at the British consulate and then the document was taken to the hospital where Japan's representatives are recovering from wounds inflicted last week by an assassin. The Chinese spokesman signed at his home.

The terms of the peace were not immediately made public, but an unofficial version indicated that it was a compromise bridging the differences which deadlocked the peace parley for a month or more.

The Chinese were understood to have won their demand that Japanese troops retire from their present positions into the international settlement. The Japanese obtained an agreement that some of their soldiers remain in the vicinity of Hongkew and Woosung.

It appeared also that Japan had succeeded in avoiding a definite time limit for withdrawal of her troops. Here representatives refused to accept such a condition during all the negotiations. At the same time, however, it was understood that the retirement would begin within a week, and would be completed within a month.

Records Unmarred At the same time this action saved the navy men from having their service records marred by imprisonment. Captain Ward Wortman, Masie's commander, said federal action would have been necessary to clear their records had they actually been committed to prison, even for an hour. Captain Wortman said Masie, Jones and Lord would retain their status in the navy.

The commutation, however, did not constitute a pardon and did not restore to the four their civil rights. Attorney General Hewitt said, but Clarence Darrow, veteran chief of defense counsel, said he thought "federal action might be taken to restore them. We are satisfied."

Outright Pardon Sought Hewitt said he had not determined whether they could be pardoned by the president but added that such action would be "an extraordinary procedure." A move for an outright pardon was begun by a group of citizens.

In commuting the sentence Governor Judd announced he had acted upon the petition of the four defendants and their counsel asking executive clemency. The governor also made public a petition bearing the names of 104 members of congress asking for an unconditional pardon for the four. The name of Representative Thatcher of Kentucky, Masie's native state, headed the signatures.

Prices Record-breaking Low!

Never in Goodyear experience—never in all tire history—have the prices of Goodyear Tires been as low as they are today.

Don't try to guess them by what you last paid for tires. They're 50% lower than they were five years ago—30% lower than in 1929. And your money today buys the handsomest, toughest, longest-wearing Goodyear All-Weather ever built. Think of that, and ask yourself: Why buy any second-choice tire when first-choice costs no more!

Goodyear puts the big, thick, deep-cut, sure-gripping blocks of the All-Weather Tread.

MARK this difference well—for it can mean to you the choice between coasting helplessly into an accident—or stopping safely when you want brakes and tires to grip tight and hold fast.

This year, Goodyear has made the world's best known safety tread even better, by combining safety and silence in the new Noiseless Non-Skid All-Weather Tread.

Don't let anybody kid you. If you want safety in the tires you buy, get safety you can see.

Buy Goodyear Tires with the All-Weather Tread—they have traction in the tread-center, where it belongs!

Why buy a second-choice tire when FIRST-choice costs no more?

Look at the center of the tread, where it contacts the road.

That is where other tires put continuous sled-runner ribs of rubber. That is where
