

LIQUOR QUESTION HAS FRONT SEAT AT CONVENTIONS

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., speaking at Fairfield, Ia., criticized "the influence that surround Mr. Rockefeller." "Living as he does where literally east's seat is, in the home city of Alfred E. Smith, of Jimmy Walker and of the Tammany Tiger," was the way the bishop described it.

John R. Mott, president of the International Missionary Council and of the World's Alliance of the Y. M. C. A., was quoted today in a special cable to the New York Times from London as saying he had come to favor reestablishment of the prohibition question to the people of the United States, if some way could be found to keep the matter clear of partisan politics.

Results Varied
The Times cable said that Dr. Mott still believed the net results of the dry experiment have been good for the nation as a whole, but admitted they have been "deplorable" in some sections.

Of more concern to politicians of both parties than the spoken opinions of individuals, however, were developments in states where prohibition has been an issue at the polls. Of particular pertinence was the emphasis prohibition is receiving in parts of the south long listed as dry.

At Baton Rouge, the Louisiana legislature gave final approval yesterday to a referendum on repeal or modification of the 18th amendment. The state senate also approved a resolution for submitting repeal of the state enforcement law to the voters. There was little opposition to either measure.

Ruth Owen Beaten by Wet
In the fourth Florida congressional district Mark Wilson, who bid for nomination in Tuesday's Democratic primary on a platform advocating repeal, maintained a 5000 vote lead over Representative Ruth Bryan Owen. Mrs. Owen, whose father, William Jennings Bryan, was one of Democracy's outstanding advocates of prohibition, favored a referendum plank.

The prohibition issue was a factor in three other Florida congressional districts, and in but one of these, the third, was an avowed dry in the lead. The advantage there of Representative Tom Yon was 390 votes over the second man of a field of three. Both of Yon's opponents favor referendum. Approximately 80 precincts were unreported.

Rum Main Topic
At Richmond thousands of Virginia Democrats gathered today in convention with prohibition the dominant subject, second only to endorsement of Harry Flood Byrd as their choice for presidential candidate. Byrd has announced a plan favoring a new constitutional amendment which would permit congress to refer repeal or modification to direct vote of the people.

Adding his voice to those of other Democratic leaders on the prohibition question, former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri gave expression yesterday to a proposal that beer and wine "of limited alcoholic content" be legalized by congress as a tax raising measure.

Militant resistance to any movement to stampede the parties into anti-prohibition sentiment was evidenced by Mrs. Margaret Munns, national treasurer of the W. O. T. U. She said that if necessary the dries would "walk to the poor house to the polls to vote against a party or candidate who offers to aid the repeal."

Mrs. Munns said there evidently was "a last minute drive of eastern millionaires under way to threaten the Republicans with campaign poverty unless the party pledges repeal."

GARNER TESTIFIES FOR HIS RELIEF BILL

In the unusual role of a witness, Speaker John Garner is shown before the house ways and means committee as he urged passage of his $2,300,000,000 relief bill. Left to right: Chairman Collier (dem., Miss.), Representatives Hawley (rep., Ore.) and Treadway (rep., Mass.).

PASS PETITIONS SEEKING OREGON REFORMS IN TAX

Petitions, prepared by Governor Julius Meier and the attorney general, advocating inclusion of two bills for tax reforms on the November ballot, are in circulation in Jackson county today.

The first asks that all county, municipal and district tax levies and the power to incur indebtedness be made subject to limitations and control to be provided by state law. Under such a provision all tax levies would conform to one law.

The second asks for a constitutional amendment, empowering the governor to appoint in each county a commission of three residents and tax payers, all to be registered voters, to act as a tax supervision and conservation commission.

Under such a provision all budgets of any county, city or school district would be submitted to the commission for final adjustment and check. Unless contested, in each case the budget submitted would be the final budget on which the tax would be levied. In case of a dispute between the tax levying body and the commission or presentation of a petition from 10 tax payers in the county, the budget would pass to the state tax commission in Salem for final adjustment.

The commission, under the proposed amendment, would be given power to reduce or increase the amount of the proposed levy, their order becoming conclusive and final. Any tax levy, levied, or attempted, contrary to the order of the commission, would be null and void.

The report of the local commission would be turned back to each tax levying body not later than December 1 of each year with the unanimous vote of the members. All proposed bond issues, submitted to the people, in excess of the six per cent constitutional limitation, must carry at the head of the ballot recommendations of the commission for or against the measure.

In case of the settlement by vote in a meeting of any levy, recommendations of the commission must be posted and read at the meeting before the vote is taken or the result of the vote, the law states, will be null and void. The latter clause would apply particularly to school issues, regarding which there has been considerable trouble in this county during recent years. It was explained today by Hamilton Patton, who is circulating the petitions in Medford.

Signatures will be received at Mr. Patton's office at the Southern Building and Loan association on West Main street, in all parts of the city and at the chamber of commerce.

