

BUTTER SUPPLY CONTINUES GAIN PORTLAND ZONE

PORTLAND, April 29.—(AP)—Butter production in Portland and in the tributary territory continues to gain, with further liberal increase in the supply available in the local market.

While there was no change reported in the price on either cubes or prints on the open market, the situation appears just a trifle easier with suggestions of steadiness and weakness from various camps.

In spots the market price on butterfat is up 1c lb. here and at country stations, the result of general betterment in the California call for northwest butter.

Reduction of about a cent a pound is announced in the buying price of live chickens, made by some of the leading killers, with a new low for roasters and stags at 3c lb.

Strawberry prices were much the same as during the previous day, with the bulk of the California offerings at 82 cents for 20s, although some business was shown down to 81.50 in lots. Several cars available and quality generally good.

There was a somewhat firmer tone in the market for asparagus, as a result of the preparations for shipments of two carloads from the Dalles to the east during the day. Some advances are scored here.

Moller Not Quitting.
To the Editor:

In the morning's issue of the Daily News there is an article stating arbitrarily that "Ben Moller has folded up his tent and quietly slipped away." I wish to state that I am still in the race and intend to be until the finish.

This rumor was started perhaps because I have been working to support my family, as I have no family to support me.

It is also reported that my health is not good, because of the fact that I was sick several years ago. That does not mean that I have not recovered. And I am quite capable of doing any work that is required of me.

I am trying to run my campaign on a clean and fair basis, the way I would run the office if elected sheriff. Yours very truly,
BEN MOLLER.

Let Us Be Fair.
To the Editor:

In this morning's issue of the Daily News there is an article referring to the candidates running for sheriff. I take exception to the part

PREPARE BALLOON FOR NEW STRATOSPHERE TRIP

This picture, made in the Tyrolean Alps, shows workmen starting the difficult transportation of Prof. Auguste Piccard's "stratosphere" balloon gondola to Brussels, where the Belgian physicist is organizing another ascension. Because of a promise to his wife, Piccard himself will not go on the next expedition, which he hopes will reach 12 miles into the stratosphere.

In reference to Ben Moller laying I consider him running at the head office, and quit slinging mud about districts and have done quite a lot of electioneering for Mr. Moller, and people folding up and out of the race. Yours truly,
H. C. FREDETTE.
