CRASH KILLS TALENT WOMAN

Comment on the Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS
HERE is a question that everybody is asking: "What is wrong with business, and when will it recover?" Nobody, so far, has been able to give a satisfactory answer.

Do you remember the Mother Goose story about the old woman who was leading a pig and felt that she just HAD to get home by midnight?
She had to cross a stile and the pig wouldn't go over. If you ever tried to drive a pig anywhere, you will understand. So she called the dog to bite the pig to make it go over the stile.
The dog wouldn't bite the pig. So she called the stick to beat the dog, so that the dog would bite the pig and make the pig go over the stile so that she could get home by midnight.
The stick wouldn't beat the dog.

And so it went through the whole long rigamarole. The pig wouldn't cross the stile. The dog wouldn't bite the pig. The stick wouldn't beat the dog. The fire wouldn't burn the stick.
Everything and everybody had simply laid down on the job. The poor old woman was in a terrible stew, and it certainly looked as if she could never get home by midnight.

THEN, you will remember, SOMETHING HAPPENED. Nobody knew just what it was that DID HAPPEN, and things began to move right away.
The fire burned the stick. The stick beat the dog. The dog bit the pig. The pig crossed the stile. And the old woman GOT HOME BY MIDNIGHT.

BUSINESS in this country is right now in the same sort of jam this poor old woman was in. It has to get back to something approaching normal conditions, so that there will be a market for the producer and employment for the laborer and buying power for the retailer, or we shall all be as badly off as the old woman would have been if she couldn't have got home by midnight. But nobody will do anything.

THE sheep man, for example, needs to sell his wool.
But the buyer won't buy from the producer. The weaver won't take wool from the buyer. The manufacturer of clothing won't take cloth from the weaver. The merchant won't take clothing from the manufacturer and the ultimate consumer won't take it from the merchant.
So there we are—just like the old woman whose pig wouldn't go over the stile. And we have to get somewhere soon.

It looks bad, doesn't it?
But remember that things looked pretty bad to the old woman, and kept right on looking worse up to the very point when things began to happen. Then, suddenly, the fire burned the stick, the stick beat the dog, the dog bit the pig, the pig crossed the stile and the old woman got safely home by midnight.
Something like that will happen, and when it does everything will begin to move again.

WHEN will it happen?
Well, the late and greatly lamented Dwight Morrow, several months before his death, gave about as good an answer to that question as has been given.

Somebody asked him when business would begin to improve, and he made this reply: "About three months before anybody knows it."
WHAT is this mysterious thing that will happen, to put an end to stagnation and start everything moving again?
About the best answer that can be given to that question is this: "The return of confidence."
That is the happening that will turn the trick.

WHEN your confidence in the future of business returns, you will go down to the store and buy a suit of clothes. The storekeeper will buy from the manufacturer. The manufacturer will buy cloth from

SKULL CRUSHED WHEN AUTO AND TRUCK COLLIDE

Mrs. Frank Maxson Victim of Smashup On Greensprings Road—Son Driving Car—Children Unhurt

Mrs. Frank Maxson, who has been making her residence in Talent with the Harry Withers for some time, was killed when the car in which she was riding was struck by a lumber truck, on the Greensprings mountain between Ashland and Klamath Falls about 8:00 or 8:30 o'clock last night.

Mrs. Maxson, who was said by Deputy Coroner H. C. Stock to be between 45 and 50 years old, received a crushed skull, and severe lacerations from glass. No information about her was obtained from the relatives last night by Deputy Stock.

The dead woman's son, whose name was thought to be Fred Maxson, was driving the car, and when he saw the truck on the turn, swerved to the ditch, causing the back end of the car to be struck, according to reports from Ashland.

Two small children were also said to be traveling in the car, but did not suffer any injuries. The relatives proceeded to their home in Talent after learning Mrs. Maxson was dead. They were on their way to Talent from Klamath Falls at the time of the accident.

R. W. Neale of Sprague river, who was en route to Grants Pass to visit relatives, took Mrs. Maxson to the Community Hospital at Ashland, thinking she was still alive. The coroner said that he believed she had been killed instantly.

Whether or not the occupants of the Maxson car obtained the name of the truck driver was not known by authorities in Ashland, who had not been able to contact them.

Mrs. Maxson's home address could not be learned. It was believed by officers that she was visiting here from the east.

Lieut. O. O. Nichols of the state police investigated the accident.

ROXY THEATER OPENED TO RECORD AUDIENCES HERE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Crowds from all sections of the Rogue River valley thronged the streets Friday night for the opening of the Roxy theater, Medford's new playhouse, located on East Main street and the standing line extended half way down the block as the eager audiences awaited entrance.

