Charles Bickford In Hit At Holly An exciting drama which moves with the speed of a trip-hammer is now showing at the Holly theatre.

Comedy Comes To Craterian Screen (By Jack Retlaw) The comedy treat of the entire year is in store for Fox Craterian theatre patrons tomorrow and Saturday, when little Jackie Cooper and his two most popular stars of their kind on the screen, appear in that smashing success, "When a Feller Needs a Friend."

Those who remember seeing Jackie Cooper in "Skippy" and "The Champ" can really appreciate the statement that "When a Feller Needs a Friend" is by far finer in every way than anything he has hitherto appear as a star.

Of course Chic Sale needs no introduction either. After such astounding hits as "The Expert" and other rib-tickling amuses, he emerges this time in the top portrayal of his entire career.

The story of "When a Feller Needs a Friend" is adapted from William Johnston's "Limpy," and is laid in a small, mid-western town. Jackie as the little crippled boy, and Chic Sale as "Uncle Jonas," driver of the town's obsolete horse car, and crony of the boy, portray not only marvelous roles, but their poignancy as well as a rib-tickling humor prove riotous indeed.

Others in the cast include Ralph Graves, Dorothy Peterson, Andy Shuford, Helen Parrish, Donald Haines and others.

An important additional attraction on this program is the roaring Laurel and Hardy comedy wow, "The Champ" . . . and a knockout of laughter.

Mack Lillard, promoter for two years of ring events in Marshfield, has moved to this city and with the permission of the boxing commission will stage events in Medford in the near future.

Herb Owen, local promoter, has relinquished his right to present boxing events, but will continue with his program of wrestling matches.

Lillard also plans to open a gymnasium in Medford as soon as quarters can be obtained. He formerly operated the White House gym in Portland.

Chas. P. Talent, candidate for Sheriff, will speak over KMED tonight at 7:45, and answer some important questions brought before him during the campaign. (Paid adv.)

CHAMBER TO PUBLISH RECREATIONAL FOLDER ON SOUTHERN OREGON

Plans to proceed immediately with publication of the recreational folder showing the opportunities offered vacationists in southern Oregon, were completed last night at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce publicity committee. The Jackson county booklet was also discussed by the committee.

Lee Bishop and Jack Retlaw were appointed to compose a special committee to arrange material for the recreational folder. The cover will display scenes of Crater Lake and fishing in the Rogue. It is being designed by L. M. Welsenberger of Foster & Kleiser. It will be composed of eight pages, carrying a map of southern Oregon, photographs of scenic and recreational spots for which this section is famed, and information planned to carry the story of southern Oregon to the public. The committee expects to publish 25,000 copies of the folder, 10,000 to
