Lou Finney Garners Eight Hits in Double Header—Stars Lead League by Slight Margin Over L. A.

(By the Associated Press)

Games over the week-end left Hollywood leading the coast league by a margin of two games over Los Angeles.

Hollywood has a 5 to 2 lead in the series, with a Memorial day double-header today. The teams took turns shutting each other out as they divided two Sunday games, the Stars blanking the Angels 7 to 0 in the opener, and the Angels coming back to win 5 to 0 in the second game.

In the first game Hollywood out-hit the Angels 13 to 2. Each team got six safe hits in the second game, but Hollywood made three errors, which figured in the scoring of four of Los Angeles' runs.

Ducks Take Two

Sacramento lost both games to Portland, and slipped down another notch on the percentage ladder. The scores were 7 to 4 and 5 to 1. In the second game Jimmy Deshawn, who recently came to the Senators from the Philadelphia Athletics, made his coast league debut. He exhibited a powerful fast ball, but the batting of Lou Finney, who got eight hits in the two games, including a homer off Deshawn with two men on, proved the new-comer's undoing.

The Seals put a crimp in the Mission's winning streak by taking two Sunday games 4 to 2 and 6 to 0, evening the series at three all. They play a double header today. Both the Mission scores in the morning game were home runs, by Bud Hately, left fielder.

Oaks Trim Seattle

A double victory over Seattle gave Oakland a five to two edge on the series. The visitors took the opener 5 to 3, and the seven-inning nightcap 10 to 7. George Burns, neaveing hitting Seattle first baseman, kept up his slugging streak, getting a double and two singles in seven times at bat.

MARTIN TO STEAL ONLY ON SIGNALS, CARD PILOT SAYS

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—The "wild horse of the Oases" isn't going to run wild on the base paths this season.

While Manager Gabby Street has a lot of respect for Pepper Martin's speed, which virtually stole a world title for the St. Louis Cardinals last fall, he has let it be known this speed will be controlled and directed.

"Martin is a good base runner," the old sergeant said as he directed the champions workouts here, "but he'll steal only on signals."

"I want to help him all I can and I'll give him every opportunity to steal a base, but the fundamental object of this ball club is to win games, and stolen bases won't butter any parsnips for us unless we are winning."

Contending it would be "folly" to "take the blanket off" Pepper and let him run his head off, Gabby pointed out that there are other fast and more experienced base runners on the Cardinal club.

"Martin is still a young ball player," is the way the sergeant put it, "with-out the judgment of Frisch or some of the older players. And even the older ones steal on signal."

Gabby's style of campaigning for the National league pennant will be virtually the same as last year, he hinted, stressing smart base running as an essential.

"Like the sacrifice and the squeeze play and the hit-and-run," he explained, "and these worked fine for us last season."

Street has hopes that Joel Hunt, outfield recruit, will turn out to be another fly chaser who will make a reputation for himself by speed on the bases.

BASEBALL GAMES POSTPONED WEEK

Sunday's heavy downpour washed out the double-header baseball game scheduled at the fairgrounds between Grants Pass and Medford and Jacksonville and Talent but valley league officials declared today that tickets sold for the games will be honored next Sunday when the same twin-bill has been scheduled.

The double-header affair has caused considerable enthusiasm among the fans as it will give an opportunity to see all the teams of the league in action on the same card.

AMERICAN WOMEN BOW TO BRITISH GOLFING FORCES

SAUNTON, Eng., May 30.—(AP)—The American forces in the British women's golf championship, seven strong when they started out this morning in quest of the prize 20 American women has won, had been reduced to only three when the first round of match play was completed.

Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, five times American champion, Virginia Van Wie and Mrs. Leona Cheney remained to carry on, but Helen Hicks, the American champion, Maureen Orcutt, tournament medalist, Mrs. Harley Higbie and Mrs. Opal Hill all were eliminated.

Mrs. Vare and Miss Van Wie won easily over little known opponents but Mrs. Cheney had to wage an uphill struggle to defeat Doris Chambers, British champion in 1923, on the 18th hole.

The Americans were not the only favored players to fall, Diana Fishwick, champion in 1930, bowing to Susie Tohurst, of Australia, by one up in 19 holes.

