Phoenix

PHOENIX, May 19. — (Spl.) — Mrs. W. D. Barnes' cousin and her daughter, Mrs. Marguerite Wyman, and Miss Betty Wyman, from Wyoming, en route to San Francisco, spent a couple of days this week at the Barnes home. Sunday they accompanied the Barnes family to Crater lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Daugherty and family motored to Grants Pass Sunday to view the large pansy fields.

Mrs. Vida Steel and Miss Ruth York were dinner guests at the Fred Daugherty home Friday evening. Mrs. Steel and Miss York are teachers in the Independence school.

Communications

Mr. Phipps Answered.

To the Editor:

In reply to the letter by W. E. Phipps in your paper of May 15th, in which he complains that I am opposing his candidacy for county judge, and accuses me of making a house-to-house canvass against him for a personal reason: I wish to remind Mr. Phipps that I have the right to support anyone I think fit to fill any position or office within the gift of the people, and to oppose anyone I think unfit. And furthermore, I wish to state that I have made no house-to-house canvass for or against any candidate for the coming election.

As to the personal reason, if Mr. Phipps' memory is in as healthy condition as his imagination, he is perfectly aware of what that is, and it has nothing to do with teaching children how to plant potatoes.

On one occasion I went with a delegation of the Jackson County Public Health association to a meeting of the school board, to ask said board to allow the Oregon State Anti-Tuberculosis association to give a three months demonstration of school nursing under a competent, qualified and experienced nurse; the expenses, including salary, trasportation, etc., to be borne by the O. A. T. B. A. Mr. Phipps, who was then chairman of the board, opposed the matter strenuously, and succeeded in defeating it for the time being, but through the efforts of Dr. Lockwood, who was at that time city physician of Medford, the nurse was installed and made so successful a demonstration that a county nurse was employed, and the work is still going on, in spite of Mr. Phipps.

MRS. ROSE SCHEFFELIN.
Medford, May 19.

Grange Not Indorsing.

To the Editor:

So many people are asking who the Grange is supporting for this and that office that I am asking for space to explain this organization's attitude toward aspirants for public office.

A great many people on the outside seem to think that the Grange, among other things, is purposely grinding out a steady stream of candidates.

Such is far from the truth.

If one would stop and think he would know that an organization engaged in this kind of business would put forth their strongest men and would bring out two or three men for the same office.

I might mention here that among all the "Grange" candidates for county office not one holds an office in the local Granges.

The Grange does not indorse candidates and its members will support outside men just as readily if they believe them worthy and well qualified.

Strange as it may seem to some the Grange did not indorse Governor Meier, but he, as others have done, indorsed Grange policies.

The Grange is an organization of thinking people who devote much of their time to trying to better world conditions both economically and socially and its members will vote for sincere, thinking people who are willing to study problems with this same end in view.

People who are industrious, with good habits, morals and high ideals who have a program in mind and are not afraid to say so.

Grangers are not often fooled by the office seekers' campaign thunder, but look up his record to see how he has lived in the past and to see, if by any chance, he is playing the part of the small boy before Christmas.

It is a Grange belief that those holding office for any length of time should have progressed with their work to the extent that they can now conduct the office for less expense for amount of work done than when they first assumed its duties.

With the modern machinery and methods brought into use during the last few years all offices should have made a good showing along this line.

The Grange being a non-partisan organization does not indorse candidates or take part in any political campaigns although many of its individual members do.

As an organization it endeavors to get its members to study measures, candidates, familiarize themselves with the ballot and to register and vote.

R. E. NEALON,
Jackson County Grange Deputy.

Steler Is Endorsed

To the Editor:

Senator Frederick Steiwer, who had over a year's service in France, and who served on five battle fronts during the world war, is entitled on his record in the U. S. senate to the whole-hearted support of every veteran of the world war or the Spanish-American war. Senator Steiwer has worked faithfully in behalf of his own comrades of the world war, and the veterans of other wars. He introduced the bill for the new $125,000 administration building at the Portland veterans' hospital; helped secure for Oregon the northwest soldiers' home; supported the 50 per cent loans on adjusted compensation certificates that have already brought into Oregon over $12,000,000; was author of the amendment preventing the comptroller from refusing payment on claims approved under the World War Veterans' act; has personally presented before the veterans' bureau the claims of more than 1000 Oregon veterans, and has made contacts in the bureau that are invaluable to the ex-service men and women of this state; helped enact the Disabled Officers' Retirement bill; voted to override the president's veto of the bill increasing Spanish-American war veterans' pensions; supported the hospitalization programs of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled War Veterans. He has introduced bills for Indian war pensions and supported extension of time for applying for adjusted compensation. He is the consistent opponent of needy clauses, paupers' oaths, oaths of all proposals in every form for the humiliation of American war veterans. He favors and will vote for full and immediate payment of adjusted compensation certificates.

COL. W. H. PAINE,
Spanish War Veterans.
CARL Y. TENGWALD,
World War Veteran.

Speaker of House Endorses Day.

To the Editor:

Having served in the last session of the Oregon legislature with Honorable Earl B. Day, may I say that I am very much pleased to know that he has consented to be a candidate again for the 1933 legislative session.

