Famous Case Shown At Holly Theatre

"The Famous Ferguson Case" is now showing at the Holly theatre. The story has a very humorous slant. An energetic youth working on a small town paper, Mr. Ferguson, an internationally known banker, who makes his summer home in this town is killed. Immediately evidence points to his wife and she is tried for the murder. During the trial every leading newspaper in the country sends a representative to cover the proceedings. Both averted and disgusted with the wisecracking and overbearing reporters from some of the "scandal sheets", the small town reporter frames them and succeeds in "scooping" the entire bunch which costs them all their jobs.

BORAH DECLINES SUPPORT HOOVER FOR RE-ELECTION

Remarks to the prohibition plank, because the platform as a whole was "inadequate" and "fell dead at the feet of the American people." "It is clear that the Republican campaign will not be fought around that singular platform," Borah said, adding that it had ignored the "realities of the campaign." And the increasing demands of the people overburdened with the depression. Turning to the plank he chose to discuss, Borah said it was "clear that a majority of the members of the convention were for repeal of the 18th amendment, naked repeal." Expediency cited. There were in the convention, he said, 204 delegates from the Democratic states which will not send Republican electors to the electoral college and more than 300 federal office-holders who voted as they deemed it "politically expedient." "The two who had most to do with the drafting of the plank," Borah said, "were two members of the cabinet, both of whom are openly and uncompromisingly for repeal." He added he referred to Postmaster General Brown and Secretary Mills.

Just powdery soot—only 1/3 to 1/5 the quantity—from Shell Motor Oil those glass-sharp bits of hard carbon imbedded in the bearings of your motor. Many 30¢ and 35¢ oils deposit layers of brittle, flinty carbon STARTLING—but true. It's the "luxury" oils that are most apt to clog your motor with carbon. And the worst kind of carbon—a hard, gritty residue that chips off and grinds through your motor.

All oils form some carbon. But use Shell Motor Oil, and what little carbon is formed is all soft, soot-like. So fluffy, most of it is blown away with the exhaust gases.

You pay only 25¢ per quart for Shell Motor Oil. And you're guaranteed that under equal driving conditions, the proper grade of Shell Motor Oil will lubricate your car as well—for just as many miles—as any other correct grade oil costing 30¢ or 35¢. Save that 5¢ or 10¢ on every quart! And avoid hard carbon!
