GLORY AND HONOR BUT LITTLE CASH FOR TITLE WINNER

Jack and Max Slated for Hardest Battle of Careers, On Depression Basis — Schmeling Is 6-5 Favorite

Fight Broadcast
The Mail Tribune will furnish a fast, accurate report from the ringside over its loudspeaker on the Schmeling-Sharkey heavy-weight title bout tonight, starting about 5:30. The blow-by-blow account will come into the Tribune editorial department on the Associated Press automatic telegraph and be relayed to fans on the street instantly over the loud-speaker.

NEW YORK, June 21.—(AP)—Jack Sharkey weighed in at 205 pounds today for his heavy-weight title fight with Max Schmeling in Madison Square Garden tonight, 17 pounds more than the German champion, who tipped the scales at 188.

NEW YORK, June 21.—(AP)—For glory, honor and comparatively little cash, Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey clash in a 15-round heavy-weight championship bout in Long Island City tonight.

William F. Carey, president of Madison Square Garden, which is promoting the match in the new outdoor arena on Long Island, predicts gross receipts in the neighborhood of $400,000. Even that figure, staggering as it is in these times, means nothing when viewed from the point of view of the million-dollar "rates" of the Dempsey era.

Plain Mr. Fight Fan was not particularly interested in the gross receipts, beyond deciding how much he would contribute to them. He viewed the match as a duel of two closely matched gladiators and the betting fraternity supported him in that opinion.

The odds continued at 6 to 5 with Schmeling a favorite, although some betting commissions were quoting 11 to 10 and take your pick. Odds against a knockout by either man were 3 to 1.

Both Schmeling and Sharkey came down from their training camps in upper New York state in excellent condition. Sharkey has been the more impressive during the training period, but the experts pointed out that Schmeling never has looked any too good in a gymnasium. He needs real competition to look his best.

Max Improved.
The Teuton has come far since that June night two years ago when Sharkey battered him around for three rounds and then fouled him into the championship in the fourth. Then he was a green, game youngster, a powerful puncher with his right hand and possessed of all the stamina in the world.

The Boston tar simply can't afford to lose. He is getting only 10 per cent of the receipts, hardly enough to pay for his training expenses, but he wants the title. This may be his last chance.

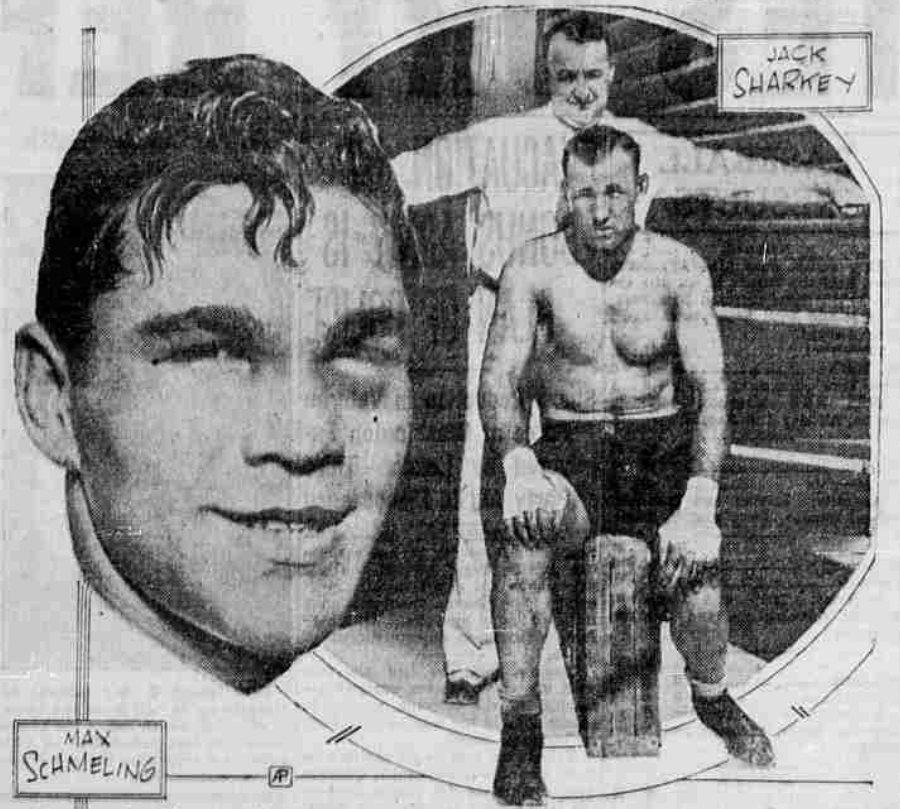

Erratic Performer.
Time after time he has been knocking at the door to the heavy-weight throne room, only to find it closed to him through his own erratic performances. Lack of control cost him several important matches and indifference several others.

