SMITH'S LICENSE TAKEN AWAY ON RECKLESS DRIVE

Several cases of law violation, which accumulated over the week-end, were heard in justice court this morning before Judge Glenn O. Taylor.

Stanley Smith, arrested by a state police officer on a charge of reckless driving, was fined $50 and his driver's license suspended for six months. The fine was suspended. Revoking of the license becomes mandatory understate law for the Young Smith was arrested in February on the same charge, and was fined $25, and his license suspended 60 days.

The complaining officer stated that Smith was extremely rude when arrested. An empty flask was found in his possession, and was presented in court by officers.

C. G. Moran of this city, charged with being drunk in a public place Sunday night, was fined $10 in court today. He was also sentenced to 10 days in jail, but the commitment was suspended on Moran's promise to pay for the screen doors which he ruined at Valentine's cafe on South Riverside avenue, where he was arrested.

City officers lodged Moran in jail overnight.

For passing an automobile when approaching the crest of a grade, Thomas O. Yocum of Jacksonville received a fine of $10 in justice court.

George C. Hall was arraigned before Judge Taylor today on a forgery charge. He demanded examination, and the hearing was set for this afternoon.

Garbo Delights At Craterian Theatre

(By Jack Retlaw)

It was a glorious poignant Garbo who greeted Fox Craterian patrons yesterday on the opening day of her very latest and incidentally her farewell screen feature "As You Desire Me." It was indeed a magnificent Garbo . . . one who will leave a cherished memory of her superb acting.

The story of "As You Desire Me" is a colorful one. Greta Garbo enacts the role of Zara, a celebrated Budapest cafe dancer who usurps the place of a vanished bride . . . one thought long dead. To attempt to describe the cleverness of this extraordinary star would be fruitless indeed. Her work is simply wonderful.

Melvyn Douglas, who made such a hit as Gloria Swanson's leading man in "Tonight or Never," plays the part of the husband who is being deceived. None other than famous Erich Von Stroheim is the villain of the plot . . . a man who wants to keep the dancer within his lecherous clutches. Owen Moore also is excellent in an important role.

Many will exclaim with surprise to learn that "As You Desire Me" is Greta Garbo's latest picture . . . made even since "Grand Hotel." Nevertheless, it is true. Sadly, it has been announced that this picture is also Garbo's last . . . her farewell to the screen.

Those desiring to see and hear Garbo in her final screen appearance should visit the Fox Craterian either today or tomorrow and see "As You Desire Me."

roll calll the legislation is doomed for this session.

The vote was 165 Democrats, 60 Republicans and one farmer-labor for consideration and 133 Republicans and 42 Democrats against.

Hawley Against

Butler of Oregon voted for consideration while Hawley and Martin (Democrat) voted against.

The vote on making the Patman bill the next business was 225 to 169. Three members voted "present."

Representative Rainey, Illinois, the acting speaker, designated Representative Crisp (D., Ga.) to control the two hours of debate against the bill.

Representative Patman (D., Tex.) will support his measure and have an equal amount of time.

Patman obtained an agreement for the house to meet at eleven a. m. tomorrow, an hour earlier than usual.

Harrison Opposed

While the house was voting to conaider the bonus, Senator Harrison, ranking Democrat on the senate finance committee, was pleading with the senate to turn it down.

"I have never faltered in voting for a reasonable demand," Harrison said. "But I don't care if a million soldiers come to the city of Washington and encamp around the capitol and fill these corridors, they could not influence me, when my government is in the fix it is and the American people are working in the valley of despair.

"I shall not vote for any immediate payment of the bonus at this time, regardless of the effect on my political career."

Radio Police Hit Appears At Holly

A story that is filled with action, suspense, and comedy combined with splendid performances by members of the cast have gone to make "Radio Patrol" now showing at the Holly theatre, a very entertaining picture. Law enforcement has become one of the nation's most discussed problems and "Radio Patrol" will do much to bring about a better understanding of the policeman's problems to the public in general. The picture is powerful and the audiences at the Holly yesterday sat breathless through some of the scenes. Particularly outstanding were the parts played by Andy Devine and Russel Hopton.

In addition to the feature the Holly offers the June Horoscope, latest news events and a kartoon.

Leave for Convention—Mr. and C. J. Semon will motor to Seattle this week to attend the convention of Rotary International. They also plan to spend several days at the coast en route north and following the convention will return to the beaches for a several week's vacation.

