

YANKEES FINDING DANNY M'FAYDEN A POOR BARGAIN

Former Pride of Somerville Who Dazzled On Mound for Red Sox Last Year Is Fizzle for New Boss

By GAYLE TALBOT, (Associated Press Sports Writer) Danny MacFayden, the pride of Somerville, Mass., and the man for whom the Yankees made an important outlay of players and money last week, begins to shape up as the prize puzzle of the 1932 campaign.

He won 16 games and lost only 12 last season for the sixth place Boston Red Sox, and came to be recognized as one of the game's greatest pitchers. Then he turned right around this year and lost 10 of his first efforts for the Sox.

The popular theory was that it didn't count, that MacFayden's defeats were chargeable to the offensive impotence and fielding weaknesses of his teammates. Fizzle for Yanks. But the transaction had an entirely different complexion today and there was even some doubt that the Yankees had driven such a shrewd bargain, after all.

MacFayden made his maiden appearance in a New York uniform yesterday against the Detroit Tigers and lasted only six innings, as the Tigers scored a 3 to 4 victory. They pounded MacFayden for 11 hits and scored all their runs before he was relieved. It was the first game the Yankees had lost to a western team this season.

The loss reduced the Yankees' lead over Washington to five games, the Senators grasping the opportunity to defeat Chicago, 6 to 5, largely on errors by "Red" Kress and Bill Sullivan. Cleveland defeated Philadelphia, 9 to 8, in a slugging match and knocked the Athletics from third place in the American league standing down to fifth.

Browns Win Third. George Blaholder of the St. Louis Browns chalked up his seventh victory of the year as the Browns took their third straight from Boston, 2 to 1.

Hack Wilson was the day's fair-haired one in the National league as he clubbed Brooklyn to a 5 to 2 triumph over his former compatriots, the Chicago Cubs. His home run with the bases loaded and a single drove in all the Dodger runs. The loss did not deprive Chicago of the leadership, however, as Boston was dropping its second in a row to the crushing St. Louis Cardinals, 2 to 1. Bobby Brown, Braves' sensational rookie, suffered his first defeat.

Melvin Ott's two home runs provided the Giants with another victory over Cincinnati, 3 to 2, and Pittsburgh bunched its blows to squeeze out a 4 to 3 decision over Philadelphia.

EGGS STEPPING STONES IN FRENCH RING CAREER

PARIS, June 10.—(AP)—Twelve eggs traded with an American dough-boy for a pair of boxing gloves at a camp in France in 1917 was the first link in a chain of events that tomorrow brings Marcel Thil into the ring to meet Gorilla Jones. Akron, O. negro, for the National (American) Boxing association's middle-weight championship of the world. It was watching American dough-boys box at a rest camp in the east of France that fired young 13-year-old Thil's blood and it was the same American who taught him to lick all the other kids in the village.

This first fight in public was an amateur in 1923. Then he volunteered for service in the navy in 1924. Not another jack tar of his weight could keep on his feet against him, and he walked away with the navy championship. His service ended, he turned professional and fought his way all over the country to Paris. In Paris he was taken in hand by Alex Taitard in 1926. He married Taitard's daughter four years later. In 1928 he won the middleweight championship of France and the championship of Europe a year later. The latter was taken from him, however, when an injured hand prevented him from defending the title.

GENE CARDS 283 TO GRAB BRITISH OPEN, SET RECORD

SANDWICH, England, June 10.—(AP)—Gene Sarazen, long-hitting American golf star, today won the British open championship, with a record score of 283 to carry on an American golfing sweep in the event, unbroken since 1923. The 1922 American open champion scored his 283, two strokes under Bobby Jones' winning total of 1927, early in the afternoon and then watched those who had a chance to catch him, fade away under the pressure of having to shoot sub-par golf.

Sarazen has been well up in the British open field for several years, finishing second to Walter Hagen in 1925 for his best effort up to today.

SANDWICH, Eng., June 10.—(AP)—Gene Sarazen, who led the British open golf field by four strokes at the end of the third round, scored a 74 on his final 18 holes today for a 73-hole total of 70-69-70-74—283.

