DEMOCRATS FIND DIFFICULTIES IN PARTY HARMONY

Ritchie and Murray Examples of Widely Varying Methods—Presidency Not for Youthful Aspirant

By Byron Price (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

To understand the difficulties of those who strive for democratic unity, it is necessary only to read the speeches and observe the methods of the only two democrats who are out campaigning actively for the presidency.

When Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland addresses a chamber of commerce dinner in favor of a return to Jeffersonian principles, he means one thing; when Governor William H. Murray of Oklahoma rallies a schoolhouse full of farmers in favor of a return to Jeffersonian principles, he means something vastly different.

Ritchie, handsome, dignified and immaculate, son of two proud old southern families, speaks quietly of confidence and stability and idealism based on the old fundamentals.

Murray, whose tousled hair and rumpled haberdashery are reminiscences of his down-and-out days, rings the welkin with homely-turned phrases of protest against the present disorder, and prays for an era of old-time simplicity.

Somebody must be wrong about what Jefferson really wanted. The June convention, and its nominees will have a lot of pleading together to do when they undertake to clothe their campaign in a harmonious garment of true Jeffersonian doctrine.

Those Dark Hours In 1823 or later, democratic friends are seeking in that epoch of darkness those who do not develop dark horse Harry F. Byrd of Virginia or dark horse Melvin A. Traylor of Illinois.

Byrd's headquarters at Richmond present him, in a series of pamphlets, "as the best governor since Thomas Jefferson." He will have the Virginia delegation at Chicago, but there is small prospect of nominating him this time.

Byrd is not to consider a vice-presidential nomination, usually the passport to the political graveyard. Traylor's kits has three peculiar strings to it. He was born in Kentucky, which probably will vote for Senator Bailey. He grew up in Texas, pledged to Speaker Garner. He is a banker now in Chicago, the metropolis of a state whose first choice is Senator Lewis.

The Traylor plan does not contemplate upsetting any of these arrangements. It contemplates a waiting attitude, the waiting to be done at a conspicuous place on the side-lines.

A pamphlet issued by the Traylor-for-President club of Ft. Worth, Tex., introduces the barefoot boy-grocery clerk-lawyer-banker candidate as a "home-spun American." The publicity of the Traylor-for-President club of Columbia, Ky., describes him as "the one best equipped to lead."

Byrd is only 48 and Traylor 54. The friends of both are taking a long look ahead. The party will expect to hear more of both in years to come.

Not Young Man's Job Speaking of ages—the present may be a young man's era in many things, but not in presidential politics.

At the time of their inauguration, the presidents have averaged 51 years. Most of those since the Civil war have been older. Except for Coolidge, who succeeded from the vice-presidency, all since Roosevelt have been 55 or older.

President Hoover will celebrate his 59th birthday in the midst of the coming campaign. The 15 most prominently mentioned democrats average just over 58.

HUNTINGTON, Ore., April 29.—(AP)—With two deaths from spotted fever reported here in the past 10 days, absentee herders and shepherds are arriving daily to receive vaccination as a precaution against infection from tick bites.

Ticks are numerous in the Snake and Burnt river territory.

HOG FUTURES BANNED ON CHICAGO MARKET CHICAGO, April 29.—(AP)—The Chicago Livestock Exchange has suspended trading in future deliveries of hogs until there is a demand for that sort of market.

Charles A. Wilson, president, said today. This market was established as a hedging market for hogs. Wilson said "and at present prices, sales cannot be hedged."

German Smuggling Costly DORTMUND, Germany.—(AP)—When the head of a ring which had smuggled 250,000 pounds of coffee into Germany was tried here the court sentenced him to pay duties of 175,000 marks and fined him $25,000 more, the total cost being $250,000.

UNCLE SAM FINDS NEW COUSINS FOR TAX PAYING LOAD

Hundreds of Thousands Who Never Paid Federal Income Levies Will 'Dig' Under New Regulations

By Alexander R. George WASHINGTON (AP)—Hundreds of thousands of Americans who have never paid federal income taxes will do their bit next year in helping to pull the government out of the depression-deepened financial hole...

These new income taxpayers, who would contribute their mite for the first time on March 15, 1933, would be recruited from the large ranks of the relatively low income class exempted under present regulations from making any payments.

Seek To Spread 'C' These increases, contributors of the income taxpayers would be only a part of the burden which the framers of the bill have sought to spread equitably among all classes of citizens.

Millions of citizens would help carry the load of a sweeping manufacturer's sales tax which would more or less affect the price of virtually every important item in the family budget with the exception of food staples.

Clothing, furniture, gas, electricity, lubricating oil, telegrams, radio messages, phone calls, theater and prize fight tickets would be subject to sales taxes or special excises.

Income Tax Exemptions Cut The new revenue bill, reducing the exemptions for single men from $1,500 to $1,000 and for married men from $3,500 to $3,000, would bring into the income tax paying class single persons with no dependents who have net incomes ranging from $1,200 to $1,500, and married persons with one dependent having net incomes from $3,500 to $4,000.

For example, John Jones, unmarried and with no dependents, does not have to pay any income tax this year if his net income in 1932 is $1,500 or under. If he has the same income this year, he would pay a tax of $6.25 in 1933; provided of course he did not take to himself a wife or other dependent.

Pay Small Tax Jones' tax would be computed in this manner. He would be allowed an exemption of $1,000 of his $1,500 net income, bringing it down to $500. He also would receive a credit of 12 1/2 per cent on the amount of his net earned income which would amount to $187.50. That deducted from $500 leaves $312.50 on which he would pay a tax of 2 per cent next year or $6.25.

Harry Smith, married and with one dependent child, pays no tax this year if his 1931 income was $3,500 or under, because he now has a marriage exemption of $3,500 and $400 deduction for his child, making a total exemption equivalent to his entire net income. With the $3,500 income this year, he would pay a tax of $18.75 next year.

More From Old Sources Besides the new taxpayers, those individual incomes which are now tax-paying would provide considerably more money for the government coffers next year because of two major methods of increasing payments provided by the bill. They are the reduction in exemptions for both single and married persons, and the increased rate of taxation.

Individual rates are increased by the tax bill from one and one-half percent to two percent for the first $4,000; from three to four percent for the second $4,000, and from five to six percent for the next $6,000. Surplus taxes would apply to individual net incomes in excess of $10,000.

A man with a net income in excess of $10,000 and not in excess of $12,000 would pay a surtax of one percent of such excess. If his income were $12,000 he would pay a surtax of $20. For an income of $24,000 the surtax would amount to $560.

File in Temple Crush PATNA, India.—(AP)—Seventeen men, women and children were crushed to death in a fanatical rush to enter the Mahadeo temple at Araraj, built 249 B. C. A similar tragedy occurred in the temple 50 years ago.