AUXILIARY URGES DISPLAY OF FLAG

Citizens of Medford are requested to display the American flag in their homes and places of business tomorrow, June 14, in an announcement issued this morning by the American Legion Auxiliary, which follows:

"On Tuesday, June 14, the American flag will be 155 years old. A flag of stars and stripes was authorized by congress on June 14, 1777 and from that day dates the history of the banner we have come to know as Old Glory.

"Let us all endeavor to feel the words of Henry Ward Beecher regarding the flag of our country: 'A thoughtful mind, when it sees our nation's flag, sees not the flag but the nation itself and whatever may be its symbols, its insignia, he reads chiefly in the flag the government, the principles, the truth, the history that belongs to the nation that sets itself forth.'"

7 GOOD REASONS WHY S-W Arsenate of Lead and Summer Mulsion will give you better Codling Moth control

1. MAXIMUM CONTROL—Sherwin-Williams Arsenate of Lead and Summer Mulsion assure maximum control of Codling Moth with the least number of sprays. There are several factors responsible for these results.

2. HEAVY COATING—More Sherwin-Williams Arsenate of Lead clings to the fruit after spraying. This is confirmed by analysis and control, as well as observation.

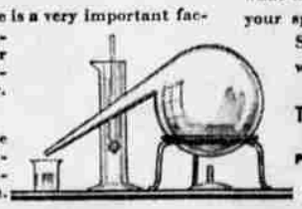
3. BETTER TYPE OF COVERAGE—There is no deflocculator in Sherwin-Williams Arsenate of Lead, which is partly responsible for the better type of coverage produced.

4. BETTER PHYSICAL PROPERTIES—Sherwin-Williams Arsenate of Lead has the greatest bulk when allowed to settle completely in the spray tank. Because Sherwin-Williams Arsenate of Lead settles loosely, it will go into suspension readily when agitated, even when allowed to settle for several days. Sherwin-Williams Arsenate lays in a fluffy layer and will completely flush out of stationary spray pipes.

5. SHERWIN-WILLIAMS SUMMER MULSION IS EFFECTIVE—Sherwin-Williams Summer Mulsion wets the spray surface quickly, forming an even film, which accounts for its effectiveness.

6. ECONOMICAL—Many tests have proven that Sherwin-Williams Summer Mulsion is effective as an ovacide when sprayed on Codling Moth eggs at the rate of one-half gallon to one hundred gallons of water. This reduced dosage makes Sherwin-Williams Summer Mulsion a very economical auxiliary spray for control of Codling Moth.

7. SAFE—Safety to fruit and foliage is a very important factor in oil sprays. Sherwin-Williams Summer Mulsion has an enviable record for control and lack of injury. Note the absence of free oil when exposed to the air.



For better Codling Moth Control, use Sherwin-Williams Arsenate of Lead, combining Sherwin-Williams Summer Mulsion at height of the egg-laying periods.

how good Fluhrer's Breads are, but we would appreciate your asking your favorite grocer what breads his customers seem to prefer day in and day out.

This is probably the best indication of quality. No product can consistently stand this acid test of consumer preference year after year without being just a little bit better than anything else offered.

LUSK UP AGAIN AS RECKLESS DRIVER

Leslie Lusk, 22, of Ashland was arrested Sunday by state police and charged with reckless driving. Lusk has been convicted twice for reckless driving, once in an Ashland court and once in a Medford court. He will be given another hearing at Ashland Wednesday.

Roland Merrifield, 20, 1807 Main street, this city, was arrested Sunday for traffic violation, by state police. Merrifield had, the authorities claim, but one headlight, and it was twisted to the rear, and no driver's license, no mirror, and no receipt of registration.

DR. MEZ TO SPEAK ON RADIO TUESDAY

Dr. John Richard Mez, of the department of political science and economics of the University of Oregon will deliver an address over the local radio station, on "The Silver Lining in the Clouds of the Present World Depression," Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. through courtesy of Glen Fahrick.

Dr. Mez comes to Medford to address the Rotary club at its weekly luncheon meeting tomorrow on the subject of "Taxes, Tariffs and the Economic Outlook."

Every citizen should see it!
Take a trip with the boys! You will be thrilled, amazed, entertained!

Do we give our police proper support? It's your duty to see it.
