

HAWAII ASSAULT HORRORS RETOLD BY LIEUT. MASSIE

Mrs. Massie to undergo an operation after the attack to avoid becoming a mother.

Hubbard Tells Story. Lieutenant Massie was pale and obviously under a great emotional strain as he began his story. Most of the time he kept his gaze fixed on the floor.

Massie testified he was 27 years old and was married when he was 22 and Mrs. Massie 18. Then he began his story of what occurred at a dance in an outlying inn the night of September 12, when Mrs. Massie was attacked after going for a walk in a nearby thoroughfare.

"Was there any drinking?" asked Darrow.

"Yes, sir," Massie answered. "Did Mrs. Massie care for drinking?"

"No."

The lieutenant said he missed Mrs. Massie when their party was preparing to go home and did not locate her until after he had telephoned several friends and finally rang his own house.

Rushed Home. "Mrs. Massie answered the phone," he said, "and recognizing my voice, said 'come home at once; something horrible has happened.'"

"I jumped in a car and rushed home. I could hear her sobbing before I could get into the house. She collapsed in my arms. Her lips were bruised, her face swollen, her clothes torn and her lips bleeding.

"I thought a truck had run over her. She said it was too horrible to tell and could only sob.

"She said she wanted to die. Finally she told me some men had taken her in a car and carried her into the bushes and ravished her. I then called the police and told them my wife had been assaulted."

Taken to Hospital. Mrs. Fortescue was crying and making no effort to conceal it. Massie told how he had taken his wife to a hospital and how he had tried in vain to sleep.

He told how four men had been brought before Mrs. Massie the next day for identification. They had Kahahawai, Horace Ida, Henry Chang and Ben Abakeloo.

"She questioned them all," Massie said. "She seemed to concentrate on Kahahawai. After they left she told me they were the ones. I asked her if she was sure and she said 'Darling, do you think I would ever draw another honest breath unless I were sure?'"

Beaten by Abductors. Massie said Mrs. Massie had told him that she went for a walk, was seized by two men in an automobile and was beaten and laughed at when she offered them money and told them her husband would give them money if they would release her. He said they only beat her more.

"They drove into the bushes," Massie said, "and she told me what they did."

There he hesitated.

"Go on," Darrow urged.

"She said," Massie continued, "that Kahahawai beat her more than any other and that when he assaulted her she prayed for mercy and he hit her and broke her jaw."

Sleep Troubled. The witness said Mrs. Massie had awakened him on one occasion thereafter with the cry, "don't let him get me!"

Massie said he had assured her no one else was there, but that she had insisted:

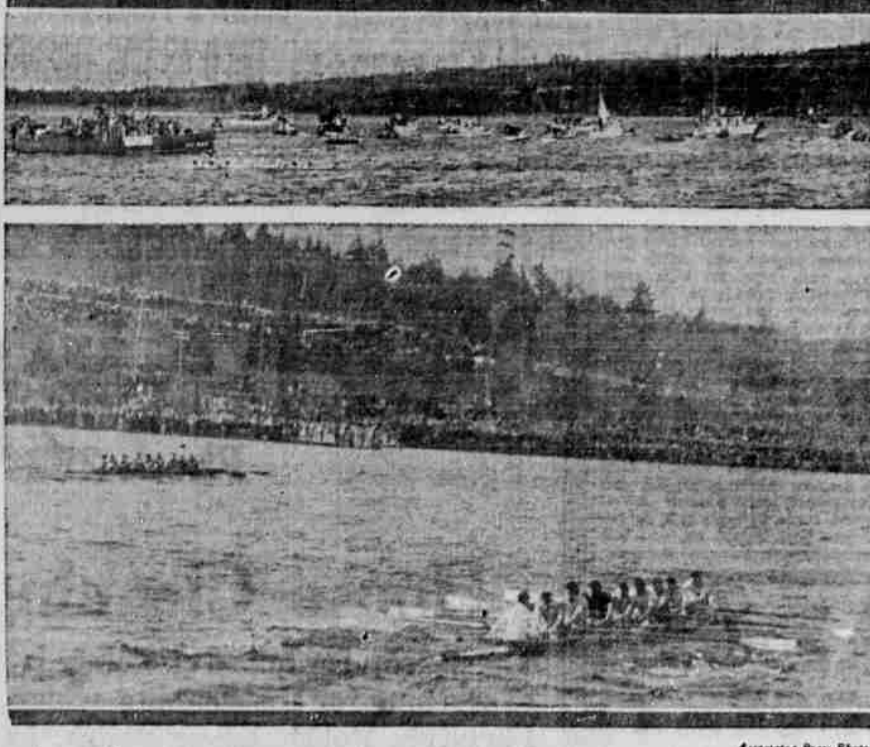

"Yes there let Kahahawai is here!"

