The dog, which is valued highly by the couple, is liver and white. An extensive search is being conducted for the animal.

Coming to Holly

She's a new kind of a girl for the screen and appeared here in "The Crowd Roars," teamed with James Cagney, recently. In "The Strange Love of Molly Louvain" she is teamed with Lee Tracy. Showing at the Holly today and tomorrow is "Two Seconds," featuring Edward G. Robinson, a dramatic smash that adds another to the long list of hits that Robinson has produced. His characterization of the honest, but ignorant John Allen is one that will stay with fans for a long time.

A handsome Arizona ranger who is detailed to exterminate a band of cattle thieves and end the reign of terror brought about by the domination of the leader of the renegades. How the young ranger accomplishes his mission and how, in the race of many dangers, he saves a captive girl, unfolds a plot that is said to move swiftly to a thrilling climax.

Cecelia Parker, one of the newer blonde beauties of the screen, enacts the leading feminine role. Miss Parker made her screen debut opposite O'Brien in "The Rainbow Trail." She is the only leading woman to support O'Brien a second time since he began his successful series of outdoor pictures. Others in important roles are Charles Middleton, Roy Stewart, Charles Stevens and Russ Powell.

Votes for the Norge refrigerator will be given away both tonight and tomorrow at the evening performances.

MRS. DUGAN FINDS MUCH HAPPINESS IN FARMING LAND

As refreshing to a period of adversity as the breeze, which steals around the cliffs of Table Rock to wave the grain in her fields each summer evening, was the story told on the streets of Medford this morning by Mrs. Mary E. Dugan, pioneer of Sams Valley, whose faith in the "good earth" is not determined by farm boards or markets, but by the crops, which germinate in the brown soil grow to flourishing greenness, and ripen in the fall.

"They have never been better, never more beautiful," she declared this morning, speaking of the crops, which her indomitable Irish spirit has given her courage to coax into growth each year, regardless of the weather.

"The rains have brought more growth than we have had for many years. My farm looks wonderful, I'm back on my own place, not living with the boys anymore," she answered a question.

"I have a new house, new water system, all the things I have wanted for so many years." (No mention was made of hard times or depression.) "Yes, the place certainly looks fine. I have plenty of water, too. Just came in this morning on business. The business done, so I'm going home."

The smile which lighted up her face as she moved on down the street failed to reveal the years represented in the lines of her cheeks and brow, which add a friendly keenness to her very dark eyes—but those who have known her for many years say, "she must be in her seventies."

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

To Our Southern Oregon Friends!

During the past year we have truthfully and sincerely endeavored in every way to present to the Southern Oregon public the most outstanding and highest calibre entertainment procurable. We have diligently combed the markets for screen attractions of proven worth, and the same identical programs have been presented in a multitude of cities elsewhere at much higher admission prices . . . in fact twice as much in many instances.

In the meantime our film costs have been mounting all out of proportion to previous seasons, and it is continuing thus, despite the drop in costs in other commodities.

Because of this, and because we are extremely anxious to maintain our high level of quality entertainment, and because, under our present admission price schedule we are unable to continue these types of programs, we find it imperative that we revise our admission prices.

Beginning on Sunday, June 26th, 1932, our new matinee adult general admission price at the Holly and Fox Craterian theaters will be 25 cents, and our evening adult general admission price will be 35 cents. The children's price in both theaters continues at 10 cents anytime.

We are sincerely grateful for your past patronage, and it will be our sole aim to offer only the utmost in service and entertainment in the future, and we trust we will continue to enjoy the hearty cooperation extended to us by our friends in the past.

SIAM IN REVOLT; SOVEREIGNS HELD ABOARD WARSHIP

Maintain Large Army.
There is a good sized army in Siam and every able-bodied man is liable to two years' service in the regular army, with longer periods in the three reserve forces. In the standing army are two divisions, each with two regiments of infantry, one of artillery and one of cavalry. The aviation corps is employed chiefly in the development of civil flying. The army recently acquired 10 tanks. The navy consists of five gunboats, and three destroyers, four torpedo boats, the royal yacht and a number of small craft. In all there are about 4800 officers and men on the active list and a reserve of about 20,000.

Army Chief Killed.
Fraulen von Stadorf flew from Germany to Tokyo last summer and was on the way back to Berlin by air when she crashed in Siam last April. She was slightly injured and her plane was wrecked. The Berlin newspaper Tempo, under a Bangkok date, said the commander of the army was killed when he resisted arrest by the rebels. The cabinet fled, said Tempo, but only the minister of trade eluded pursuit.

Leave for Tillamook—Mrs. D. O. Fredericks and family had as their guests, relatives from Covina, Calif., and Tillamook. From Covina were Mrs. Myrtle Williams and daughters Lita and Mary, and Grace Shepherd. Those from Tillamook were Mrs. M. J. Ackley, Miss Nellie Ackley and Glenn Ackley. All left yesterday afternoon by motor for Tillamook. Mrs. Ackley spent two days here, and Glenn Ackley has been in the city for the past two weeks.