Other petitions are being circulated in the county by R. E. Nealon in the north section; G. M. Green of the Tidings in Ashland and by Fred Homes, also in the southern area.

All signatures are desired before June 15, at which time they will be checked by the county clerk, then forwarded to the state tax commission.

ARMY AIR FLEET LURES CROWD TO MEDFORD AIRPORT

Flashes answers to questions, explained the trip.

He placed his hands in leisurely gesture beneath his loaded Sam Brown belt to assume a position of ease as he described the demonstration to be given for the third division upon arrival at Port Lewis, but was soon urged back into military posture as a large police dog bounded into the line of planes in pursuit of a jack rabbit. Filled with the spirit of war, apparently aroused by the arrival of the fleet, the dog refused to give up the chase as shouts sounded through the line of ships.

Spectators joined the campaign to save the rabbit from the aggressor and prevent both landing in the tail of a plane, but the dog continued his maneuvers until the rabbit was captured in the corner of an oil station and devoured.

As soon as the planes were refueled with Blinnair aviation gasoline, and serviced by the Standard Oil company of California, the fleet took off again at 11 o'clock for the north, the first planes up, circling the field until all were gathered into the flock in the same manner adopted for landing.

Major Tinker and his lieutenants then joined the ships, roosting above, and all took off for Vancouver. Lieutenant Crumrine, in command of the 55th division, flying with Lieutenant Whitley, led the following second lieutenants: Steensen, Berger, Saville, Kroeger, McCarty, Ellison, Schmidt, Cootlee, Gilger, M. C. Williams, Roth, Shroyer, Smith, Hunter, Woodworth and Sergeant Dorsett.

Flying with Lieutenant Wittkop, in command of the 77th division, were Second Lieutenants Phillips, Lee, Baumelster, Kingham, Frain, Loefer, Holtzer, L. M. Williams, twin brother of S. M. Rasmussen, Perrin, Kelly and Reed.

Lieutenant Hopkins went ahead to make arrangements for arrival of the fleet in Vancouver and Warrant Officer Bradshaw preceded with the transport.

The fleet will return to Medford en route south Monday or Tuesday of next week.

FEARS FELT FOR ASHLAND FAMILY, MISSING 9 DAYS

Fears are felt by Ashland friends for the safety of J. E. Nelson, wife and son, aged 9, who left Ashland May 31 for Klamath county to sell a power boat, and as yet have not returned. They left their house unlocked, and made no provisions for feeding of the chickens. Neighbors say they did not intend to remain away over a day.

The state police today were making a search for the family and feel that it is highly doubtful if any tragedy has befallen them.

State police were sent to Bray's Mill in Klamath county near Chiloquin, and to Bray, Cal., in an effort to locate the Nelsons. Neighbors were unable to state which of these two places the Nelsons were going to. The Nelsons were traveling in an auto, and the state police think that after selling the power boat they decided to take a vacation for a few days without telling friends.

GAS THIEVES ARE TO HAVE HEARING

Victor Butterfield, 20, and Harry Wagner, 19, who gave their addresses as Marshfield, were scheduled for a hearing this afternoon on a charge of stealing gas. They are being held in the county jail, having been arrested early this morning by city police.

The charges state that Butterfield and Wagner broke the lock and stole ten gallons of gasoline from G. W. Brewer at 727 South Central avenue. They were traveling in a Hudson touring car.

Accompanying them were Bill Wagner, 22, brother of Harry Wagner, and Marie Farley, who were not held by officers. Miss Farley said that they arrived in Medford about 8 o'clock last evening and, after eating, they went to the carnival.

Gresham—Art Kruger will move his automobile repair shop to new quarters at intersection of Main avenue and Section Line road.

PORTLAND—F. G. Armitage purchased Sunnyside Emporium, 1100 Belmont street at 37th.

Sheridan—E. B. Hughes mortuary of Astoria purchased Masonic club house on North Seventh street for use as funeral parlor.

PRACTICAL HINTS TO HOUSEWIFE IN COOKING SCHOOL

Margaret Lenore Coates, home economist with Safeway Stores' homemakers' bureau, who has been chosen to conduct the Safeway three-day cooking school which will be held at the Fox theatre, beginning Wednesday, June 15, and continuing Thursday and Friday, from 2 to 4 o'clock, will speak from both practical and scientific experience.

Miss Coates has specialized in the study of the balanced menu for children as well as that for adults and will help Medford home makers solve many perplexing problems concerning child dietetics.

Miss Coates will make a point of explaining various children's menus which offer all the needed food values and yet do not necessitate "babysitting" of two separate meals.

"The greatest problem of the home maker who must prepare meals for adults and children, too, is the trying-in of the vegetables and desserts," avers Margaret Coates, who will present many interesting new ways of solving this problem.

The Safeway school here, open to the housewives of southern Oregon, will be under the personal supervision of J. P. Mashburn, district manager for Safeway stores in this territory.