For the first and second showings of "Shanghai Express" feature picture, starring Madeline Detrich, all seats in the theater were taken and guests turned away because of lack of space.

The crowds were received by Mr. and Mrs. Gene Childers, owners and operators of the theater, who were the recipients of hearty congratulations from many sections of the state and an abundance of flowers, which decorated the stage.

Among the donors were Jimmy Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Strang of this city, Julius P. Wolfe of Ashland, Strathmore Neon Sign company, Ben Shearer company, Mrs. S. Childers, Mrs. Kate Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Clem Childers of Medford.

Comfortable seats, attractive decorations, efficient and pleasing lighting fixtures, and splendid screen and sound equipment greeted the guests, following entrance through the decorative foyer of the theater. An advantageous view of the screen is offered from each chair in the house, which seats 450.

In connection with the showing of "Shanghai Express" the public was entertained with several short features, and a vote of praise was voiced for Mr. and Mrs. Childers on every side in appreciation of the first night's offering.

MOTHER AND GIRL NEAR STARVATION

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., June 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Edna Johnson, and her 9-year-old daughter Betty, were again picked up by state police today at Ashland Junction, after they had mysteriously disappeared from here.

PIPES ANNOUNCES INDEPENDENT RACE FOR COUNTY JUDGE

A. W. Pipes, former mayor, announced his independent candidacy for county judge last night as follows:
"Seldom in my life have I been more urgently persuaded to assume a definite responsibility in public affairs than has come to me the past several weeks to announce as an independent candidate for the office of Judge of Jackson County. In doing so I am motivated by a desire to aid in rendering a service to the county which is most imperative and which cannot be further postponed if we are to save to the masses in our community their right to own their homes and be protected against confiscatory taxation. I have definite ideas along this line which I believe are fundamental. It will require courage and hard work to carry them through. I am willing to undertake the job.

"In announcing my candidacy I am assuming full responsibility for it. No newspapers nor individuals have been committed to my support. I shall welcome and appreciate the support of newspapers and all individuals who believe in my policies and who believe in me, but I feel that they should and must support me from the standpoint of policy and principle, rather than upon advance commitment."

"I elected I pledge all the power of the office to an administration based upon a lifetime business experience. Political expediency will be given undue consideration over another section. No faction will receive preference or favor.

"Business policies will govern my official acts one hundred percent, and the county garment of expenditures will be cut to fit the economic stress of the times, with as little hindrance to progress as is expedient, and with as much relief to the taxpayer as is humanly possible.

"Waste and extravagance will absolutely be eliminated and the tax dollar of Jackson County will do its stuff just as efficiently as the business dollar is doing its work today in the business world, which is being organized anew under our new and changed conditions.

"Upon this policy I shall seek the support of the electorate of Jackson County and invite all taxpayers to join with me to put across a program in county affairs to meet the new conditions, and be worthy of the challenge of the times which are unparalleled in this generation.

"A. W. PIPES."
Under the Oregon law, Pipes cannot formally file his declaration of intentions as an independent candidate until August 1, and not later than 45 days before the general election date.

Fehi will be opposed by Earl H. Fehi, republican primary nominee, and William E. Phipps, democratic nominee.

HIJACKING LEADER SENT TO PRISON

The sentencing of James Cowling, 27, last Thursday to a term of two years in state prison, closes the "home high-jacking cases" of last spring in this city. Evan Crow, a member of the gang, is serving a two year sentence in the penitentiary, and Woodrow Shaw, the youngest member, is domiciled in the state reform school, until he reaches his majority. About the same time a gang of boys and young men were haled into court for a series of petty larcenies and burglaries, and were dealt with severely. The resulting action calmed the local crime waves.

Cowling is credited with being the leader of the "hi-jacking gang," by the state police. Their operations were brazen and daring. He will be taken to Salem at an early date.

Lane Pioneer Re-elected Leader

EUGENE, Ore., June 25.—(AP)—Anne Whiteaker, daughter of the first governor of Oregon, was re-elected president of the Lane County Pioneer association at the annual meeting here today. Seventy-five pioneers were present at Cal Young's place, where the meeting was held.

BOURBONS HEWING SUBMISSION PLANK TO FIT PLATFORM

Resolutions Committee Is Dominated by Roosevelt Faction—Boos and Cheers Heard On Arguments

By D. Harold Oliver (Associated Press Staff Writer).
CHICAGO, June 25.—(AP)—Concluding a long, blistering session over prohibition, punctuated by cheers and boos for a score of wet and dry orators, the democratic resolutions committee tonight went to work on a tentative draft calling among other things, for submission of the question of repeal to the states.

Roosevelt leaders dominated the subcommittee of nine which was appointed to draft the platform in as brief a space as possible. They were confident of beating down all moves to commit the party to repeal, although several such proposals were applauded vigorously at today's session of the full provisional committee.