Although the bout will seat 71,872 persons, not more than 55,000 or 60,000 are expected tonight. There may not be that many even though there are more than 40,000 seats at from $2 to $5 plus tax. Top price for choice ringside positions is $23.

The New York American's milk fund was to share in the net profits to the extent of 25 per cent—with a guarantee of $10,000.

Bad Beating Handed Max Last Time Gives Sharkey Edge in Tonight's Bout

NEW YORK —(AP) Max Schmeling stepped out of the ring at the Yankee stadium two years ago, the new heavy-weight champion—with a face that looked as though someone had been battering it with a soft rubber hose. Down the opposite steps stalked Jack Sharkey, without a mark on him, but officially beaten by a low hook he thudded into the German's groin in the fourth round.

That foul ended as one-sided a four rounds as ever opened a heavy-weight title contest. Grim and alert, the Boston sailor jabbed Schmeling's face with lefts, hooked his head, crossed his right. He swept the German before him, landing at will, taking but one solid right hand to the head in the four rounds. But Schmeling won on a foul and Tuesday night, June 21, in the new Madison Square bowl on Long Island, he meets again the Sharkey who despises him, believes that he can smash that face again. Sharkey is two years older, shading 30, and five pounds heavier, adding weight to his wallop. Apparently he is as fast and clever as he ever was.

Schmeling, for two years has been perfecting a defense against the wallops that swelled his nose and eyes out of shape. He is dandy calm, a steady, punishment puncher. Young striding could not hit him solidly. He believes Sharkey never will again. But the mental edge is all with the challenger. Schmeling remembers punishment. Sharkey still rages at the injustice of losing a fight to a man who showed nothing but ability to stand up under a beating. In that mental state he is a tremendous fighter. One of the other will need heavy applications of arnica Wednesday morning.

Both Schmeling and McCarthy will train in Medford before their match, using the open air arena as the city playground.

In addition to the high class main event Lillard has lined up an all-star support card which will include six-around encounters between Terry Killen, Eugene and Medford, and Ray Lutman, Grants Pass, and Circus Red Howe, Marshfield, heavy, and Jack Hayes, Portland. A four round preliminary will pit Herb White, Butte Falls, and Art Matthews, Medford, who has shown a willingness to swap punches on slightest provocation.

The new promoter figures the card as even more attractive than the first, which found enthusiastic favor with Medford fans. "The boys can all

RED SOX FACING ALL-TIME MARK FOR GAMES LOST

Bostonians Count But 11 Wins With 47 Defeats—New Manager Fails to Pull Team From Tailspin

By Gayle Talbot (Associated Press Sports Writer)

In all that has been said and written of records broken and records threatened in the current major league baseball race, one of the most interesting of the lot has been overlooked almost completely.

The Boston Red Sox stand a fine chance of cracking the all-time American league mark for games lost in a season.

With the season well past the one-third post, the Sox have won just 11 contests, against 47 defeats for a percentage of 190 in the American league. Back in 1899 a Cleveland club of the old National league won only 20 games while losing 134.

New Pilot Helpless

By way of proving they could lose as gracefully for their new manager, Marty McManus, as they had for John Collins, the Bostonians dropped their opener to Detroit yesterday, 6 to 4. McManus became a full-fledged member of the Managers' association when he was chased for arguing a decision.

The Yankees kept intact their seven and one-half game lead over the field by beating St. Louis, 3 to 1. Lefty Gomez led the Browns to three hits in achieving his 13th victory in 14 games.

A's Win Singlest

Jimmie Fox's 27th homerun and 25 other assorted hits provided the second place Athletics with an 18 to 11 victory over Chicago. Roger Cramer hit six singles, tying the major league record in that respect. Alvin Crowder bested Wes Ferrell in a tight duel as Washington shaded Cleveland, 3 to 2.