With the Prince of Wales a spectator for the last five holes, Sarazen scored even par for the formidable "Prince's" course. He finished two strokes under the record total of 285 for the British open set at St. Andrews in 1927 by Bobby Jones, who scored rounds of 68-72-73-72.

Jones' 68 in the first round of the 1927 event still stands as the record at St. Andrews.

Sarazen gave Prince's such a licking as it never had suffered before. His four rounds being 13 strokes under "perfect figures."

Gene finished out with a birdie four on the last hole, just missing a seven-yard putt for an eagle three which would make Havers repeat his 68 of the morning to win.

Gene's final card: MacDonald Smith, Sarazen's fellow American professional, finished out with a fine round of 70 for a 72-hole score of 71-70-71-70—288, five strokes back of Gene.

First prize in the British open is $100, about $360 at the current rate of exchange, and not enough even to pay Sarazen's steamer fare, but the prestige that goes with the title probably will mean at least $50,000 to the American professional.

BEAVERS BATTLE SEATTLE TO 9-7 WIN IN SEE-SAW

(By The Associated Press) Hollywood clearly demonstrated to the Angels who la boss of the southern baseball situation by taking last night's game 4 to 3 to make it three straight for the series.

Frank Shellenback, big Hollywood spitball pitcher, clinched his own victory by knocking a home run in the fourth inning with two men on base. He held the Angels scoreless until the last inning, when a belated rally brot them three runs on a walk, two hits, a wild pitch and a passed ball. Ed Baecht, Los Angeles pitcher, yielded only four hits before leaving the game in the eighth, while his team was still scoreless.

Portland and Seattle staged a pretty battle, each getting 14 hits, with the Ducks winning 9 to 7, after breaking a 7-7 tie in the seventh inning. Getting away to a big start with five runs the first time at bat, the Beavers looked good. The Indians retort-ed with four in the seventh to tie the score, but Portland pushed over two more in the same inning. Muller contributed two home runs for Seattle.

Sacramento beat the San Francisco Seals 9 to 5 to take the series two games to one. The Seals got to Joe Rooney for six runs in the first three innings.

The Mission Reds rallied with four hits and three runs in the eighth inning to beat Oakland 9 to 3 for their only victory of the three-game series. The winners scored five runs in the third frame on three singles, two walks, a double by Risci and a triple by Coccarart.

This Game of GOLF By Q.B. KEELER

One of the finest ways of scoring up remarkable scores—verging on the "freak" class, you might say—is to disseminate such a card through the public prints.

Recently I had an account in this column of an exceptional round by John C. Parker at Moultrie, Ga. Three days after it appeared in an Oklahoma paper I received a letter from Joe C. Creager, of the Conoco Golf club, Ponca City, Okla., enclosing the card of a four ball match, which for low scoring by the quartet, rather lays in the shade any similar round I ever saw, or heard of.

The course of the Conoco Golf Club offers a par of 72. It is not a long course—6,093 yards. And it has sand greens, and, according to Mr. Creager, plenty of trouble on it.

An Amazing Showing Even so, the scoring is amazing. The star performer, with a card of 62, was E. J. Rogers, 1931 open champion of Oklahoma. He was paired with Walter Emery, runner-up in the 1931 Oklahoma amateur championship, against Jimmy Schatz and Charles Stohland, 17-year-old high school boys of Ponca City.

The match was an exhibition affair, and it would seem that the gallery got all that was coming to it in the way of golfing performance.

Following is the card, with par of the course: Par (out) 543 444 443—55 Rogers 433 433 333—29 Emery 543 444 343—34 Stohland 433 343 453—32 Schatz 533 543 442—33 Par (in) 355 444 444—37—72 Rogers 444 433 344—62 Emery 345 343 453—36—70 Stohland 244 333 444 33—65 Schatz 346 453 443 35—65 Eleven Birdies With this truly remarkable card.

including eleven birdies and only one hole above par, Rogers' 62 had to be abetted at the last hole by a birdie 3 by his partner, to hold a margin of victory of 1 up.

The best ball of the match was 15 up on par. This seems pretty well to justify Mr. Creager's statement that Old Man Par never had such another drubbing as he got in this bout. The total of the four scores is 23 strokes better than par.