He said on one of several later occasions when Mrs. Massie had called him saying she heard footsteps about the house he heard such sounds himself. He said he ran out but saw no one.

"Do you ever get advice from a doctor about your wife's condition?" asked Darrow.

"I got that at the hospital," Massie said, "after Mrs. Massie's mother informed us an operation would be necessary to prevent pregnancy. It was performed in October."

WILLIAM J. BURNS FAMED DETECTIVE PASSES SUDDENLY

Michael Burns, served as police commissioner of Columbus at one time. The first big case of the detective's career was the solution of the Ohio tally sheets fraud by which a group sought to place a senator in office. He entered the secret service when 28 years old and in 1899 gained national recognition by solving the "Costa Rican" case in which a group of Central American revolutionists tried to discredit their country and raise funds by counterfeiting in the United States.

Counterfeiting cases were almost a hobby with Burns and it was he who led the smashing of the Bill Brocks gang of currency forgers in Philadelphia.

Burns resigned from the secret service in 1903 and took charge of western land fraud investigations in Oregon, Washington and California for the department of the interior. He worked on graft cases in San Francisco, Atlantic City and Detroit and took part in outstanding murder investigations in several larger cities. Among them the slaying of Herman Rosenthal, New York gambler.

As chief of the bureau of investigation for the department of justice he became involved in repercussions from the Teapot Dome oil preserve graft trials and the Harding administration. He was closely associated with Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty from 1921 to 1924 and regarded as his greatest achievement the organization of the first nationwide bureau of identification at that time.

Since retirement from government service and his private agency, he had been engaged in writing magazine stories about his biggest cases.

The case that brought him most renown was his apprehension of the McNamara, who pleaded guilty to the blasting of the office of the Los Angeles Times on October 1, 1910.

They called on Mrs. Raymond Purry in Phoenix.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Purdue of Gauls creek spent Thursday night with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Marshall.

George Lowe, teacher in the Central Point schools, was a business caller in Fern Valley Wednesday.

DOUBLE HANGING CLOSES CHAPTER FOR MURDERERS

broken in spirit, while Carpenter went to his death displaying less emotion. After saying over several times, "Jesus save me," as he walked from the death cell, Dubuc's last words before the trap were sprung were:

"I don't want to be hung. Jesus save me."

The Rev. E. T. Allen had been with the two during the evening in their cells.

The traps were sprung at 12:27 a.m. At 12:28 a.m. Dr. J. W. Ingram, prison physician, pronounced Carpenter dead, and declared Dubuc dead two minutes later. The bodies were cut down at 12:45 a.m.

In the statement which Reverend Allen revealed later, the two declared that in the excitement of robbing the 84-year-old farmer, they did not realize what they were doing and that it had been "all a mistake."

"We are willing to die, if by so doing we will pay for the crime," it read.

The two men, together with Mrs. Ethel Willis, 26-year-old mother of two children, of Olympia, were convicted by a Thurston county court last September. The farmer had been beaten to death last July 11

CEREAL RELIEVED HIS CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought New Health

Every one who has suffered from constipation should read Mr. P. M. Fisher's letter:

"For many years I suffered from constipation and used, for relief, all kinds of laxatives. After a few days' treatment, I would only find my condition the same as before and at times worse.

"Some time ago I started to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly, once a day as directed. Since doing this, I have found that I do not need any other medicine to procure the desired result, and it keeps me in a very healthful condition."—Mr. P. M. Fisher, 332 Evergreen Place, Ridgewood, N. Y.

Constipation is caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the laxatives. Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN supplies both—and also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in lettuce. Inside the body it forms a soft mass, which gently clears out the wastes.

How much safer this is than rickety pills and drugs—so often harmful. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in serious cases, with every meal. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved in this way, see your doctor.

Equally tasty as a cereal, or used in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
