Mesdames Wheeler And Blue, Popular Guests This Week

Two guests in Medford this week, who have been the inspiration for several pleasant affairs, enjoyed by members of the ranch colony and their social circle, are Mrs. J. G. Blue of Pasadena, Cal., guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred S. V. Carpenter, and Mrs. Frederick O. Wheeler of Portland, visiting the Misses Carlton.

Mrs. Earl Tunny entertained at luncheon complimenting Mrs. Blue Friday. Covers were placed for Mesdames James Owen, Corbin Edgell, Sprague Riegel, Donald Clark, Charles Gilbert, Alfred S. V. Carpenter, the honor guest, Mrs. Blue, and hostess, Mrs. Tunny.

Miss Anna Livingston was hostess at luncheon the same afternoon for the pleasure of Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. F. Corning Kenly entertained at tea for Mrs. Blue Thursday.

Saturday Luncheon In Country Enjoyed

Mrs. H. Van Hovenberg, Jr. was hostess yesterday at a delightful luncheon at her country home near Gold Hill. Guests for the occasion were Mrs. Ben Sheldon, Mrs. L. A. Salade, Miss Ann Livingston, Mrs. Alice Holloway, Mrs. H. D. McCaskey, Mrs. Gordon Voorhies and Mrs. Robert W. Ruhl.

English Visitor Is Much Feted Here

A charming guest in Medford this week, who has been the incentive for considerable informal entertaining, is Miss Christabel Pankhurst of London, England, who has been greeted by several former residents of old England.

Mrs. C. Hesse Braley was hostess at a small dinner party for her pleasure Friday evening. Other guests were Mrs. Louis B. Humphry and Mrs. Hamilton Patton. She also took her on a drive through the valley and the mining region yesterday afternoon, and was fascinated with the English visitor's appreciation of the southern Oregon scenery.

Mrs. Braley's grandmother and Miss Pankhurst's mother were intimate friends in England years ago.

Mrs. Humphry, who knew Miss Pankhurst's mother in England, entertained informally for her at tea Friday afternoon.

Several other small parties were arranged in her honor, Medford profiting by Miss Pankhurst's change in plans, which will keep her here until Monday.

Cast Rehearsing For Clever Play

The hilarious farce, "Bliss His Little Heart," is on the calendar for presentation April 26 and 27, under the auspices of St. Mark's Altar Guild. The cast is rehearsing diligently under the direction of Tom Swem, who has been so successful in directing the former plays, given by this organization.

This time the element of farce predominates and the action moves swiftly throughout the many complicated and amusing situations.

Mrs. James Stevens, with many years of stage experience, has a prominent part for her debut to Medford audiences, while the other members of the cast, Elvise Mae Wilson, Frank Van Dyke, Lois Pearson, Harold Gebauer and Fletcher Fish, are favorably known for their past work in local productions.

Missionary Group Enjoys Luncheon

The annual birthday luncheon of the W.C.M.S. of the First M.E. church, held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. C. Koppen, with 38 present, seated at beautifully appointed tables, proved an enjoyable occasion.

The afternoon program followed devotionals led by Mrs. Gillings, with prayer by Mrs. Kunzman. Mrs. Bigler discussed the subject of "Evangelism Beginning in the Home" with Mrs. Ferguson giving a short leaflet on "Stewardship." Mrs. Larson sang three numbers. "Just for Today," "Spring's Awakening," "Wake up! Wake up!"

The study chapter, "Stewardship," was presented by Mrs. Van Dyke. Mrs. Peake, a visitor from Pennsylvania, responded with reminiscences of pioneer days as a minister's wife. "Living for Jesus" was sung in concert, with closing prayer by Mrs. Bennett.

Worshipers Enjoyed Service

Mrs. Harry Rinabarger was hostess to the Ladies' Auxiliary of the First Baptist church Tuesday, April 13. Mrs. F. O. Stinson presided.

Mrs. J. D. Shaffer led the devotionals, reading from first chapter of Job.