The National league race tightened around the top as the Boston Braves took an 11-inning struggle from Cincinnati, 3 to 2, while Chicago was dropping a 7 to 3 verdict to the Phillies.

Some sterling pitching by Van Mungo, plus a homerun by Al Lopez in the fourth frame and a "money" single by Joe Etripp in the seventh enabled Brooklyn to nose out Pittsburgh, 2 to 1.

The Cardinals and Giants were not scheduled.

BOYS WITH PUNCH MATCHED UP FOR NEXT FIGHT CARD

The headline bout between Jimmy Byrne and Jack McCarthy June 29 will be in the nature of an elimination contest with the winner promised a shot at Leo Lonski, the Aberdeen veteran. McCarthy, who hails from San Francisco and has a big following in California ring circles, will meet a boy who has risen to fame in the Northwest through sheer ability to take them as they come, even giving the old "Manassas mauler" a terrific battle when they met in Eugene last summer while Dempsey was on tour.

Both Byrne and McCarthy will train in Medford before their match, using the open air arena as the city playground.

In addition to the high class main event Lillard has lined up an all-star support card which will include six-around encounters between Terry Killen, Eugene and Medford, and Ray Lutman, Grants Pass, and Circus Red Howe, Marshfield, heavy, and Jack Hayes, Portland. HUGE FISH TAKEN AT DIAMOND LAKE DELIGHT VISITORS

DIAMOND LAKE, June 21.—(Sp1)—The statement earlier in the season by wardens in charge of the state fish hatchery that fish in Diamond Lake were running larger than for a number of years has been amply proven by catches to date.

The largest single catch during the past week measured 27 1/2 inches, and was landed by Lieutenant Commander Langford of Mare island naval base, who is spending a two weeks' vacation on the lake. L. D. Portercrook of Medford, vacationing at the lake with his family, landed a 24-inch beauty.

Matt Ryckman of Portland, Ed Walker of Medford and Roy Parr of Ashland have each made an official visit to the lake since the opening and expressed themselves as being well pleased with fishing conditions.

Among early arrivals from San Francisco are Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Alexander and Mr. and Mrs. George A. Meyer. Both men are affiliated with the Doehmann Hotel Supply Co. They were joined during the week by H. J. West, Portland representative of the firm. Other California arrivals include Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Maxwell and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Corson, all of Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. T. W. West of San Rafael have registered their fourth annual vacation at Diamond Lake.

From Portland were M. F. Keller, Hal Elias, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nunnenkamp, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Baker, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Harrington, L. H. Yount and family, Robert Crawford and party, R. H. Knolland and two brothers of Seattle.

A. J. Jaenicke, entomologist of the U. S. forest service, arrived from Portland Saturday for a survey of the pine beetle menace.

Both the road via Union Creek and via the Dalles-California highway are now open to travel, a crew having been busy during the past week cutting through snow drifts on the Union Creek road.

Registrations from Medford include A. R. Florey, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Perry, Allan Perry, Ed Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Forncrook, Vernik and Dale Forncrook, Clarence Young, G. V. Martin, J. E. Johnson, Doyle Franklin, Grover Tyler and party, E. M. Boone, J. R. Padlock, K. R. Knickerbocher, Ben Bets, J. Agebina, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Lumsden and Mrs. H. W. Lumsden.

match of the tournament but was carried to four sets before he managed to eliminate H. S. Burrows of England, 6-1, 6-2, 6-6, 6-3.

G. PASS BASEBALL LOSES INTEREST

The Grants Pass baseball team which pulled out of the Rogue Valley league because the league directors refused to take in Crescent City to fill the place of the withdrawing Medford Eagles outfit, now faces a rather embarrassing situation, according to word from the Grants Pass team.

Last Sunday the Grants Pass nine entertained Crescent City and won 19 to 8 despite the fact that three of the Cavemen's regulars were not in the lineup. Only a handful of fans turned out for the game and the players are reported disheartened and in a mood to discontinue their efforts unless better support is accorded from the home town people.

Grants Pass is slated to play Crescent City at the seaside town July 3 as part of the celebration there. Whether the opportunity to play in Crescent City during the celebration had anything to do with Grants Pass quitting the Rogue Valley league, is a question which local baseball interests have not been able to answer.
