JUDGE CONTINUES HEARING OF PAIR

Cases of Victor O'Byrne of San Francisco and Freddie Stimson were ordered continued, when they appeared in justice court yesterday and today, and examination for Arthur Huff was set for May 5 by Judge Glenn O. Taylor.

O'Byrne, charged with disturbing the peace, pleaded guilty to the charge, and the case was continued for five days, giving him opportunity to receive some money from San Francisco, for which he wired. His physical condition makes it necessary that he return to the Veterans' hospital in San Francisco, the court said.

State police officers asked that the case of Freddie Stimson, arrested for having switched license plates, be continued for two days until further investigation was made. The vehicle did not belong to Stimson, they reported.

Young Huff was arraigned before Judge Taylor this morning, charged with receiving stolen property, and demanded an examination, which has been set for tomorrow at 10 a. m. Huff is being held in the county jail in lieu of $500 bail.

Bancroft Here

GEORGE BANCROFT (By Jack Retlaw.)

A mighty ruler of 140 millions of souls—brutal, dominating, a human tornado of power and action—yet unreservedly swayed by a mere slip of a dancer.

Such is the "Red" chief of Russia, as portrayed by that dynamic star, George Bancroft, in the mighty screen epic, "The World and the Flesh," which is showing today and tomorrow at the Fox Craterian theater.

Co-starring with him, as the "girl in the case," is beautiful Miriam Hopkins.

"The World and the Flesh" is a tremendous story of Soviet Russia. Bancroft, as the peasant—once a member of the despised "black gang"—ignorant, uncouth, a beast on two legs—attains dominance over the great country during the revolution. His very word becomes law. The great as well as the lowly tremble before him. Nothing he craves can be kept from him.

Miriam Hopkins, as the gorgeous dancer, attracts him. He must have her. Nothing must interfere.

For tense drama, smashing action and byronic romance, this picture stands as one of the season's outstanding productions.

Several added attractions of a highly entertaining caliber will also be presented on this program. It's surely worth traveling miles to see and hear.

A merchandise shoot is announced for Sunday by the Medford Gun club, to be held at the Medford airport grounds, commencing at 10:30 a. m.

Ham, bacon and sugar will be awarded to high guns in each class, each event. Two classes if 20 entries or less; three classes if 20 entries. Lewis class system to be used. There will be three prizes for every five entries and the shot off in the next event until a winner is decided. Ties in the last event will be decided by reverse score system. Each shooter entering the ham optional in two or more events will receive a prize.

GARNER CAPTURES CALIFORNIA VOTES IN DEM CONCLAVE

gation has remained by its candidate until he released it.

President Hoover received a heavier vote, on the face of the same returns, in the uncounted Republican preference than the uncounted delegation pledged to him in 1928 polled in the presidential primary of that year. Leaders had worked to amass a big vote to encourage the president.

The returns from 8,660 complete precincts gave the Hoover delegation 565,717. In 1928 the highest vote received by any Hoover delegate was approximately 567,000 and this figure will be passed by many thousands when the complete vote of this year's primary is counted.

A referendum proposing control of the state's oil resources by a commission which would regulate production and storage went down under an avalanche of opposing votes. The count in 7,170 precincts was 832,205 against and 236,190 in favor of it. A referendum measure to prohibit the leasing of state owned tidelands for oil and mineral development seemed headed for victory, the vote being 391,991 for and 407,834 against.

Final practises are being conducted at the senior high school for the presentation of the senior class play.
