teachers. They think that such a youngster needs subing and correction when what he really needs is to be reassured.

He needs to feel that he is loved, that he is not inferior to a brother or sister, that he is as capable as anybody, and that he is good.

DOLLAR AN ACRE FOR LAND IN WALLOWA CO.

LA GRANDE, Ore., April 15—(AP)—The Wallowa county court has sold 1200 acres of land east of Crow creek to W. C. Dorrance on credit for one acre. Dorrance was required to make down payment of only 20 cents an acre. The land, which will go on the county tax rolls at two dollars an acre, was valued as high as $20 an acre about 15 years ago.

NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT CERTIFIED FOR FOOD VALUE

Philadelphia Laboratory Certifies the Improved Kellogg's Whole Wheat Biscuit

One of the greatest tributes to quality ever paid a food product is the fact that the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia now certifies every package of the new, improved Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit for food value.

These delicious biscuits are unusually rich in proteins, minerals, vitamins and other important food elements. One reason for this, is the fact that the biscuits are "pressure-cooked"—a process that retains all the food value of the whole wheat. "Pressure-cooking" also bakes in a rich, tempting flavor that every one prizes.

The new Kellogg biscuit has many welcome features. It is toasted brown on both top and bottom—not just one side. It is made in a new, convenient size. Two biscuits just fit the cereal bowl; and you get 15 to the package—which means added economy.

Served with hot or cold milk or cream, fruit or honey added—Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are delightful and wholesome for breakfast, lunch, children's supper. Easy to digest and very nourishing.

Local grocers report that this improved shredded biscuit is meeting with hearty acceptance. It may be identified by the familiar red-and-green Kellogg's package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Where Does She Get Her "Pep?"

SHE doesn't look seventy. Nor feel that old. The woman who stimulates her organs can have energy that women half her age will envy!

At middle-age your vital organs begin to slow down. You may not be sick, simply sluggish. But why endure a condition of half-health when there's a stimulant that will stir a stagnant system to new life and energy in a week's time?

This remarkable stimulant is perfectly harmless. It is, in fact, a family doctor's prescription. So, if you're tired of trying every patent medicine that comes along, tell the druggist you want a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepin. Take a bit of this delicious syrup every day or so, until you know by the way you feel that your lazy liver is again active, and your bowels are poison-free.

Men, women, and children who are run-down, who tire easily, get bilious spells or have frequent headaches, are soon straightened out when they get this prescription preparation of pure pepin, active senna, and fresh laxative herbs. (Syrup pepin is all the help the bowels need, and you do not form the very bad habit of always taking cathartics.)

Keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepin in the house, and take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. It is all that a great many people ever take to keep strong and vigorous, and absolutely free from constipation.

BUSINESS GROWS
IN PINE LUMBER
 PORTLAND, Ore., April 15—(AP)—An increase in current new business amounting to 11.2 per cent over the previous week was reported today by the Western Pine association for the week ending April 9. Current production increased 4,340,000 feet while unfilled orders and shipments decreased. Of the 127 mills reporting to the association, only 47 were operating, and these at an average of 36 per cent of capacity.

M'NEIL ESCAPE
ELUDES GUARDS
 TACOMA, Wash., April 15—(AP)—After an all night search Warden Finch Archer was planning today to intensify his efforts to capture James Sargeant, mail robber and alleged murderer who escaped yesterday from a working gang at McNeil Island federal penitentiary.

Sargeant was missed when a check-up was made as the prisoners were being returned to their cells for the evening. Warden Archer immediately called out all the prison guards available for a search of the island and ordered out the boat patrol in an effort to forestall an escape by water. It was believed, however, that he was still on the island.