The American results: Mrs. Vare defeated Mrs. George Coats, England, 5 and 3. Miss Van Wie defeated Jean McCulloch, Scotland, 8 and 4. Mrs. Cheney defeated Doris Chambers, England, one up. Mrs. Harley Higbie lost to Mrs. B. Watson, Scotland, six and four. Maureen Orcutt lost to Jean Hamilton, England, 2 and 1. Helen Hicks lost to Doris Park, Scotland, 3 and 2. Mrs. Opal Hill lost to Mrs. J. H. Todd, 2 and 1. Enid Wilson, defending champion, defeated Lulu Edmond, seven and six.

Police who have been searching for John Cook, former husband of the woman, had found no trace of him today. Witnesses who accused him of the shooting, said he fled when Burton fell with two bullets in his body.

Due to Burton's precarious condition physicians have been unable to remove the bullets.

DAZZY WINS ONE FROM BRAVES IN THIRD ATTEMPT

Veteran Fireball Hurler Breaks Jinx When Two-Run Rally Aids Fine Slab Work — Twin Bills Split

By HERBERT W. BARKER (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Dazzy Vance finally has won himself a ball game from the Boston Braves, perhaps because Bill McKechnie so far forgot himself as to start someone besides young Bob Brown against the veteran speedball artist of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Dazzler, beaten twice by the Braves, with Brown pitching against him, finally broke the jinx yesterday, winning a 3-2 decision in the second game of a double-header. Vance allowed only three hits and fanned nine, but it took a two-run rally in the ninth to save him.

Pinch Hit Helps

Pinch hitter Bruce Caldwell's single drove in the tying run, and Lefty O'Doul drove in the winning tally with another. The Braves had won the first game, 10-6, with an eight-run drive in the second inning. Brown received credit for this victory, although he was so wild he had to be relieved by Huck Betts in the ninth.

All other National league teams played doubleheaders and split them, leaving the eight clubs in the same relative positions they occupied before the day's firing started.

Cubs and Pirates Split.

The league leading Chicago Cubs broke Pittsburgh's five-game winning streak behind Pat Malone in the first game, 7-3, but the Pirates won the second, 2-0, behind Glenn Sporn's effective hurling. Rogers Hornsby played the outfield for the Cubs in both games and got two hits.

After Bill Hallahan had pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-0 shutout victory in the opener, the Cincinnati Reds came back to win the nightcap, 3-2, behind the winning run coming across in the 11th on two singles and a sacrifice. The New York Giants spotted the Phillies seven runs and then beat them, 10-8 in their slugging opener, but failed to fathom Jim Elliott's slants in the second game and succumbed, 4-3.

Yanks Hit Lead

In the American league the New York Yankees stretched their lead to three games by beating Washington, 11-8, as Babe Ruth hit his 14th home run. Vernon Gomez staggered through the entire game to hang up his eighth victory.

Detroit strengthened its hold on third place with a 4-3 triumph over the Chicago White Sox, Luke Appling's fumble in the seventh paying the way for the Tigers' winning run. Bill Rogell, Tiger shortstop, had a busy day afield, accepting 16 chances.

The St. Louis Browns, scoring seven runs in the eighth, trounced Cleveland, 12-9, in the first game, but could do little with Mel Harder in the second and the Indians won, 2-1.

Bob Weiland outpitched three rivals as the Boston Red Sox whipped the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-4, in the first game, but Rube Walberg shut them out with four hits in the second, 3-0. Jimmie Fox clouted his 18th homer in the opener.

STATES HAVING FAVORITE SONS CONVENTION KEY

Roosevelt's Fate in Race for Democratic Nomination Lies in Hands of Delegates From Six States

By BYRON PRICE Chief of Bureau, the Associated Press, Washington

The Democrats have arrived at a stage in their presidential tug-of-war where almost everything from now on depends on the six state delegations who will go to Chicago pledged to favorite sons.

If all, or nearly all, of them stand fast, Governor Roosevelt certainly will be defeated. If a considerable bloc of them stampe to him, he surely will be nominated.

The power of this group has been increased immeasurably by the Roosevelt defeats in Massachusetts and California.

Roosevelt no longer can expect to win without a struggle in the convention itself. He no longer can expect a sufficient number of recruits from the ranks of his major opponents; the battle has grown too bitter for that: The winning votes must come, if they come at all, from the favorite son states.