Good reports were given by officers and committees. As it was the annual meeting, all felt something had been accomplished.

Confidence was shown by re-electing Mrs. F. O. Stinson, president; Mrs. N. A. Mead, vice-president; Mrs. W. R. Crawford, secretary; Mrs. W. D. Roberts, treasurer. Mrs. W. H. Eaton and Mrs. M. E. Coe are the musicians.

After the business meeting a brief social period was enjoyed.

Mrs. D. V. Platt, Mrs. Walter Cornum, Mrs. W. R. Crawford and Mrs. Harry Rinabarger composed the committee.

Blossoms Create Oriental Setting Guild Bridge Tea

Apple blossoms, flowering manzanita, pot of gold and other flowers of spring intermingled in the Oriental setting which greeted more than 100 guests at St. Mark's Guild hall yesterday, when they called for an afternoon of bridge and tea, at the affair sponsored by the St. Mark's Altar guild.

Streamers of paper flowers formed a false ceiling in the hall from which were hung multi-colored Japanese lanterns. Japanese fans and wall hangings appeared between the windows, where boxes were filled to overflowing with flowers.

Hostesses in the gay coats and trousers of the Japanese elaborately embroidered in rich colors, received the guests.

There were 25 tables of bridge in play and prizes for the afternoon awarded Mrs. B. L. Price of San Diego, Cal., Mrs. G. B. Alden, Mrs. C. Herbert White and Mrs. Jack Porter.

The musical program presented included several vocal numbers by Mrs. Roberta Ward Bebb and violin selections by Miss Dorothy McArthur. Each was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. H. O. Purucker.

Hostesses for the party were Natalie Hamilton, Frances Kenney, Mrs. Robert Hadley, Mrs. C. Morrison, Mrs. H. S. Hinman and Mrs. Wm. B. Hamilton, Jr.

Betty Jean Fowler Observes Birthday

Mrs. R. O. Fowler was hostess Friday afternoon and evening at a pretty spring party, given for the pleasure of her daughter, Betty Jean, who celebrated her 11th birthday. Coe Glade, Famous Singer of Chicago Opera, Here Thursday

Coe Glade, twenty-five year old diva of the Chicago Civic Opera, who will sing here next Thursday evening under the auspices of the Civic Music association, has already been ranked with Jenny Lind, Patti, Melba and other immortals of song. Dr. Charles E. Watt, editor of "Music News," recently wrote of her, "In all the forty years I have attended opera and concert, I have never heard a more gorgeous voice than Coe Glade's nor have I witnessed a greater artistic triumph than her performance of 'Mignon'." Newspaper critics throughout the country have similarly commended themselves.

Miss Glade's voice has a phenomenal range of nearly three octaves. She sings both contralto and soprano roles in both lyric and dramatic repertoire. "Amneris," "Carmen," "Adalgisa," "Dulcinea" and "Mignon" are among the most famous of her operatic characterizations. The singer usually speaks of herself, however, as a contralto.

Miss Glade belongs to an artistic family and consequently has a very broad education in the arts. She is a skilled pianist, and for a while, considered having a career as a concert pianist. It was not till she was sixteen that she decided to be a singer. After two years of study with Homer Moore, in Tampa, Florida, she made her operatic debut with the San Carlo Opera company, later joining the Chicago Civic Opera. Her entire training has been in America, thereby upstating the tradition that foreign teachers and foreign experience are necessary in order to have a great career.

Miss Glade's fame rests entirely upon her artistic achievements. She has not permitted her private life to be flaunted by press agents. Love affairs she may have had, and undoubtedly has had, for she is a very beautiful girl, but the newspapers have never known. Moreover, she has consistently declined to endorse cosmetics and cigarettes for publicity purposes. Nevertheless, she is already known throughout the musical world.

St. Mary's Benefit Draws Crowd for Festive Afternoon

One of the prettiest parties of the past week was held at St. Mary's academy Thursday afternoon, where there were thirty-two tables of cards in play at the benefit affair, sponsored by women of the Sacred Heart Catholic church. There were more than 150 women present for cards and the pleasing program presented preceding the serving of refreshments.

