Good looks aren't always luck

Sparkling eyes and a smooth complexion depend on good health. The beautiful woman guards against constipation. She knows this condition can cause headaches, sallow skin, dull eyes, pimples, premature aging.

Protect yourself from constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. In addition, ALL-BRAN furnishes blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much safer than pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Two tablespoonfuls daily—in serious cases, with every meal—will correct most types of constipation. If your trouble is not relieved in this way, see your doctor.

Serve as a cereal, with milk or cream, or use in cooking. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

public opinion protests, just as in the previous order of things, dry states doing their utmost to outlaw the liquor traffic had liquor imposed on them against their will. This dilemma is the crux of the opposition to the 18th amendment. In view of two very dynamic things—the commercial power of congress and our present travel and transportation facilities—cities and states can neither in law or in effect restrain the liquor traffic without nationalizing prohibition.

Bishop William F. Anderson of Boston read the Episcopal letter. Church Unity Favored

The epistle, commenting on overtures for unification with kindred denominations, said: "The attitude of our church toward Christianity has been unvarying. . . . In our organization and spirit we are well situated for unity with other Christian bodies. We strictly repudiate all conceptions of prejudice. . . . Recent years have witnessed a very evident trend toward union, particularly with denominational families. Definite results have not yet been secured, but genuine progress has been achieved in mutual understanding and good will."

This passage was generally accepted as referred to the move for the reuniting of the parent Methodist Episcopal church with the Methodist church South and the Methodist Protestant church.

On the subject of the Christian standard in industry, the letter blamed the "industrial practices of past decades" for "the deplorable conditions of today" and called for the conformation of business policies to Christian principles.

Lancaster, Hawthorne said, explained he wrote the notes to remove suspicion from Mrs. Keith-Miller and himself.

When Clarke was shot, he was collaborating with Mrs. Keith-Miller in writing her life story for publication. It was during this work that their romance began.

Sent Congratulations.

Upon their decision to marry, each wrote letters to Captain Lancaster, then in St. Louis. After telegraphing his congratulations and asking them to postpone their marriage until he might arrive to act as best man, Lancaster came here hurriedly by airplane on April 20.

Immediately after the shooting Lancaster said he and Clarke talked in their room at the Keith-Miller home for some time before they retired, and that later, when he was awakened by an explosion, he saw Clarke, wounded in the right temple, lying unconscious in bed. The author died eight hours later.

Lancaster and Mrs. Keith-Miller were held three days while police conducted their first inquiry. The fliers have been partners since a fight from England to Australia in 1927. Mrs. Keith-Miller told Hawthorne low finances caused her to

BONUS ADVOCATE TAKES WHACK AT TREASURY CHIEF

Secretary declined to comment on the provision because he would be a beneficiary under it. Treadway (R., Mass.), Doughton (D., N. C.), and Chindblom (R., Ill.) joined in behalf of the secretary.

Patman was attempting to refute the arguments of Mills and Eugene Meyer, chairman of the federal reserve board, have made against the issuance of two billion dollars of new currency to redeem the outstanding bonus certificates. He offered to modify his plan to provide for the issuance of bonds, which he said would control the expansion.

Object to Assertion. Turning then to the secretary, the Texan assailed the section of the bill which allows 18 months for revaluation of estates left between September 1, 1928, and January 1, 1932, to allow for depreciation in value due to the period of economic stress.

"When this bill was pending before the committee it was not suggested that the date set in the retroactive provision would permit the revaluation of Mr. Mills' father's estate," Patman said.

Members of the committee objected immediately to Patman's testimony. "Several witnesses urged that provision," Acting Chairman Crisp said.

"Secretary Mills said he did not care to comment because he would be a beneficiary. "When on the floor I found that 30,000 estates would be affected by this provision, I voted to strike it out of the bill." Slap at Committee. Treadway said he considered Patman "is slapping this committee very unfairly when he says we have been influenced by government officials." "That is incorrect," Treadway said. "I feel the witness ought not to make quite the statement he did." Doughton interjected that Mills' attitude "was not subject to criticism." "On the statement of the acting chairman I shall be very glad to exonerate the secretary of the treasury," Patman said. "I will withdraw the criticism."

A. B. C. CIRCULATION
—You KNOW Just How Many People Will Read Your Message

It is often a waste of money to advertise blindly . . . because of the importance of selecting the BEST media, national advertisers are depending upon AUDIT BUREAU of CIRCULATION to eliminate the guesswork from newspaper figures. H. C. Ogden, publisher of The Wheeling News and Wheeling Intelligencer of Wheeling, W. Va., in speaking of A. B. C., says: "It is undoubtedly a protection, a defense for the honest newspaper that is trying to sell honest circulation" . . . The Mail Tribune spends considerable money each year to give southern Oregon advertisers an ACCURATE, AUDITED CIRCULATION report . . . to eliminate the uncertainty of "claimed" circulation.

WARM RAIN TAKES SNOW FROM HILLS

Warm rains fell last night and this morning over the Rogue River valley, melting the snow in the hills and filling all streams and creeks to the bank top. The total rainfall since September is approximately 18 inches, about two inches over normal. Continuation of the rain for 24 hours would possibly bring near flood conditions. Late sown grain needs sunshine, but the moisture is welcomed by fruit men, as it forestalls frost. Cloudy weather until May 10 would mean the orchards have passed the frost danger period for this year.

The watermaster's office reports that the irrigation reservoirs are filling. The water table of the valley, lowered by five years of drouth is slowly rising.

FINAL TRIBUTE TO ROMA A. KOPPEL

Final tribute was paid this afternoon to the memory of Roma Addison Koppes, veteran Ohio and southern Oregon newspaperman, who died Sunday morning at his home following a week's illness, after several years of failing health.

A large concourse of friends and neighbors gathered at the Perl Funeral Home, where the Rev. Alexander Bennett of the First Methodist church officiated at the last sad rites.

Interment was in the L. O. O. F. cemetery, and the services at the grave were in charge of the Medford lodge of Elks. There was a profusion of floral offerings.
