VALLEY GROWERS TO REAP BENEFIT BY S.O.S. ACTION

"The step taken by the board of directors of Southern Oregon Sales, Inc., in reducing the packing and handling charges to the lowest point possible is directly in line with the policy of the company since its inception, and is but another instance of the determination of the company to place the fruit business of this valley upon a basis where it can profitably continue," said Leonard Carpenter today. "By locating its main office in Medford it has given growers the opportunity to check up every transaction. By building its packing and pre-cooling storage plant it gave its growers the very best facilities. By maintaining its own offices in New York from which all sales are directed, it assured its growers the maximum price for Medford pears and apples," continued Mr. Carpenter. "In reducing handling charges all down the line it is again actuated by the same motives which have always been to the fore. Namely, an answer to the question: 'What will be the best thing for the growers of this valley?' Southern Oregon Sales is essentially a grower's organization. "There is no mystery about why the grower's benefit is the most important consideration for the Southern Oregon Sales. The amount that any stockholder has invested in Southern Oregon Sales is small compared with the amount which he has tied up in his orchard property. Anything which will make it possible to earn more money from his fruit will be of much greater advantage to him than any possible return from stock-holdings. "Our centralized picking plan has been voluntarily adopted by most of our growers. They see that they can easily lose many times the cost of the picking through improper handling of the fruit by crews made up of itinerants and out-of-town help. The same is true in the packing house, where local labor, which has a just pride in its fruit, is used exclusively. "The service and investigational work has been of outstanding value to growers. The cushion cleat and safe pack box were perfected by us. The new maturity tester was developed in our laboratory. We started the use of the 720 load with its consequent saving to growers. We do not use growers' money. This is held in a trust fund. "We do not buy crops, neither do we offer FOB sales unless and until sufficient deposits have been made by reliable buyers to insure that the sales have been actually guaranteed. Thus, we have never been forced to weasel with our growers. "We are not anxious to build up the amount of our outstanding value to growers. The expense of other reputable handlers, but every grower knows that unless a better control of the quality of fruit sent to eastern markets is quickly established we might as well kiss our orchards goodbye. There are not going to be less, but more pears, offered for sale, and only quality fruit from a quality district has a chance."

INGERSOLL NAMES LAND TAX SHIFT, DEPRESSION CURE

A shifting of taxation to land values was offered as a solution for the present industrial crisis and previous periods of prosperity, which have been to many people "as uncomfortable as the president" by Chas. H. Ingersoll, president of the Ingersoll Watch company for the past 30 years, in an address before the Chamber of Commerce forum at the Hotel Medford today noon. The present system of taxation, Mr. Ingersoll described to his large and enthusiastic audience, composed of representatives of all service clubs of the city and the Chamber of Commerce, as one which discourages progress and places a premium on stagnation. Through wrong taxation the people of the United States are throwing away 50 per cent of their assets, the speaker declared, and described "taxation according to ability to pay" as a reverse statement. Taxation can make or destroy industry and civilization itself, the general property tax has prohibited progress, cut in half our purchasing power, which has brought about the present condition, the speaker maintained. The internal revenue and tariff tax were also condemned as prohibitive to progress by Mr. Ingersoll. A trend toward socialism in the United States in the true sense of the word, he denied, stating that Americans are on the other hand believers in an individualistic democracy. Conditions existing today be blamed to carelessness and the "getting by" attitude which characterizes the majority of people. He emphasized the need for thoughtfulness and the acceptance of a solution which will prevent a repetition of this period. Following Mr. Ingersoll's address, W. A. DeZell of Salem, Democratic candidate for congress, was introduced and gave a short talk, reviewing in humorous style the days of '92 and '93, when the Ingersoll time-piece came into existence. One of the first watches manufactured by the company was exhibited by Mr. Ingersoll, who was introduced to the forum crowd today by A. P. Johnson, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce forum committee. Mr. Ingersoll, who has been away from his home in Orange, N. J., since January 1, on a speaking tour, will continue to Portland this evening for a luncheon address there tomorrow before the Knights of Columbus. W. S. Bolger, new Chamber of Commerce president, and Vice-Presidents J. C. Thompson and H. A. Hubbard were introduced to the membership today.
