HOME EXTENSION UNITS TO ENJOY COUNTY SESSION

The First Annual County Homemakers Day for members of home extension units and all other cooperating organizations will be held in Medford, next Wednesday, April 27, at the First Christian church, commencing at 10:15, Mrs. Mabel C. Mack, home demonstration agent announced today.

The purpose of the meeting is to measure the progress in the county extension program during the past year, and to recommend work to be undertaken next year.

Any organization desiring work in home economics extension next year should be represented at this meeting, even though they have not been enrolled during the past year. Mrs. Mack stated. Many requests for project work are received by the home demonstration agent throughout the year, that cannot be granted because of an over-crowded schedule. The County Homemakers Day, which will be devoted to county program planning will relieve this situation.

The meeting will open promptly at 10:15, with group singing of a new home economic state song led by Mrs. Mabel Sims, Jacksonville. Miss Alice Hanley, chairman of the county extension committee will preside.

Mrs. Claribel Nye, state leader of home economics extension will talk on the state extension program. Measures of progress in Jackson county extension program will be given by Mrs. Mabel Mack, home demonstration agent.

Following this the assembly will be divided into six project or interest group sections. Each community is asked to have at least one representative in each group. The sections are: Administration—Chairman, Mrs. Etta Burdette, Rogue River; secretary, Miss Claribel Nye, state leader. Foods and Nutrition—Chairman, Mrs. Virginia Bohner, Central Point; secretary, Miss Lucy Case, nutrition specialist.

Child Protection—Chairman, Mrs. Lee Port, Applegate; secretary, Mrs. Mabel C. Mack, H. D. A. Clothing and Textiles—Chairman, Mrs. J. B. McCracken, Valleyview; secretary, Mrs. Sara Wertz, H. D. A. Josephine county.

Recreation and Dramatics—Chairman, Mrs. Ethel Lathrop, Central Point; secretary, Miss Dorothy Mitchell, Y. W. C. A. Sec. Home Management—Chairman, Mrs. Carl Glasgow, Valleyview; secretary, Mrs. Zelta Rodenwald, home management specialist.

There will be a covered dish luncheon at noon. At this time chairman of extension units will give a brief report of their work during the past year.

Interest group meetings will be conducted after lunch until 2:30, when a general assembly will be called and reports and recommendations of projects will be given by the chairmen. The county calendar will be made from these recommendations.

"Arrowsmith" at Craterian 'Love Affair' on Holly Screen

FEHL CASE NOTES TO SETTLE POINT IN DEFENSE PLEA

(By Jack Retlaw)
An event that Medford theatergoers have been anticipating probably more than any other, begins today at the Fox Craterian theatre with the showing of that much-discussed feature picture, "Arrowsmith."

Usual Parrott's "Love Affair" opens a three-day engagement at the Holly today. This author of "Divorcee" and "Strangers May Kiss" has written another gay, modern and sophisticated comedy drama of the youth of today, and the leading characters in the picture are ably portrayed by Dorothy Mackaill as the girl who had a man's idea about love, and Humphrey Bogart as the ambitious young aviator.

LIONS REHEARSE HIGGINS, BERGER PRODUCTION FOR SHOWING MAY 18
The Ducks were trailing in the seventh until Higgins hit a home run scoring a man ahead of him, and Fred Bergher, as pinch hitter, repeated the performance a moment later and tied the score.

HUGE FLOCKS GESE WINGING NORTHWARD
CARLTON, Ore., April 23.—(AP)—Great flocks of wild geese, north-bound, flew over Carlton yesterday. During the past few years only scattered flocks have been seen and yesterday's flight was the greatest noted since 1921. About 100 wild swans were seen flying north recently.

decision in the new trial plea is anticipated.
Whether or not a new witness—a woman—will be allowed to testify for the defense, will be decided Monday morning, when court resumes. The court indicated Friday that such a procedure would re-open the case, that it would mean the introduction of testimony in rebuttal, and likely mean "the issue would become interminable." The court took the question under advisement.
The defense refused to reveal the identity of the woman, but claimed she refused to make an affidavit, and would be a reluctant witness, as to a conversation with Mrs. Myrtle Gebauer at a meeting of a secret order, in which the jurywoman is alleged to have expressed prejudice against Editor Fehl and his publication.
The defense centered its attack on Mrs. Gebauer and filed affidavits, alleging misconduct and prejudice on her part. Attorney Kelly at one point accused Mrs. Gebauer's claim, she had "voted for Fehl," and described her as "a valuable woman," who "attempted to engage me in conversation during the trial, in the hall, and I grabbed hold of Allison Moulton, Parr's attorney, as a master of production."
A small courtroom crowd heard the proceedings.
