AUXILIARY POPPY DAY PROCLAIMED BY LOCAL MAYOR

Proclamations, announcing annual poppy day in Medford and granting the American Legion Auxiliary permission to sell the memorial poppies May 20 and 21, were issued today by Mayor E. M. Wilson.
They read:
To the residents of Medford:
Poppy Day, and its veteran-made Memorial Poppies, have been recognized nationally since 1920 for their symbolism of World War sacrifice. It is fitting, therefore, that during this memorial period our citizens, deeply patriotic, should pause and reflect in honoring those whose lives were sacrificed for the principles of liberty and to give aid to the living victims of those troubled nations a new life and restraint from oppression. From these poppies, made by disabled veterans within our hospitals, may there be realized a fund that will give them renewed pleasures and happiness and indicate to them that our American citizenship is ever mindful of the service rendered.
E. M. WILSON, Mayor.

DEL RIO OBJECTS TO VALLEY PEARS TAKING HIS NAME

A note of indignation was received today by the chamber of commerce from a man, who obviously feels that his natural-born copyright is being infringed upon.
The note was accompanied by a wrapper from a Del Rio pear. The sender's name, also Del Rio, prefixed by the initial E, appeared only on the outside of the envelope. Inside was the following message: "Dear Sirs: Permit me to call your attention to the enclosed circular and kindly withdraw my name from your ads."
The letter was addressed to "Messrs. Medford Chamber of Commerce" and mailed by E. Del Rio, 3218 Snyder, Brooklyn, N. Y.
Jimmy Henry and Tim White, president as president and secretary, respectively of the chamber today, did not announce the course they will follow in answer to the request. No comment has been received by the youthful administrators from the Del Rio orchards, where the pears with the Spanish brand are grown.

NEW SHREDED BISCUIT MORE ECONOMICAL

Just One of the Improvements Developed for Kellogg's Whole Wheat Biscuits
When the Kellogg Company were perfecting their new shredded biscuit, they decided that one of the improvements would be in the size of the biscuit. Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are a new, convenient size. Two are just right for a serving and fit the cereal bowl without crumbling. Also you get 15 to the package, instead of the usual dozen.
The new Kellogg biscuits have a most delicious taste and crispness. They are "pressure-cooked"—a special process that makes the rich flour. And every biscuit is double toasted—browned on both top and bottom.
Of even greater interest is the fact that Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are so rich in food value that every package is certified by the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia. "Pressure-cooking" retains all the food value of the whole wheat, as well as making the biscuit easier to digest.
You'll find these new shredded biscuits a very welcome improvement. Delightful served with milk or cream—fruits or honey added—for breakfast, lunch, the children's supper.
Grocers say that sales are steadily increasing. Identify this improved cereal by the familiar red and green Kellogg's package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
