

MILL WORKERS IN ORGANIZATION TO AID PRODUCTS USE

Employees of the Owen-Oregon Lumber Sales company met last night, and took steps for the formation of an organization among themselves to further the sale of the product of their own labor in Jackson county and tributary territory. When the permanent organization is affected next week, steps will be taken for co-operation with the home products campaign.

Bernard Nutting, at the Tuesday night meeting was named temporary chairman, William Tucker, secretary, and committees on organization, rules and by-laws and publicity appointed. The organization will comprise in the neighborhood of 200 men employed in the sawmill, planning, and logging camps of the company.

It is now planned to start the sawmill next Monday, June 27 with a force of 75 men. There are 125 men now employed in the planning mill and timber.

Speakers for the workers this morning said that the movement was one of self-helpfulness, both for themselves and the community, and it was "a worker's proposition."

The spokesman further stated: "It has gotten to the point where it is imperative that home buyers purchase home labor products and aid us and ourselves. More lumber is shipped into Jackson county than necessary from outside points. Every carload of lumber shipped in means three or four days work for some local home owner and worker. We are asking that local people buying lumber insist on a local product. We don't care what lumber they buy, as long as it is manufactured in Jackson county by Jackson county labor. What helps one, helps all. They should insist that it be milled in this county. Buying lumber made at Eugene or Cottage Grove, helps workers there and adds a bit to the unemployment here.

"About 80 cents out of every dollar, received for lumber, goes for labor. Conditions are at the point where it is imperative that home products be given preference to the extent that home workers benefit. We spend our money here and ask that reciprocity be given by purchasers of lumber. We will help those who help us."

The publicity committee further said that if "lumber made in the county was home manufactured, it would lessen the unemployment more than you think."

James H. Owen, general manager of the lumber company, said this morning that plans had been about completed for the starting of the sawmill next Monday morning.

SELMA BANDITS IN POLICE HANDS

Ernest Young and Marvin Dake, men in their middle twenties, sought for ten days for the robbery of Dan Powell, a 70 year resident of the Selma district in Josephine county were arrested Monday near Salem, by the state police, and have been returned to Grants Pass, where they are held pending a plea of guilty and sentence. Both men made full and complete confessions, according to the state police.

Young and Dake, described by the authorities as "hard-boiled," worked the "sympathy racket" on Powell and other residents of the Selma district. Powell gave the pair employment and food, and paid them wages for services. His Good Samaritanism was rewarded with robbery of his last cent. The pair are also accused of defacing a house, in which they were allowed to live, and passing bogus checks.

LIONS POINT OUT NEEDS OF DAY AT LUNCHEON MEET

One of the most interesting programs of the year was conducted today by the local Lions club in session at the Hotel Holland, when a call for open discussion of present day problems was issued by the president, G. D. Newberry. Rates charged by utilities were criticized and the people urged to do something to get themselves out of the depression by bringing about a change in the existing order of things.

The number of boards operated in the state were condemned as excessive and unnecessary. Leading the discussion were B. G. Harding, H. T. Hubbard, Dr. F. O. Bunch and Lawrence Pennington. D. G. Tyree of the California Oregon Power company in explaining the rates, maintained by the company, stated that in times of prosperity there is no reason for increasing rates, but during depression rates must abide by the same rate. Lawrence Pennington urged immediate action on the part of the Lions club in a campaign to promote hiring of local labor, exclusively, in the harvesting of the coming fruit crop.

Mayor E. M. Wilson in answer to criticism of the plan now underway for relief of the local unemployment program, stated that the plan has not been fully developed and assured the Lions that every precaution will be taken to assure its satisfactory operation.

The program will be continued at the next meeting of the club, it was decided, to give the other members a chance to express their views.

POOR FUND SEEKER DEPARTS IN TAXICAB

Among the applicants for county indigent aid today, at the regular session of the county court, was a middle-aged man, who having registered a request for assistance, ordered a taxicab to take him to his home for lunch. The plea is held under advisement.

Today's session of the court was devoted to the signing of bills, transacting of routine business, signing orders, and minor matters.

The relief work program is awaiting co-operative action by the state highway board and the federal government.

OTHER LOVES IN LIFE OF NURSE BARED IN COURT

him. I repeated that I wanted to be very sure I loved him because I had been married twice before and each marriage had been very disastrous. "He kissed my hair, my eyes, my mouth and—he swept me off my feet with his loveliness."

"Yes, yes," said the attorney excitedly. "That's what happened?"

"Then David said 'You'll marry me, won't you?' And I said: 'Yes, darling, I will marry you. I love you.'"

The nurse claimed that Hutton pursued her daily after they met at a house party and on their first "date" they rode in his automobile for three hours down the picturesque Arroyo Seco in Pasadena. She said the first time he kissed her she "pushed him away but he took me in his arms again and said: 'Why, I've loved you since I first saw you. I tell you, dear, it was love at first sight.'"

She said he called her a variety of tender names such as "sweetheart, honey, dear, darling," and sang love songs for her on automobile rides. Sometimes, she said, they remained at her home and she cooked for him.

"He kept following me from the pantry to the stove and from the stove to the sink, putting his arms around me, kissing me very tenderly and repeating over and over again that he loved me," she related, staring fixedly at Hutton and he stared back from his place at the counsel table with an occasional gulp.

She claimed they set a wedding date tentatively for the following March. Hutton having explained to her that he was expecting some "oil wells to come in." He added, she said, that they had a "very bright future."

"Then he told me he owned a home near Glendale, where we could live and added: 'We'll have a lovely little nest.'"

Once, she testified, he gave her a package saying "Here, darling, here's something sweet for you," and I said: "Oh, you bad boy; you should spend money on me; you mustn't," but he patted my hand and said: "There's nothing too good for you, dear." It was a box of candy. On her birthday, she said he gave her a choker of crystals.

SENATE APPROVES DEM RELIEF BILL

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP)—The $500,000,000 public works bond issue section of the democratic relief bill, to which President Hoover is opposed, was approved today by the senate.

An administration move by Senator Moses (R., N. H.) to eliminate the bond issue section was beaten 57 to 19.

A vote was reached with only a half hour of debate, as the Republican and Democratic leaders observed a voluntary agreement to limit debate.

polo and other "aristocratic sports," for he said, "he would rather hike and bicycle than eat." He rides a light French wheel.

A few weeks back Mr. Hamilton and his trainer, Clint Hester, bicycled a number of miles to deliver an invitation to attend the Olympic games to Governor Rolph. They made the trip over the winding Ridge route but the difficult part was the receipt of a wire from the studio where Mr. Hamilton was working, and it was necessary for him to report for duty immediately.

With quick gestures of his hands, which added to the accounts, he explained the journey to Medford, and said Mrs. Hamilton had been ill on the trip, due to some disagreeable food.

The party left today for Crater Lake, where they plan to remain overnight at the lodge.

"I'd like to spend at least a day in Portland," the actor said, "for my very best friend, Paul Stanton, came from there." Stanton's name is Stahl in private life.
