

CONSTRUCTION OF COURT HOUSE IN FINISHING STAGE

Construction work on the new county courthouse is 75 per cent completed, according to General Superintendent Harry Turner, who predicts that the structure will be completed and formally turned over to the county August 15. The bulk of the heavy construction on the building has been completed. Much of the future work is such that it requires time, and is a slow process such as painting and plastering, and installing wood work.

Work of installing the limestone exterior is progressing favorably, but has been delayed by rainy weather, and shortage of material. Telegraphic instructions were given today, to dispatch a carload of limestone, every two days until the order is filled. One car of limestone arrived Sunday, and three more are in transit. The new order will give a steady stream of limestone.

As soon as the weather settles, the work of clearing away the dirt on the courthouse lawn will be started. The work will be under the direction of the county, and unemployed will be used, as far as possible. Ten to fifteen men will be given employment. The work will not be launched as long as the earth is muddy. A terraced lawn will be made around the structure.

The work of setting the jail fixtures was started today. Interior woodwork is being planned and produced at local planing mills.

The electrical and plumbing work is keeping pace with the balance of the work. The last task will be the painting, which is necessary, slow, and then will come the installation of fixtures in the various offices.

Plans are being considered to make the dedication and opening of the courthouse a civic holiday for all Jackson county.

The state is furnishing the equipment and the county paying for the oil and gasoline necessary for the work. Park equipment and men are also engaged in the work. A delay was experienced Saturday when the snow beyond Union Creek became too deep for the snow plow and it was necessary to press a snow "bulldozer" into action.

Star Favors Intelligent Wardrobe

Kay Francis, Warner Bros.-First National star, is the exponent of smart sophistication and she has an intelligent conception of fashion. In her first picture for Warner Bros., "Man Wanted," now showing at the Holly theatre, she possesses a large and striking wardrobe. Here are some of the clothes she wears in the picture.

On the left is her clever business frock. It is striped wool in shades of green. The manner in which the stripes run every possible way manages, nevertheless, to give a sense of unity and the wide suede belt adds even more strength to the costume. Note that the sleeves are very tight, with the puff coming high up on the arm.

In the center her selection of a chic daytime suit. It is of fine light weight weave in beige tweed. Her hat matches in a rough wool with a stiff brim. The unusual touch to her ensemble is the use of black accessories, which include a silver fox neck piece, black shoes and gloves.

At the extreme right Kay is modeling an evening gown in rose beige crepe. It is embroidered with tiny gold beads in a leaf design and the cut of the bodice, with a beaded peplum reaching around the back decolletage, gives a high waisted effect. The graceful godets set in at the hipline extend into a long wide train and make the garment extremely appropriate for formal wear.

CALIFORNIA HOLDS KEY TO BOURBONS CANDIDATE CHOICE

week's overwhelming victory for Smith in Massachusetts and the rather undecided Smith-Roosevelt contest in Pennsylvania.

Should the Governor lose in California, his rush to win the nomination will be almost certain of defeat, and the selection of a presidential choice will rest upon the unpredictable action of the Democratic convention.

Victory Means Much
His victory would virtually eliminate the Garner boom, answer the Smith victory in Massachusetts and send the band wagon rolling forward with odds favoring it to complete the course.

Before this contest is settled President Hoover, in the Republican camp, will have had it out squarely with the one man who seeks to dispute his otherwise clear road to renomination. In Maryland, former Senator Joseph I. France's home ground, a preferential primary today will record a popular choice between him and the president. A convention later will select delegates, not bound by the preferential vote.

Rhode Island for Smith
Also it was expected that today's Democratic convention in Rhode Island will pick 10 delegates friendly to, if not instructed for, Alfred E. Smith. The Maryland Democratic primary will lead to selection of 16 Democratic delegates for Governor Albert C. Ritchie.

Roosevelt stands to pick up tomorrow 20 to 24 convention votes in Alabama and 10 in South Dakota, both states holding primaries.

Handfuls of HARD CARBON

- and from expensive oils!

YES! The costly "luxury" oils, burdened with freight charges and extra profits, form the most carbon! 3 to 5 times as much—and the worst kind.

Flinty coke-like layers of hard carbon which build up quickly inside your engine! You pay to have such carbon "scraped out"—or if you neglect to remove it you pay more, in motor wear, in lost power, fouled plugs, a dozen ways!

Do you want to avoid hard carbon entirely? SHELL MOTOR OIL forms absolutely no hard carbon!

And, furthermore, Shell Oil Company guarantees that this amazing oil will lubricate your engine as perfectly as any oil you can buy!

Give up the doubtful "luxury" of expensive oils—save yourself money. Protect your car with Shell Motor Oil.

SOFT—BLOWS AWAY
It is easy to avoid hard carbon troubles. Shell Motor Oil forms no hard carbon—just a little fluffy soot carried harmlessly away by the exhaust gases.