Boos and Cheers Heard
Hundreds of spectators jammed into a stifling hot, smoke-filled room in the Congress hotel to see the wet-dry show.

Boos downed out scattered applause from the galleries when Blahop Cannon, Jr., an anti-Smith leader in 1928, declared for a dry plank. He said the southern states which put "moral principle above party loyalty" in bolting Smith four years ago would do so again this year if confronted by a "similar issue."

As the boosing subsided, Bishop Cannon said: "Oh, you don't like facts?"
"We don't like traitors either," shouted a committeeman near the front.

Glass-Walks Out
Senator Glass, of Virginia, long a foe of the prohibition leader, walked from the committee room as the bishop spoke.

During a similar plea for a prohibition plank, Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, chairman of the national prohibition board of strategy, was interrupted by Michael Igoe, Illinois member of the resolutions group, who asked if ministers would not be better off "if they preached temperance in their churches and stayed out of political conventions."

Applause greeted the question and the drys responded likewise when Dr. Cherrington replied:
"That is a matter of opinion and there are various opinions among our churchmen. There are those who believe that the church's influence should be used against all social evils and if prohibition is a social evil then certainly it is part of the so-called gospel to fight it."

Hotels Ruled by Dry Law
Walter L. Gregory, of Chicago, representing the American hotel owners association, asked for a repeal plank, saying hotel operators had seen their banquet and restaurant business pass to "speakeasies or clubs."

As the subcommittee went to work on the tentative platform, it became known that sharp issue would be taken with republican policies on the tariff and other economic issues.

It was made known the tariff plank would call for a return to the democratic policy of lower levies and for an international conference to bring about tariff agreements.

The platform-builders were ready to insist upon a declaration pledging the party against cancellations of the war debts.

Golden Raspberries
SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—(AP)—"Golden raspberries" were introduced to San Francisco today by Harry Warburton, fruit rancher of Near Baker, Oregon, who brought six crates to town. "My brother and I selected raspberries of different colors, and then grafted the vines," he explained.

'JIM HAM' LEWIS DESERTS RANKS ROOSEVELT FOES

Illinois Delegation Released by Bewhiskered One—Means Certain Nomination Say Roosevelt Aides

A message from Senator Lewis in Washington, releasing the Illinois delegation with its 88 votes, was made public at Roosevelt headquarters today.

The managers there said it meant 25 more votes for the New York governor, and certain nomination on the first ballot, but their predictions were disputed.

Mayor Cermak of Chicago, after an unofficial poll of the delegation, said the majority would go for Melvin Traynor at the start, that he doubted more than 12 would go to Roosevelt, and the remaining votes would be distributed between Alfred E. Smith and Governor Ritchie of Maryland. Smith managers said 40 would go to him. Just how the vote goes may be settled by caucus tomorrow.

Word came from Tammany quarters that his vote is portion of the 94 New York votes are at the call of any man whom they would put over—be he Roosevelt or Smith or another.

HOPE FOR HOOVER APPROVAL ON AID MEASURE SLIGHT

WASHINGTON, June 25.—(AP)—The possibility of revising the huge $2,300,000 unemployment relief bill to meet President Hoover's wishes almost vanished today as its sponsors shot back hot retorts to the chief executive's charge of "pork-barrel" legislation.

The bill was vigorously defended by Speaker Garner of the house and Senator Wagner, (D., N. Y.), as the house and senate conferees began negotiations which President Hoover hopes will result in a re-written measure.

Wagner rose in the senate to reply to the president and advised the public to reject the criticism "one who has throughout the depression been wrong, late and futile."

Speaker Garner, at his daily conference with newspapermen, said: "We loan the shipping interests many millions of dollars at a very low rate of interest and it's all right. When we try to do something for all the people it's 'pork barrel.' To serve special interests is statesmanship; to serve the people is pork."

Siam Sovereign Accepts Governmental Change

BANGKOK, Siam, June 25.—(AP)—King Prajadhipok cordially accepted today the end of his absolute power and the establishment of a constitutional monarchy by leaders of the people's party.

In a telegram from Huahin, on his way to the capital, he said he was in entire agreement with the requirements of the new form of government set up by an almost bloodless revolt of the army and navy Friday.

The king, who KING OF SIAM was on a royal holiday with his consort when his absolute monarchy was overturned, said he had recognized the desirability of a governmental change for some time. (The revolution was attributed by

HUEY LONG TO FIGHT FOR SEATS

MORATORIUM FOR AUTO LICENSE IS HELD IMPOSSIBLE

SALEM, June 25.—(AP)—The suggestion of Senator B. L. Eddy, Douglas county, that Governor Meyer immediately call a special three-day session of the legislature to enact legislation permitting automobile owners to pay for their vehicle licenses on the installment plan cannot, in the light of all factors concerned and the existing state of highway department finances, be given serious consideration. Such was the opinion expressed by state officials connected with motor vehicle licensing and the highway department who could be reached here today.

