

ANNA RATH BRIDE FIRST WEDDING AT NEW COURT HOUSE

The steps of the new Jackson county courthouse, nearing completion on Main and Oakdale streets, were the scene last evening of the marriage of Anna E. Rath, 53, of Oregon City, and Orion McDonald, 58, this city—the first couple to be wed at the new structure, which if it upholds the reputation of its predecessor, will see hundreds of couples enter the bonds of matrimony in the years to come. The marriage service, the third for bride and the third for groom, was read by Rev. Orin R. Kring, pastor of the Medford Spiritual Science church.

As soon as the 5 o'clock whistle blew, marking an end to the hurried pounding of hammers for the day, the wedding party assembled. The bride, an ordained minister in the Spiritual Science church in Oregon City, where she has been teacher and leader for the past 30 years, was attired in white fur jacket, beige afternoon dress and white accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and wore about her throat a large gold cross and chain. Immediate friends of the couple stood with them upon the courthouse steps, while a number of workmen formed an audience in the courtyard, facing the city park. The plasterers in white uniforms stood on the rafters above the entrance.

Several photographs were taken during the service by one of the courthouse construction officials, and later as the party progressed to the street to be whisked away in a waiting auto.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McDonald are well known in this city through their associations with church work. The bride, the daughter of Thos. J. Parish of Oregon City, has been visiting here for the past three weeks.

Mr. McDonald, retired lumberman, is the son of Angus McDonald of this city, where he has made his home for many years. They plan to leave soon for the latter place.

NO HURRY SEEN IN FOREST FIRE WORK

Wet conditions in the timber, and delay of crews in making appropriations for forest service work, are delaying seasonal operations. The appropriation, totalling between $35,000 and $40,000 will be passed and approved ere the August budget adjourns, in the near future. The funds will be expended in maintenance of the service, trails, and forest fire fighting.

No lookouts have been detailed to posts, owing to the fact that the fire danger is nil, owing to the rain and snow soaked condition of the forests. It is estimated that six weeks of sunshine will be needed to thoroughly dry out the woods. In the meantime, weeds and other foliage is growing fast. Last year at this time, all look-out stations were manned, and the fire danger was real.

Under a new regulation, the forest service this year will pay 20 cents an hour instead of 30 cents as last year. A state law this year provides that when a forest fire occurs on private owned land, half the cost of fighting it be assessed on the taxes of the owner.

TUMY'S 67 BEST FOR QUALIFYING

Earl Tummy forged to the fore yesterday in the qualifying play for the president's cup at the Rogue Valley Golf club by turning in a card which read 67 net. All members in good standing are urged to turn in scores by Thursday to qualify for the championship tourney. The best 32 finishers will go into the match play Saturday under three-quarters handicap.

In addition to Tummy's low score, other members turned in cards as follows: E. C. Solinsky, Ted Fish, Bayard Getchell and C. C. Bogue, 72; Nick Carter, Cain Robinson, 73; Dr. E. R. Durno, Harry Rosenberger, 74; Chas. Strang, Harold Johnson, 75; D. G. Tyree, Ralph Virden, D. B. Grey, 77; Dr. R. G. Green, Grover Tyler, 78; A. B. Cunningham, 79; L. P. Wilcox, W. P. Biddle, H. R. Sinclair, 80; Tod Porter, 82; R. G. Bardwell, 85.

H. Chandler Egan is showing former form in recent rounds, carding two rounds in 69 last week and one in 67. His scores included 15 pars and three birdies.

SPARROW FAMILY IN COURT HOUSE NEST

In an electrical outlet, high in the wall of the "public space" room at the new courthouse, is a little nest of straw and string, which houses four tiny baby sparrows. Workmen have discovered—and the nest will not be disturbed until the fledglings are able to "shift for themselves." Harold Prosser, superintendent of construction said yesterday.

The large windows in the room, facing on Oakdale, serve as an entrance-way for the mother to bring food to the babies, who as yet have not ventured from the chimney-like space.

FIND JAY'S NEST IN PARK HEMLOCK

CRATER LAKE NATIONAL PARK, June 7.—(Sp.)—The first nest of the "camp robber" or Oregon jay on record was accidentally found in Crater Lake national park this week, well hidden in the boughs of a hemlock tree. Although the birds are numerous in the park, efforts in the past to locate nests for study purposes have been unavailing due to the extreme caution the birds exercise in their location.

So rarely are they found that an eastern ornithological society has posted an award of $100 for the location of such nest. Men engaged in pine beetle control work were responsible for the discovery while working between Anna Springs ranger station and the Medford park entrance. The nest was in a heavily limbed hemlock tree approximately eight feet above the ground and was so thoroughly hidden it would have never been found had its location not been betrayed by the constant chirping of the mother bird.

COLLEGE MERGER TITLE MISLEADING

SALEM, June 7.—(AP)—Appeal from the ballot title of the proposed initiative measure providing for the physical consolidation of the state's higher institutions of learning was filed with the Oregon supreme court today. Attorney Custer Ross of Salem filed the action naming C. W. Keene of Silverton as plaintiff and state officials as defendants. The appeal is from the title affixed some time ago by the attorney general. The complaint asserts the ballot title is unfair and misleading.

ROCKEFELLER FOR LEGAL LIQUOR TO CURB USE, CRIME

time ought to be given before repeal became effective to permit the states to insure control of the liquor traffic. He declared, however, that he did not favor coupling repeal with an alternate measure offered as a substitute because it would be difficult for people to agree and "unlikely that any one method will fit the entire nation."

Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president of the W.C.T.U., commenting on the letter, asked: "Will people who have refused to obey the prohibition law agree to obey the restrictions that must of necessity be a part of any other law?"

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, said the amendment had been successful and that "certainly we do not propose to exchange what we have—far better than the legalized traffic and saloon of the old days—for something that is unformulated and untried."

Dr. D. Leigh Colvin, chairman of the Prohibition National committee, declaring Rockefeller made "wild statements," said government figures show that "the source of liquor supply is not over 35 per cent what it was before" and that crime has decreased.

Dr. Butler, on the other hand, hailed Mr. Rockefeller's support and said it would have "a very great influence in the public opinion of the country," and Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, chairman of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, praised the oil man for his "courage."

Mr. Rockefeller was credited with a quiet, but effective part in the movement which culminated in adoption of the prohibition amendment. Though he was never a spectacular propagandist for prohibition, the dry forces, and particularly the Anti-Saloon league, regarded him as one of their greatest pillars.

There appears to be no record of any contributions by him to the Anti-Saloon league after 1925. It was at about that time that he broke with the organization as result of irregularities exposed in the prosecution and conviction of William H. Anderson, New York state superintendent.

Anderson served a prison term in 1924 for third degree forgery and at that time Mr. Rockefeller demanded a full inquiry into the affairs of the league and in this connection he came to the support of Raymond D. Pesdick, who was in controversy with Anderson.