The hall was decorated in a profusion of white lilacs and tulips by students of the academy, supervised by the Sisters. Score cards, hand decorated in forget-me-nots, were also made by the students.

Prizes at cards were awarded Mrs. Hamilton Paston, Mrs. Larry Schade, Mrs. Herbert of San Francisco, Mrs. Michael Beck and Mrs. Buckley of Appleton.

The committees for the affair included Miss Anna Kelleher, Mrs. J. C. Boyle and Mrs. Bigelow, chairman of tables; and Meadame Hunter, Young and Gretsch were assisted on the refreshments committee by Mesdames Gerdes, Dolemeier and W. H. Smith.

The Sisters and students of the academy also assisted in the preparation and serving of refreshments.

The Women of the Sacred Heart Catholic church, sponsors of the party, yesterday issued an expression of appreciation of the response of the women of the community and all others who helped make the party a success. Their thanks was voiced by the committee in charge of the party.

Carnation Club Has Luncheon to Greet President E. Traver

The Carnation club of the Degree of Honor lodge met at the home of Mrs. J. R. Thompson, 113 Tripp street for a very lovely luncheon on Friday afternoon, to meet the state president, Mrs. Eva Traver of Portland.

Apple blossoms and variegated tulips were used in profusion about the rooms, and yellow was the predominant color in the table appointments.

During the luncheon hour the following musical selections were enjoyed: Violin solos, Miss Geraldine Thompson; whistling and vocal solos, Miss Elvise Mae Wilson; piano selections, Miss Margaret Childers, who also played the accompaniment. Solos and a duet were given by Mrs. Beaulieu Huber and Mrs. J. R. Thompson. Mrs. M. S. Sells gave a beautiful poem.

Luncheon was followed by business meeting and election of officers. Among the guests were Mrs. A. M. Childers, Mrs. Nees, also Mrs. Lillian Coleman and Mrs. F. A. Denzer of Phoenix.

Delphians Enjoy Books and Music At Vawter Home

Mrs. Alpha Vawter was hostess to the Delphians for their regular monthly group meeting last Thursday morning.

Several books were reviewed briefly and recommended as being of interest to club members. Not all received unqualified approval but were called to the notice of readers as having merits that are worthy of consideration.

"Golden Years"—Phillips Gibbs.
"Bright Skies"—Julia Peterkin.
"Women Live Too Long"—Vina Delman.
"Battleground for Centuries"—Owen Lattimore.
"Only Yesterday"—Frederick Lewis Allen.
"Mary's Neck"—Booth Tarkington.
"The Phoenix Kind"—Peter Quennell.

Mrs. Burton Lowry, study supervisor, reviewed and contrasted the early Italian and French opera, stressing particularly the early rivalry in the two schools as to the importance of musical excellence and dramatic effect. She also played a tribute to Johann Goethe, noted German poet and philosopher, the one hundredth anniversary of whose death is being remembered by his admirers all over the world.

Mrs. Billie Herbert Yoeman gave some interesting sidelights on the recently studied operas "Carmen" and "Mignon."

Two records were played, one a resume of airs from "Mignon." The other the outstanding songs from "Tales of Hoffman" by Offenbach.

Miss Geraldine Thompson, violinist, accompanied by Margaret Childers, delighted all by her rendition of "Meditation" from Thais and "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" from Sampson and Delilah.

"Honey Flow" novel by Ben Ames Williams, depicting the life and struggles of a prima donna was reviewed in a most interesting manner by Mrs. Grigby.

The closing number was a lovely song from the French opera Louise, "Ever Since That Day," sung by Elvise Mae Wilson and accompanied by Mrs. Andrews. Miss Wilson's generous contributions to the programs is greatly appreciated and the Delphians add to her and her accompanist, Mrs. Andrews, as well as to all other artists who have assisted so graciously in the programs throughout the year.