Expressing regret that the plan does not appear feasible and agreeing that the necessity for purchasing licenses by July 1 for their cars and trucks for the entire ensuing year will probably result in several thousand cars being placed in storage or sold, because the owners have not the money with which to buy licenses, these officials pointed out that there are three strong reasons why the proposal is not practicable.

1.—The state highway commission, the operations of which are financed largely by license fee money, has already obligated itself for new construction, relief work, maintenance and other expenditures to an amount 20 per cent greater than anticipated revenues for the year.

2.—Issuing licenses for quarter-year periods, or any period of less than a full year would increase the cost of collecting the fees two to four times or more.

3.—Licensing vehicles for periods of less than a year would make enforcement of the license law difficult and far more expensive than at present.

Persons conversant with the present condition of highway finances pointed out that on the strength of revenues anticipated from the July collection of license fees the highway commission last spring sold short term bonds in the amount of $1,000,000 to carry on emergency employment projects, and that these bonds are due and payable with interest on October 1.

It was the occasion of the combat encampment, climax of the summer demonstration here of the Oregon National Guard.

Thousands of spectators were on hand to witness the picturesque spectacle, and prominent among them were Governor Julius L. Meier, Secretary of State Hal Hosa, State Treasurer Rufus Holman and mayors of several cities.

Immediately prior to the combat demonstration the troops passed in review, headed by Major-General George A. White, commanding the 41st National Guard division.

CATERPILLARS SLOW TRAINS NEAR EUGENE

EUGENE, Ore., June 25.—(AP)—Southern Pacific trains have reported difficulty in traveling over about 1200 feet of track near Pryor because of great numbers of caterpillars on the track during the past few days. The trains have not been delayed much but trainmen have been forced to use slips of sand to permit traction on the slippery rails.

DISSENSION HITS BONUS BATTALION OVER LEADERSHIP

Portland Commander-in-Chief Resigns for Second Time to Leave Downcast Followers in Capital

WASHINGTON, June 25.—(AP)—The bedraggled army of bonus seekers floundered leaderless tonight as police rebuked their vigilance because of increasing factional disputes in the ranks.

Walter W. Waters, the Portland, Oregon, veteran who originated the bonus army movement, resigned as commander-in-chief and left behind him a surprised group of advisers and a downcast rank and file of men.

In giving his resignation to his executive committee, he referred to "considerable feeling in the ranks" that all had not had a voice in his selection.

It was the second time he had quit the post. He resigned several weeks ago, claiming ill health, but was reinstated within a few hours when his successor, George Aliman, also of Portland, was unseated because of what were described as radical public statements.

Yesterday all but a handful ignored his order for a march on the capitol.

The post was temporarily assigned to the vice commander, Thomas Kelly of Camden, New Jersey, but he could not be found to enjoy the honors of the office.

So many of the national officers were absent when Waters made his surprise move that G. G. Clark of Portland, Oregon, the doorman at headquarters, took over for a time the active direction of the work.

COPCO DIVIDEND COMING JULY 15

The regular quarterly dividend on Copco preferred stock was declared at a meeting of the board of directors of The California Power company held in San Francisco June 25. Dividends will be paid on July 15 to all shareholders of record June 30.

It is interesting to note that since the first share of Copco preferred stock was issued April 18, 1921, by the California Oregon Power company, dividends have been paid regularly every three months without exception.

The payment of the dividends on Copco stock will release a substantial sum of money for circulation in this vicinity, inasmuch as over 6500 stockholders own shares in the local utility and most of them are customers of the company.

Bly Has Blasted
KIAMATH FALLS, Ore., June 25.—(AP)—Fire destroyed the school house and teacher's home at Bly last night. The loss was estimated at $10,000. The fire, which started in the woodshed, was believed set by children.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 24.—Mr. Hoover issued a splendid disarmament program but he was unfortunate enough to issue it on the same day the "square deal" boxing commission disarmed Max Schmeling, so naturally nobody paid much attention to Mr. Hoover's plan.

It was the New York plan that attracted all the attention. Poor Sharkey, nobody feels that he was in any way responsible for it and of course Max has gained by it.

Make it clear to foreigners that in the Olympic games that no boxing commission has anything to do with 'em and ask the radio announcers if the next fight is not so "hot" to tell us so.

Sounded like Dempsey and Fitzsimmons were battling it out at the height of their careers.