This means that from now until the roll calls are in progress at Chicago, the delegations from Illinois, Ohio, Missouri, Maryland, Oklahoma and Virginia will come under increasing pressure.

They will be told on the one hand that if they hold out their particular candidate may emerge the winner after the deadlock. They will be told on the other hand that unless they go to Roosevelt quickly, they may miss the bandwagon.

They are between the millstones.

How It Stands

Stated mathematically, the situation figures out like this:

Alfred E. Smith generally is conceded somewhere between 100 and 200 delegates. These delegates are almost solidly anti-Roosevelt, first and probably last.

The 44 won by John N. Garner in California were elected after a recent sentiment breeding campaign. The possibility that Garner's own state of Texas will switch its 45 to Roosevelt appears much more remote now that California has joined the Garner movement.

Taking the Smith and Garner vote combined, here are, say, 275 on whom Roosevelt could not safely count at any time. It takes 110 more than this, or 385, to block a nomination.

Chas. Roosevelt prevent 110 — or roughly half — of the 308 favorite son votes from going into solid combination with the Smith and Garner forces against him? That is the whole question.

Roosevelt's Claim

The Roosevelt claim of victory on an early ballot rests today on a supposition that considerably more than half of the 208 favorite son votes will switch without much delay to the Roosevelt column.

These suppositions—which have had no confirmation except from Roosevelt sources—are that Missouri will soon quit James A. Reed and give her entire 36 to Roosevelt; that the Illinois delegation will split away from J. A. P. Hamilton, Lewis and Roosevelt will get at least 30 of the 58; that after about four ballots, 30 or more of the Ohio delegation of 52 will leave George White for Roosevelt; that William H. Murray cannot control his Oklahoma delegation, but will lose most of the 22 to Roosevelt; and that neither Governor Ritchie of Maryland nor former Governor Byrd of Virginia will be disposed to hold out their respective delegations to the point of precipitating a party-rocking deadlock.

Harmony a Factor

However great his handicaps, it must be remembered that several important factors are fighting on the side of Governor Roosevelt.

He has no nationally strong candidate against him. The party as a whole is anxious for harmony this year and dreads a deadlock. And the anti-Roosevelt forces are made up of such diverse elements that a harmonious unity of command on the convention floor will be extremely difficult to achieve.

Tips on CONTRACT

PROFIT IN PASSING.

By Tom O'Neil.

At times the word "pass" is very profitable in contract. Particularly is this so when one has a hand worth an original bid or almost so and one's partner has made an in-formatory double of an original bid by a vulnerable opponent.

Three honor tricks are ordinarily necessary for a takeout double. Realizing that the doubler's partner can readily decide from his own hand whether a profitable penalty is possible or whether a game contract is better.

The strength pass, instead of a bid of one's best suit in re-ponse to a double by partner, often adds greatly to one's score even when an opponent has made a bid of only one.

In illustration is a hand on which Miss Marie Brady passed at the Tower club, New York, and thereby caused vulnerable opponents to be penalized 1400 points. She and partner could easily have won game themselves, but the greatest count possible would have been less than the penalty imposed on the opposition. The hand:

DEALER--NORTH		WEST		EAST		SOUTH
♠	10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♠	4 3 2	♠	10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♠	4 3 2
♥	10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♥	4 3 2	♥	10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♥	4 3 2
♦	10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♦	4 3 2	♦	10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♦	4 3 2
♣	10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♣	4 3 2	♣	10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♣	4 3 2

North's opening bid of a no trump was justified. Had east overcalled with two spades east and west would have reached a successful game contract. But east doubled for a take-out. South passed. Now Miss Brady reflected. Her own holdings made her conclude that if her partner's double was sound, south had no strength at all. She passed.

On a bid of one north and south took only three tricks, the ace and queen of diamonds and queen of clubs, and were set four doubled and vulnerable.

East, desiring the lead to come up to him, led a club in order to look the dummy over and get rid of the lead himself.

West took the first trick and immediately led her highest spade toward the weakness in dummy. The nine held the trick. Then the four of spades put east in to make four more spade tricks.

When spades were run out a lead of another club put west in to lead hearts through north's king. The last three tricks went to declarer.