Although Mr. Day was a new member during the last session of the house of representatives, he soon won the esteem and confidence of all the people of his district and the state. Mr. Day was one of the hardest workers in the house; carried out satisfactorily many important and difficult assignments, and by his sincerity and honesty helped to pass many good laws and defeat a number of bad bills.

It is my firm conviction that men of the character, intelligence and standing of Mr. Day should be retained in the legislature, particularly during these trying times, and with the experience gained in the last session should be one of the leaders in the house to bring about necessary legislation for the relief of the tax payer and for the welfare of the people of Oregon.

Sincerely yours,
FRANK J. LONERGAN.
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
Portland, May 18.

Brisbane's Today

that of the Lindbergh child, but generally indifference and inefficiency make crime a safe, profitable pursuit in this country.

New York city's building strike, costing workers close to half a million dollars a day, is not quite settled. The men resist, naturally, an arrangement that reduces those earning $15.40 a day to $12 a day, and those receiving $13.20 a day to $10 a day. That is real depression for skilled mechanics.

On the other hand, that amount of actual cash for eight hours' work would seem like the height of prosperity to many of the country's 20,000,000 farmers.

Hawley To Have Picture Painted

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—Representative Willis G. Hawley of Oregon is going to have his portrait painted.

As former Republican chairman of the house ways and means committee and sponsor of the Hawley-Smoot tariff, his picture in oils will hang with those of other past chairmen on the walls of the committee room.

CAMPAIGN STAFF FOR G. O. P. HOLDS PUZZLING ANGLES

Acute Stage Near As Disagreement Over Selection of High Command Widens —Fess Slated to Retire

By BYRON PRICE
Chief of Bureau, the Associated Press, Washington

Republican disagreements over selection of a high command for the coming campaign are approaching an acute stage.

In the immediate foreground of the party reorganization problem are three primary difficulties—a shortage of campaign funds, the threat on an insurgent bolt and the prohibition issue.

If the G. O. P. were advertising in the want ad column the desired qualifications for a national chairman would read something like this:

Wanted — A man who is close enough to business to be able to fill up the campaign chest; who is not sufficiently close to business to arouse further antagonism in the liberal wing of the party; and whose views on prohibition will not handicap him in placating either wets or drys.

That is a large order. To date no applicant has quite come up to specifications.

The decision, of course, rests with President Hoover. He seems to remain thoroughly undecided as he listens almost daily to a wide variety of advice.

He probably will wait until after the June convention to make up his mind, but it is a question whether the intervening weeks will simplify his problem.

Chance for Hurley Seen

It became apparent some time ago that the present chairman, Senator Simeon D. Fess, was slated for retirement.

Fess' militant stand for prohibition has stirred insistent protests from moist-to-wet party leaders. Conciliation, a quality needed in bounteous measure by any chairman is not the long suit of this Ohio college professor.

For a long time it appeared that another Ohioan, Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, was certain to succeed to the chairmanship. But he is strongly suspected of leaning almost as much toward the wets as Fess does toward the drys, and besides he is not very anxious to give up his cabinet post.

Patrick Hurley of Oklahoma, the secretary of war, would take the job if it were offered to him, and several influential Republicans have asked the president to choose him. He has a chance.

Silas Strawn of Illinois, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, is talked about among those who emphasize the need for a chairman who could collect contributions from business.

There is talk, too, of Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News and head of the president's anti-hoarding committee.

Every now and then somebody suggests it would be wise to make special appeal to the followers of Calvin Coolidge by giving the chairmanship to Coolidge's 1924 manager, William M. Butler of Massachusetts.

It is taken for granted that either Coolidge or Charles G. Dawes could have the place if he wanted it, but neither does.

Appeal to Insurgents

The chairmanship itself is not the sole consideration. On down the line Mr. Hoover and his group of advisers will seek a setup of party officials likely to command the maximum support from the rank and file.

Robert H. Lucas of Kentucky, a sort of second in command with the title of executive secretary, bitterly antagonized the western insurgents by his activity in the anti-Norris campaign in Nebraska. The general assumption is that he will resign after the convention.

Steps have been taken already to appeal to the insurgent bloc. Something of the kind clearly was in mind when Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, McNary-Haugenite, Lowden supporter in '28 and now senatorial colleague of Smith W. Brookhart, was chosen keynoter of the Chicago convention.

There will be more of the same hereafter.

A Wet-Dry Problem

Perhaps the biggest problem of all is to organize a general staff which can keep the normal party support in line on prohibition.

In New York, for instance, the organized drys are taking steps already to put on the ballot an independent slate of presidential electors.

There is food for thought in this, particularly when it is recalled that years ago, with the active support of the organized drys, Mr. Hoover carried New York just by an eyelash.

SPRECKLES JEWEL THIEF IN BRAZIL

HILLSBORO, Ore., May 18.—(AP)—Captain William Berrett, who was sought 11 years ago in connection with the disappearance of $125,000 in jewelry belonging to Mrs. John D. Spreckels, Jr., of San Francisco, is reported in word received here to be living in Pernambuco, Brazil. He disappeared before the warrant charging him with theft could be served. The loss of the jewels of the daughter-in-law of John D. Spreckels, sugar king, caused an international sensation.
